CENTRAL GEORGIA GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY, INC.
POST OFFICE BOX 2024
WARNER ROBINS, GEORGIA 31099-2024

Non-Profit
Tax Exempt
Org. GA

ORGANIZATION: The CENTRAL GEORGIA GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY, Inc. was organized in October 1978 by James T. Martin of Warner Robins, Georgia. In February 1981 the Society was incorporated as a non-profit organization under the law of the State of Georgia. The U. S. Internal Revenue Service has determined that the Society is a tax-exemption organization under Section 501(c), U.S. Internal Revenue Code of 1954. The Society is governed by a Board of Directors consisting of the elected and appointed officers and six elected Directors.

GEOGRAPHICAL AREA: The Society's area of primary interest consists of twenty-seven contiguous counties located in central Georgia. They are: BALDWIN, BIBB, BLECKLEY, CRAWFORD, CRISP, DODGE, DOOLY, HOUSTON, JOHNSON, JONES, LAMAR, LAURENS, MACON, MONROE, MONTGOMERY, PEACH, PIKE, PULASKI, TAYLOR, TELFAIR, TREUTLEN, TWIGGS, UPSON, WASHINGTON, WHEELER, WILCOX, and WILKINSON.

PURPOSE: The purposes for which the corporation is organized are:

To collect, preserve and disseminate knowledge and information with reference to genealogical and related historical, biographical, and heraldic data;

To inculcate and promote interest in research in these fields;

To stimulate and provide instruction in the use of efficient methods and the adherence to principles of accuracy and thoroughness in research;

To champion ethical standards and to discourage and oppose incompetent and disreputable practices or researchers;

To foster careful documentation and otherwise promote scholarly writing;

To issue publications, and

To promote the collection and the preservation of local records which are of genealogical or historical value.

MEMBERSHIP: Membership in the Society is open to any person interested in promoting the objectives stated above. Annual dues are: $15.00 for individual membership; $20.00 for family membership (husband and wife, or two related persons in same household), and $30.00 for sustaining membership (minimum - no maximum).

PUBLICATIONS: The Society publishes a monthly NEWSLETTER and a QUARTERLY. The QUARTERLY is published in March, June, September, and December and is mailed to all members in good standing. The Society exchanges quarterlies with a number of genealogical societies and mails free copies to selected libraries. QUERIES, from members only, are published in the QUARTERLY free of charge. There is no limit as to the number of queries which a member may submit. BOOK REVIEWS are published when a copy of the book has been received by the Society. These books then become part of the Society's permanent library. Members are encouraged to submit ARTICLES FOR PUBLICATION in the QUARTERLY, and extra long articles may be serialized. The QUARTERLY is not copyrighted and anyone is welcome to make proper use of the contents; however, the use of articles quoted from other published sources is prohibited without prior permission from the copyright holder. The Society, and authors of articles, will appreciate appropriate credit. The QUARTERLY is not sold by subscription. Current and back issues may be purchased from the Society, when available, within one year from date of publication for $3.00 per issue — postpaid within the U.S. After one year, or earlier if stock is depleted, copies must be photocopied locally and the cost is $4.00 per issue, postpaid within the U.S.

FAMILY PEDIGREE CHARTS: The Society welcomes the opportunity to publish pedigree charts for members in good standing. Minimum coverage of four generations is required. When you submit your pedigree for publication you may order additional copies of your chart. Copies are printed in reduced size on 8½ x 11-inch paper (standard typewriter paper). The MINIMUM ORDER is $2.00 PREpublication prices:

20 charts $2.00	80 charts $6.40	For copies of more than one chart you may order in minimum increments of 10 copies per chart.
30 charts $2.80	90 charts $7.10
40 charts $3.60	100 charts $7.70
50 charts $4.30		Add 70¢ for each additional 10 charts over 100 charts.
60 charts $5.00
70 charts $5.70	After publication cost is 15¢ each — minimum order ten copies.

continued

TRAINING: Twice each year the Society conducts classes for beginning genealogists. These classes are free and available to members only.

WORKSHOP: The Society plans to hold an all day workshop once each year, complete with exhibits, for members and the public. The registration fee will be set to cover the Society's cost and will vary from year to year, depending upon prices charged for food, meeting facilities, speaker fees, etc.

PROJECTS: The Society undertakes special projects for preservation of genealogical and historical information. The Society, in cooperation with the University of Georgia, Athens, Georgia microfilmed the "Houston Home Journal" newspaper and placed a complete set of films in the Nola Brantley Memorial Library, Warner Robins, Georgia. The Society also reprinted the "First 110 Years of Houston County,Georgia" a history of the county first published in 1932. Other projects, such as publishing county census records, are planned. Also bound copies of the Quarterly complete with a name index.

RESEARCH: From time to time the Society plans to offer special research services to the members. This will be on a limited basis and a small fee will be charged to produce income for the Society.

PROBLEM SOLVING: Members are invited to submit their genealogical problems for solution. When submitting a problem always state what you have tried to solve the problem. This is very important so that those things which you have tried, and found inadequate, will not be suggested as a possible solution. We will publish your problem, with one or more possible solutions when available, in the monthly NEWSLETTER. If we do not have a solution at the time we will publish your problem and ask for suggestions from our readers. This IS NOT an offer to do your research, but to suggest ways in which you might accomplish your research or solve other problems which you have. Problems should be typewritten, double spaced, one side of paper only, and each page should have the member's name and address thereon. When we publish a problem we will not show a member's name nor address — only the member's state of residence will be shown. Suggested solutions will be published ONLY IN THE NEWSLETTER — replies will not be made to individual submitting a problem. This is a free service for members only. Mail your problems to CGGS, Attn: Research Editor. The Publications Committee reserves the right to edit/rewrite problems received and to reject those considered inappropriate for publishing.

ADVERTISING: The Society accepts classified and display ads for publishing in the QUARTERLY. Only ads of genealogical/historical interest; including supplies and services, books and periodicals, educational programs and opportunities, workshop/seminar announcements, etc., will be accepted. CGGS will consider entering into reciprocal agreements with other genealogical organizations for publishing announcements pertaining to activities thereof. A display ad layout sheet, with cost for various size ads, is enclosed with each issue of the Quarterly.

MEETINGS: The Society holds regular monthly meetings with planned programs. In addition to the planned program, time permitting, a question and answer session is usually conducted for the benefit of members who have a problem with their research, or who has found a better way for accomplishing their work. Visitors and guests are always welcome to attend any regular meeting of the Society. Our current membership covers many states and we invite you to join our Society. For membership application write to the Corresponding Secretary at address shown above.

Special Research Service

Contributed by: Mr. William R. HENRY, [redacted]

Mr. William R. HENRY has compiled a composite record on 573 surname families who were early settlers of Greene County, Indiana from Maryland, Delaware, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, Tennessee, and Kentucky between 1818 and 1850. Also included are many of same surname found in the adjoining counties of Owen, Monroe, and Lawrence. The composite record was compiled from census records, wills, marriage records, tax records, cemetery records, histories, family records, etc.

Most of the early settlers in Indiana Territory came from the southern states. When Indiana was admitted to statehood in 1816 there were only 15 counties. All were in the southern part along or just above the Ohio River except Knox County which composed the remainder of the state. New counties were added as settlers migrated northwesterly. Greene County was formed in 1821 with probably more than 90% of its settlers from southern states. The majority flow from the south continued until about 1840.

Mr. HENRY, a native of Greene County, Indiana was the son of William Ora HENRY and Verna Vay ROGERS. He has lived in Georgia since 1941 and has contributed numerous inputs to our Quarterly, including "HENRY of Early Georgia 1757-1827." Also soon to be released, the Revolutionary War Pensions and Bounty-Land-Warrant Application Files on 52 HENRY families.

The first series of "Early Settlers of Greene County, Indiana (From Southern States)" containing the surnames of O'NEAL, LESTER, BYNUM, HILBURN, RITTER, BENHAM, SLINKARD, STONE, CRAVENS, BRANHAM, BAYS, RIDDLE, CARTER, YOUNG, CAVINS, and WHATLEY was published in Central Georgia Genealogical Society Quarterly, Volumn 6, Number 4, December 1984. The second series containing the surnames of BROWN, GOOD, MAY, MAYS, LUNSFORD, BLEVINS, LEDGERWOOD, SCHRYOOK, FINNEL, McVAY, MEDERITH, KING, PHILLIPS, WHITAKER, ROBERTS, TANDY, MENDENHALL, CUTHRELL, OAKLEY, WESTFALL, BOUGH, SEXSON/SEXTON, COA, and STILL was published in Volumn 7, Number 1, March 1985. The series will run in each Quarterly until completion. Back issues of the Quarterly may be obtained for $3 each (within one year from date of issue, or until stock is depleted, then $4 per issue) postpaid within the U. S. Make check payable to Central Georgia Genealogical Society, Inc. (a non profit organization: and mail to P.O. Box 2024, Warner Robins, GA 31099. Quarterlies are not available by subscription but our annual membership is $15 per year which includes four Quarterlies for the calender year.

Mr. HENRY has offered to answer inquiries on any surname listed (including those not yet published) with an extract of data gathered on that name. Inquiries may be sent to the above address or to Mr. William R. HENRY, [redacted]. Send check payable to CGGS for $2 for extract of each surname. Mr. HENRY is donating this service to the Society.

Genealogical Gleanings from the Session 1826-1900, Presbyterian Church Milledgeville, Georgia

FOREWORD

Thanks to the Session and the immediate past former minister the Rev. Mr. John Campbell for permission to abstract information from the church records. We hope that our efforts will benefit both the church and the genealogical community of central Georgia. A typed copy of the data abstracted, with index, will be provided the church. The index and abstracts should help provide quick answers for requests for information. By publishing the information in the Central Georgia Genealogical Society Quarterly, we hope to help some of the genealogical community looking for ancestors in central Georgia.

Perhaps a brief word about Presbyterians would help those not familiar with this denomination. The Session is the governing body of a particular church and was formerly known as the first court in the Presbyterian System. The Presbytery is the second level of government and has jurisdiction over a group of churches. At the beginning of the Milledgeville Church it was in the Hopewell Presbytery. Presbytery bounds were changed several times, and in 1984 Milledgeville was in the Augusta-Macon Presbytery. One of the duties of presbyteries is to periodically review the minutes of the Sessions within its bounds. The Synod is the level of government above presbyteries and has jurisdiction over varying numbers of presbyteries. The highest level of government is the General Assembly. When the Milledgeville Church was formed in 1826 it was part of the Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. In 1861, when the church split, it became a part of the Presbyterian Church in the Confederate States. After the war the church in the south became the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. In 1983 at a meeting of the Augusta-Macon Presbytery held in the First Presbyterian Church of Milledgeville, the deciding vote to reunite the northern and southern churches was cast. So in 1984 the First Presbyterian Church of Milledgeville is a part of the Presbyterian Church, U.S.A.

It appears that the minutes for the very earliest period have been either copied into the present book or reconstructed for the book, which is very old. Note the remarks following the meeting of October 1830 that the record is incomplete. Also, in the minutes of 3 May 1836 the minutes for the period from 6 April 1834 are ordered reconstructed from available data.

Care has been taken to read and to the best of our ability type names as they appear in the minutes. Some of the handwriting is harder to read than others. The published history, Mrs. J. L. Beeson: Historical Sketch of The First Presbyterian Church of Milledgeville, Georgia (n. pub., 1955) has been consulted and where there is a variation in the spelling of names, both spellings are used. The history has also been used to identify some people when only the surname appears in the minutes. It appears that Mrs. Beeson discontinued a systematic listing of membership changes after the year 1837.

At the end of 1832 the health of Rev. B. BURROUGHS caused him to give up the active ministry and ended his connection with the church. In May the Rev. T. L. DWIGHT was invited to labour with us for a few months. During which time Mr. WM JAS HARDY and WASHINGTON BAIRD were admitted to membership by certificate. After which the congregation invited the Rev. CHARLES W. HOWARD to take permanent charge of this church. He commenced his labours about the middle of the month of November 1833.

HOLT at which time Miss PATIENCE BARROW, Miss APHIA THATCHER, Mr. DORSON E. SYKES, Mr. H. MEAD and Mr. L. COWLES were received into the church on certificate.

A motion to this effect was made by Mr. CUTHBERT and it was unanimously agreed to. M.J. KENNON, Esq., made a motion that the Session prepare a call and the Moderator appoint a committee to present the call to the Presbytery at their meeting in this place on the 3rd of April next. Revolutionary War Pension and Bounty-Land-Warrant Applications

~Henry Surname~

Contributed by: Mr. William R. HENRY, [redacted]

The Revolutionary War Pensions and Bounty-Land-Warrant Applications of an estimated 80,000 Veterans of American military, naval, and marine officers and enlisted men in the Revolutionary War are available on microfilm. The M804 series consist of 2670 rolls of microfilm. The M805 series is a condensed series containing the more significant genealogical documents and consists of 898 rolls of microfilm. For example to cover the HENRY surname requires two rolls of M804 or one roll of M805. Having personally compared the contents of both series covering the HENRY surname I would recommend rental or purchase of rolls from the M804 series.

The HENRY Family History (1929) Published by the American Historical-Genealogical Society of Philadelphia, lists 466 veterans named HENRY who served in the Revolutionary War. The number is excessive and contains duplications as they counted a name each time it appeared in a document. The following is their number by states, which for reasons unknown does not show SC and GA:

CT - 13	MA - 51	NY - 25	RI - 13
DE - 5	NH - 12	NC - 5	VT - 15
MD - 18	NJ - 25	PA - 272	VA - 31

Bounty-Land-Warrants for the most part were granted a few years after the Revolutionary War. Pension laws were approved first in 1818. At that time most veterans still alive were 60 years of age or older. Many veterans or widows waited until they were 80 or 90 years of age and in dire finicial need to apply. They then had considerable difficulty in producing proof of service and/or proof of marriage. For children of deceased veterans the difficulty in establishing the necessary proof was even greater.

The following is a genealogical sketch taken from roll M805-0419 of 52 veterans named HENRY on whom applications were filed. Similiar information can be obtained on any veteran of any surname on whom an application was filed. Many applications were rejected or just never approved due to lack of proof. Therefore we have omitted the service claim except to show state from which served as our main purpose is genealogy:

Georgia Battalion in the Texas Revolution

Contributed by: Mr. Robert S. DAVIS, Jr., [redacted]

Texas' rebellion from Mexico began in October 1835 and was followed with keen interest by the press in the southern states. Most of the Texas revolutionaries had family and friends in the South including no small number in Georgia. A public meeting was held in Macon on November 9 that raised $3,146 to send volunteers to help the "Texians." Some eighty men initially joined this clandestine and unofficial expedition under William A. Ward, son of Revolutionary War veteran Leonard Ward of Twiggs County.[1] William Ward apparently armed his forces with new U.S. yagers belonging to the State of Georgia. Simply taking weapons from the state arsenal when a person or persons went west, or any other time, seems to have been a common practise of the period. Ward and his men set out for Texas on 18 November 1835.

En route to Columbus, they passed through Knoxville, Georgia, where they were treated to a public dinner. Miss Joanna Troutman was so inspired by this band of soldiers of fortune that she made them a white silk flag with a blue, five-pointed star and the words "Liberty or Death" on one side and "Ubi Libertas Habitat, Ibi Nostra Patra Est" (Where Liberty Resides, There Our Country Is) on the other. The flag caught up to Ward and his men in Columbus. In Montgomery, Alabama, they joined volunteers from Columbus under William A. O. Wadsworth and together sailed for Texas, by way of Mobile and New Orleans.

At Valesco, Texas — and no longer in the then legal limits of the United States — the Georgians and the volunteers they had collected along their journey formed the Georgia Battalion with William A. Ward as major and commander, on 22 December 1835. The battalion initially consisted of Company No. 1, The Columbus Volunteers, under Captain William A. O. Wadsworth, which also included volunteers enlisted in New Orleans; Company No. 2, The Macon Volunteers, under Captain Uriah Irwin Bullock; and Company No. 3, The Georgia Riflemen, under Captain James C. Winn, consisting of volunteers chiefly from Macon, Milledgeville, and Mississippi. Later, Company No. 4, The Alabama Greys (or Blues), from Montgomery, Alabama, under Captain Isaac Ticknor, was added to the Georgia Battalion.[2] The Georgia Battalion was aptly named, despite having members from Alabama, Louisiana, and Mississippi. Captain Winn and Sergeant Anthony Bates were from Gwinnett County, Georgia, where one of Georgia's first public monuments stands in their memory in Lawrenceville; Thomas H. Cosby was from Jasper County; Isaac Aldridge was from Putnam County;[3] Drury H. Minor was from Houston County;[4] and David I. Holt was a former member of the Georgia legislature from Jones County and the political satirist "Ned Bucket" mentioned in Dr. James Holmes' "Dr. Bullie's Notes."[5] A large portion of the Georgia Battalion was, of course, from Columbus, Milledgeville, and Macon. If a detailed study could be made of all of the Georgia Battalion — and even the Alabama and "Texas" troops in Fannin's other units — probably almost the whole state of Georgia would be found to have been represented in the Goliad campaign that followed.

The Georgia Battalion was placed with the Lafayette Battalion, a conglomeration of various other companies, in the 1st. Regiment of Texas Volunteers. The new regiment was commanded by Colonel James Walker Fannin, formerly of Columbus, Georgia. Fannin was a member of the prominent Fort family of Georgia, a former West Point Cadet, and the first cousin of artist and inventor Samuel F. B. Morse. Under the reorganization, Ward became lieutenant colonel and second-in-command of the regiment, with Dr. Warren J. Mitchell of Columbus as Major and commander of the Georgia Battalion, Gideon Rose as sergeant major, and David I. Holt as quartermaster.

Fannin's command was stationed at the Presidio La Bahia, an old Spanish fort, in Goliad, Texas by February 1836, when the Mexican army of General Jose Urrea approached. On 12 March 1836, Ward and the Georgia Battalion was dispatched to Refugio, twenty-seven miles away to rescue a company beseiged there by part of Urrea's command. The Georgians themselves became beseiged at the mission at Refugio on 14 March. They repulsed four charges of Urrea's 1,200 to 1,400 cavalry, infantry, and Indian auxiliaries. Ward would claim that he counted 153 of the enemy killed and 170 wounded while his command suffered only three wounded.

Low on ammunition and having received orders from Fannin to retreat to the north to join General Houston's army, the Georgia Battalion slipped out of the mission in the night and set out for Victoria, Texas. Lost on the prairie and short of food and water, they stumbled into Victoria on the night of 20 March, only to find it occupied by the Mexicans. Ward and his men then attempted to reach the sea but were cut off and surrounded in a swamp. Over Ward's protest, the men of the Georgia Battalion elected to surrender as prisoners of war, which Fannin and the rest of his command had done after being cut off and surrounded at the Battle of Coletto Creek, shortly before. The prisoners were confined in the chapel at the Presidio La Bahia at Goliad. Ward refused to be held with the other officers and was allowed to stay with his men.

Against the protests of General Urrea, General Santa Anna ordered the prisoners at Goliad put to death as bandits and pirates. Fannin's troops were marched out of the Presidio in columns on Palm Sunday, 27 March 1836, under the pretense that they were being taken to the sea to be returned to the United States. Only minutes into the march, the Mexican army attacked the unarmed prisoners, shooting, hacking, and lancing them to death. A few physicians, laborers, and boys were spared and some others escaped by fleeing. At least eighty-three of the Georgia Battalion died, however. Fannin, Ward, and the other officers were then brought out to be executed. Ward supposidly was offered his life if he would get down on his knees. He replied that with his men dead, he didn't want to live. He and Fannin were then shot with the other officers.

At the Texas victory over Santa Anna at San Jacinto, "Remember Labadee!" (La Bahia, i.e. Goliad), was the battle cry with "Remember the Alamo!" The Goliad Massacre was also a factor, according to Harbert Davenport, in rallying American support for the Mexican War of 1846, with the subsequent gain in territory and resources by the United States. Texas has honored the Georgia Battalion and the other men of Goliad in a variety of ways. The blue star in the Troutman flag the Georgians carried was officially recognized as the origin of the Lone Star of Texas in 1913. During the centennial of Texas independence, an impressive granite monument was erected over the mass grave of Fannin and his men. The Presidio La Bahia has been completely restored and is now a museum. For more information on the history of the Georgia Battalion see Claude Elliott, "Georgia and the Texas Revolution," Georgia Historical Quarterly 28 (1944): 233-50. For information on memorial services and other programs to be held in honor of the Georgia Battalion in 1986 contact the Presidio La Bahia, P. O. Box 57, Goliad, Texas 77963.

Attempts to compile an accurate list of the men who served under Fannin and specifically in the Georgia Battalion has been hindered by a loss of records and confusion over common names. Reproduced below is a roster of the Georgia Battalion extracted from a roster of Fannin's command in Georgia, Governor John Forsyth's personal copy of the Telegraph and Texas Register, 9 November 1836, from Texas Soldiers, File II Subjects, RG 4-2-96, Georgia Department of Archives and History. This original list includes the following annotation: An asterisk (*) indicates that the soldier was reported to have fled during the massacre and escaped, a cross (+) means that the soldier was spared, and a double cross (++) indicates a man who became separated from the Georgia Battalion during their retreat and escaped. This list is supplemented by other rosters. Names that appear in brackets, for example [J. A. Tatom], are alternative spellings or additional names found on a roster published in the Georgia Messenger, Macon, 23 May 1839, p. 3, c. 4-5, for the benefit of survivors or heirs of veterans who qualified for bounty lands in Texas. To check for bounty lands received see Thomas Lloyd Miller, Bounty and Donation Land Grants 1835-1888 (Austin: University of Texas Press, 1967). For the claims made for bounty lands, contact Texas State Land Office, General Land Office, Records Division, 1700 N. Congress, Austin, TX 78701. Names that appear in parenthesis, for example (W. H. Butler), represent an alternative spelling or an additional name found in the rosters of the Macon Volunteers and the Georgia Riflemen included in the petition of Goliad survivor Samuel G. Hardaway and Georgia Governor Hershal V. Johnson, November 1855, in their unsuccessful attempt to have a monument erected in memory of the Georgia Battalion with monies owed by Texas for the arms from the Georgia arsenal that the Georgia troops had carried with them. This petition is part of the Memorials and Petitions Series, Records of the Legislature, Texas State Library.

Finally, where additional information is available on a soldier, a numerical footnote has been added by his name. The notes are given at the end of the article. Harbert Davenport compiled extensive lists of the men who were lost and those who survived the Goliad campaign, although seldom with an indication as to which unit each soldier belonged. He clears up confusion on some names and adds to the confusion on some others. His lists are also not complete. The lists are published in his article "The Men of Goliad," The Southwestern Historical Quarterly 48 (1939): 1-41, and have been reprinted in Kathryn Stoner O'Connor, The Presidio La Bahia del Espiritu Santo de Zuniga 1721 to 1846 (Austin: Von Boeckmann-Jones, 1966).

UNIVERSITY OF GEORGIA LIBRARIES — SPECIAL COLLECTIONS

The following information was received from Mr. J. Larry GULLEY, Special Collections Department, University of Georgia Libraries, Athens, Georgia 30602:

We are attempting to collect correspondence, photographs, diaries, recollections, etc. that relate to the Spanish American War, World War I, World War II, the Korean War and the Vietnamese Conflict. We are excluding memorabilia as this type material is more suited to a museum. We feel that if this material is not preserved now it will be lost. People move around so much and this type material is what usually gets thrown out. More and more researchers are seeking this material.

When we receive a collection, the material is sorted and placed in acid free boxes and folders. The collection is assigned a number and given a name. The name is usually that of the chief writer of the collection or of the family involved.

By placing these materials here individuals are not only preserving them for researchers but family members as well.

I might add that we are always interested in acquiring family correspondence and diaries of this century. Once again these need to be preserved before they are destroyed. Many people feel this type material as well as the war material has no research value but it is surprising the amount of information that will turn up in a purely "personal" letter.

CENTRAL GEORGIA GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY, INC.
WARNER ROBINS, GEORGIA 31099-2024

Non-Profit
Tax Exempt
Org. GA

ORGANIZATION: The CENTRAL GEORGIA GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY, Inc. was organized in October 1978 by James T. Martin of Warner Robins, Georgia. In February 1981 the Society was incorporated as a non-profit organization under the law of the State of Georgia. The U. S. Internal Revenue Service has determined that the Society is a tax-exemption organization under Section 501(c), U.S. Internal Revenue Code of 1954. The Society is governed by a Board of Directors consisting of the elected and appointed officers and six elected Directors.

GEOGRAPHICAL AREA: The Society's area of primary interest consists of twenty-seven contiguous counties located in central Georgia. They are: BALDWIN, BIBB, BLECKLEY, CRAWFORD, CRISP, DODGE, DOOLY, HOUSTON, JOHNSON, JONES, LAMAR, LAURENS, MACON, MONROE, MONTGOMERY, PEACH, PIKE, PULASKI, TAYLOR, TELFAIR, TREUTLEN, TWIGGS, UPSON, WASHINGTON, WHEELER, WILCOX, and WILKINSON.

PURPOSE: The purposes for which the corporation is organized are:

To collect, preserve and disseminate knowledge and information with reference to genealogical and related historical, biographical, and heraldic data;

To inculcate and promote interest in research in these fields;

To stimulate and provide instruction in the use of efficient methods and the adherence to principles of accuracy and thoroughness in research;

To champion ethical standards and to discourage and oppose incompetent and disreputable practices or researchers;

To foster careful documentation and otherwise promote scholarly writing;

To issue publications, and

To promote the collection and the preservation of local records which are of genealogical or historical value.

MEMBERSHIP: Membership in the Society is open to any person interested in promoting the objectives stated above. Annual dues are: $15.00 for individual membership; $20.00 for family membership (husband and wife, or two related persons in same household), and $30.00 for sustaining membership (minimum - no maximum).

PUBLICATIONS: The Society publishes a monthly NEWSLETTER and a QUARTERLY. The QUARTERLY is published in March, June, September, and December and is mailed to all members in good standing. The Society exchanges quarterlies with a number of genealogical societies and mails free copies to selected libraries. QUERIES, from members only, are published in the QUARTERLY free of charge. There is no limit as to the number of queries which a member may submit. BOOK REVIEWS are published when a copy of the book has been received by the Society. These books then become part of the Society's permanent library. Members are encouraged to submit ARTICLES FOR PUBLICATION in the QUARTERLY, and extra long articles may be serialized. The QUARTERLY is not copyrighted and anyone is welcome to make proper use of the contents; however, the use of articles quoted from other published sources is prohibited without prior permission from the copyright holder. The Society, and authors of articles, will appreciate appropriate credit. The QUARTERLY is not sold by subscription. Current and back issues may be purchased from the Society, when available, within one year from date of publication for $3.00 per issue — postpaid within the U.S. After one year, or earlier if stock is depleted, copies must be photocopied locally and the cost is $4.00 per issue, postpaid within the U.S.

FAMILY PEDIGREE CHARTS: The Society welcomes the opportunity to publish pedigree charts for members in good standing. Minimum coverage of four generations is required. When you submit your pedigree for publication you may order additional copies of your chart. Copies are printed in reduced size on 8½ x 11-inch paper (standard typewriter paper). The MINIMUM ORDER is $2.00

TRAINING: Twice each year the Society conducts classes for beginning genealogists. These classes are free and available to members only.

WORKSHOP: The Society plans to hold an all day workshop once each year, complete with exhibits, for members and the public. The registration fee will be set to cover the Society's cost and will vary from year to year, depending upon prices charged for food, meeting facilities, speaker fees, etc.

PROJECTS: The Society undertakes special projects for preservation of genealogical and historical information. The Society, in cooperation with the University of Georgia, Athens, Georgia microfilmed the "Houston Home Journal" newspaper and placed a complete set of films in the Nola Brantley Memorial Library, Warner Robins, Georgia. The Society also reprinted the "First 110 Years of Houston County,Georgia" a history of the county first published in 1932. Other projects, such as publishing county census records, are planned. Also bound copies of the Quarterly complete with a name index.

RESEARCH: From time to time the Society plans to offer special research services to the members. This will be on a limited basis and a small fee will be charged to produce income for the Society.

PROBLEM SOLVING: Members are invited to submit their genealogical problems for solution. When submitting a problem always state what you have tried to solve the problem. This is very important so that those things which you have tried, and found inadequate, will not be suggested as a possible solution. We will publish your problem, with one or more possible solutions when available, in the monthly NEWSLETTER. If we do not have a solution at the time we will publish your problem and ask for suggestions from our readers. This IS NOT an offer to do your research, but to suggest ways in which you might accomplish your research or solve other problems which you have. Problems should be typewritten, double spaced, one side of paper only, and each page should have the member's name and address thereon. When we publish a problem we will not show a member's name nor address — only the member's state of residence will be shown. Suggested solutions will be published ONLY IN THE NEWSLETTER — replies will not be made to individual submitting a problem. This is a free service for members only. Mail your problems to CGGS, Attn: Research Editor. The Publications Committee reserves the right to edit/rewrite problems received and to reject those considered inappropriate for publishing.

ADVERTISING: The Society accepts classified and display ads for publishing in the QUARTERLY. Only ads of genealogical/historical interest; including supplies and services, books and periodicals, educational programs and opportunities, workshop/seminar announcements, etc., will be accepted. CGGS will consider entering into reciprocal agreements with other genealogical organizations for publishing announcements pertaining to activities thereof. A display ad layout sheet, with cost for various size ads, is enclosed with each issue of the Quarterly.

MEETINGS: The Society holds regular monthly meetings with planned programs. In addition to the planned program, time permitting, a question and answer session is usually conducted for the benefit of members who have a problem with their research, or who has found a better way for accomplishing their work. Visitors and guests are always welcome to attend any regular meeting of the Society. Our current membership covers many states and we invite you to join our Society. For membership application write to the Corresponding Secretary at address shown above.

Pedigree Chart Index

Contributed by: Mr. Thomas R. BETHUNE, Computer Products Editor, [redacted]

This is a complete index of all names appearing on all FAMILY PEDIGREE charts which we have published in our Quarterlies from September 1980 — approximately 1,612 names. Some early charts, September 1980 through June 1982, do not show as much information as later charts because of a change in chart format. You may order copies of any charts which we have published for 15¢ per copy, minimum order of 10 copies, from the Corresponding Secretary. Copies need not be all of the same chart.

To use this index find the name in the alphabetical section which you are interested in and note the chart number shown after the name. Find the chart number in the index of Quarterlies where you will find the chart published. If you have that issue of the Quarterly you can see the pedigree in which the name is a part of.

?? QUERIES FROM OUR MEMBERS ??

Queries from members in good standing are published free in the CGGS Quarterly. There is no restriction as to number or length of queries, or frequency of submission. Queries should be typewritten and double spaced on only one side of a sheet. Include your membership number, name and complete address to which replies are to be made.

ALWAYS SEND A THANK YOU LETTER TO THOSE WHO REPLY TO YOUR QUERY!

PLEASE NOTE: Queries submitted for publication in CGGS Quarterly may also be published in a newspaper column titled Roots, Shoots and Branches. This column should begin appearing very soon in several newspapers. This is a special project of CGGS for obtaining broader exposurer for your queries and hopefully better results. We will publish current queries and some from back issues of our Quarterly. Respondents will be asked to reply directly to member submitting the query. If you receive a reply to a query the Society would appreciate a note, including name of newspaper and if possible a copy of the article. Members who do not wish to have their queries published in newspapers should so note on queries submitted for publication.

Thank you. Mrs. Helen S. GAGNON, Queries Editor.

SOURCE: STONER, Robert D. A Seed-Bed of the Republic — Early Botetourt County, Virginia. Kingsport Press, 1962. Page 159. Copy in Washington Memorial Library, Macon, GA.

The Sweet Springs Road entered Botetourt at the Black Horse Gap on the Bedford-Botetourt County line, and the portion still used follows present Route No. 606, and is the division line between the Amsterdam District and the Buchanan and Fincastle Districts, and is also the Main Street of the town of Fincastle, Virginia.

At about the point where this road crossed the Bedford-Botetourt county lines, was located the Black Horse Tavern and an abundant spring which was used to refresh both men and beasts, and here the weary traveler from the lowland first viewed the panorama of the Blue Ridge Mountains. Although this section of the road is now abandoned the traveler, speeding in another direction on the Skyland Drive, passes this spot without knowledge of it, or without a thought of those having passed it before. We, too, will soon rest under the sod as does Mrs. Kollock, who passed here almost a century and a half ago, and whose grave in the Fincastle Presbyterian Churchyard bears the following memorial:

Index To Wills; 1835-1948; Crawford County, Georgia

Contributed by: Mrs. Marge A. THOMPSON, [redacted]

Mrs. Thompson prepared this index to Crawford County wills from will books A, B, and C, at the Crawford County courthouse in Knoxville, Georgia. The names are those of persons executing the wills and does not include heirs, devisees, and legatees. The original wills are on file at the courthouse for those who would like to do further research. Mrs. Thompson has interpreted the records to the best of her ability; however, the reader is reminded of the possibility of errors in deciphering hand written records. Names are listed in alphabetical order by will book, followed a page number where they will be found in the will book. Colored persons, if any, are shown at the end of each listing.

YOU DON'T SAY!

When you speak of one's pedigree, you're talking about a crane's foot. The word comes from the French pied de grue (foot of the crane). Because of an imagined resemblance between that bird's track and the standard three-pronged symbol that early French genealogists adopted to indicate lines of descent.

In 1877, Sidney Lanier, writing to a kinsman said:

The slight esteem in which genealogical investigations are sometimes held, can legitimately attach only to such as are pursued from unseemly motives of display. For, indeed, to the earnest man, the study of his ancestry must be regarded as the study of himself. Christian insight, no less than heathen wisdom, has sanctioned the ancient admonition "Know thyself," and if it be true that in order to know one's self one must know one's ancestors, then the practice of genealogical research must be regarded as a duty, and with peculiar fitness the Family Tree is inscribed in the family Bible.

GUIDE TO RESEARCH: Case Studies in American Genealogy.
By Johni Cerny and Arlene Eakle. Published by Ancestry Inc., P. O. Box 476, Salt Lake City, UT 84110, 1985. Soft cover, 6 x 9, 364 pages, Indexed. Price $10.95
Copy donated to CGGS library by the publisher.

The authors state that they wrote this book because their previous publication, THE SOURCE: A Guidebook to American Genealogy, was proving to be too advanced for many who were trying to use it. This is said to be an easier guide for the beginner. Then they began the book with topics such as the origin of surnames, naming patterns, old style/new style dates, relationships and hiring a professional genealogists. A beginning researcher will become totally confused by this.

One third of the book is used to trace an American lineage. This offers excellent guidance in the use of primary sources and gives good instructions in research methods and analysis of evidence. The whole purpose of the chapter is defeated though because it traces an adoptive line instead of a genetic line and uses the term nonblood descendants.

With its many weak points, it still can be used to good advantage by researchers.

WARNER ROBINS, GEORGIA 31099-2024

Non-Profit
Tax Exempt
Org. GA

ORGANIZATION: The CENTRAL GEORGIA GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY, Inc. was organized in October 1978 by James T. Martin of Warner Robins, Georgia. In February 1981 the Society was incorporated as a non-profit organization under the law of the State of Georgia. The U. S. Internal Revenue Service has determined that the Society is a tax-exemption organization under Section 501(c), U.S. Internal Revenue Code of 1954. The Society is governed by a Board of Directors consisting of the elected and appointed officers and six elected Directors.

GEOGRAPHICAL AREA: The Society's area of primary interest consists of twenty-seven contiguous counties located in central Georgia. They are: BALDWIN, BIBB, BLECKLEY, CRAWFORD, CRISP, DODGE, DOOLY, HOUSTON, JOHNSON, JONES, LAMAR, LAURENS, MACON, MONROE, MONTGOMERY, PEACH, PIKE, PULASKI, TAYLOR, TELFAIR, TREUTLEN, TWIGGS, UPSON, WASHINGTON, WHEELER, WILCOX, and WILKINSON.

PURPOSE: The purposes for which the corporation is organized are:

To collect, preserve and disseminate knowledge and information with reference to genealogical and related historical, biographical, and heraldic data;

To inculcate and promote interest in research in these fields;

To stimulate and provide instruction in the use of efficient methods and the adherence to principles of accuracy and thoroughness in research;

To champion ethical standards and to discourage and oppose incompetent and disreputable practices or researchers;

To foster careful documentation and otherwise promote scholarly writing;

To issue publications, and

To promote the collection and the preservation of local records which are of genealogical or historical value.

MEMBERSHIP: Membership in the Society is open to any person interested in promoting the objectives stated above. Annual dues are: $15.00 for individual membership; $20.00 for family membership (husband and wife, or two related persons in same household), and $30.00 for sustaining membership (minimum - no maximum).

PUBLICATIONS: The Society publishes a monthly NEWSLETTER and a QUARTERLY. The QUARTERLY is published in March, June, September, and December and is mailed to all members in good standing. The Society exchanges quarterlies with a number of genealogical societies and mails free copies to selected libraries. QUERIES, from members only, are published in the QUARTERLY free of charge. There is no limit as to the number of queries which a member may submit. BOOK REVIEWS are published when a copy of the book has been received by the Society. These books then become part of the Society's permanent library. Members are encouraged to submit ARTICLES FOR PUBLICATION in the QUARTERLY, and extra long articles may be serialized. The QUARTERLY is not copyrighted and anyone is welcome to make proper use of the contents; however, the use of articles quoted from other published sources is prohibited without prior permission from the copyright holder. The Society, and authors of articles, will appreciate appropriate credit. The QUARTERLY is not sold by subscription. Current and back issues may be purchased from the Society, when available, within one year from date of publication for $3.00 per issue — postpaid within the U.S. After one year, or earlier if stock is depleted, copies must be photocopied locally and the cost is $4.00 per issue, postpaid within the U.S.

FAMILY PEDIGREE CHARTS: The Society welcomes the opportunity to publish pedigree charts for members in good standing. Minimum coverage of four generations is required. When you submit your pedigree for publication you may order additional copies of your chart. Copies are printed in reduced size on 8½ x 11-inch paper (standard typewriter paper). The MINIMUM ORDER is $2.00 PREpublication prices:

20 charts $2.00	80 charts $6.40	For copies of more than one chart you may order in minimum increments of 10 copies per chart.
30 charts $2.80	90 charts $7.10

After publication cost is 15¢ each — minimum order ten copies.

continued

TRAINING: Twice each year the Society conducts classes for beginning genealogists. These classes are free and available to members only.

WORKSHOP: The Society plans to hold an all day workshop once each year, complete with exhibits, for members and the public. The registration fee will be set to cover the Society's cost and will vary from year to year, depending upon prices charged for food, meeting facilities, speaker fees, etc.

PROJECTS: The Society undertakes special projects for preservation of genealogical and historical information. The Society, in cooperation with the University of Georgia, Athens, Georgia microfilmed the "Houston Home Journal" newspaper and placed a complete set of films in the Nola Brantley Memorial Library, Warner Robins, Georgia. The Society also reprinted the "First 110 Years of Houston County,Georgia" a history of the county first published in 1932. Other projects, such as publishing county census records, are planned. Also bound copies of the Quarterly complete with a name index.

RESEARCH: From time to time the Society plans to offer special research services to the members. This will be on a limited basis and a small fee will be charged to produce income for the Society.

PROBLEM SOLVING: Members are invited to submit their genealogical problems for solution. When submitting a problem always state what you have tried to solve the problem. This is very important so that those things which you have tried, and found inadequate, will not be suggested as a possible solution. We will publish your problem, with one or more possible solutions when available, in the monthly NEWSLETTER. If we do not have a solution at the time we will publish your problem and ask for suggestions from our readers. This IS NOT an offer to do your research, but to suggest ways in which you might accomplish your research or solve other problems which you have. Problems should be typewritten, double spaced, one side of paper only, and each page should have the member's name and address thereon. When we publish a problem we will not show a member's name nor address — only the member's state of residence will be shown. Suggested solutions will be published ONLY IN THE NEWSLETTER — replies will not be made to individual submitting a problem. This is a free service for members only. Mail your problems to CGGS, Attn: Research Editor. The Publications Committee reserves the right to edit/rewrite problems received and to reject those considered inappropriate for publishing.

ADVERTISING: The Society accepts classified and display ads for publishing in the QUARTERLY. Only ads of genealogical/historical interest; including supplies and services, books and periodicals, educational programs and opportunities, workshop/seminar announcements, etc., will be accepted. CGGS will consider entering into reciprocal agreements with other genealogical organizations for publishing announcements pertaining to activities thereof. A display ad layout sheet, with cost for various size ads, is enclosed with each issue of the Quarterly.

MEETINGS: The Society holds regular monthly meetings with planned programs. In addition to the planned program, time permitting, a question and answer session is usually conducted for the benefit of members who have a problem with their research, or who has found a better way for accomplishing their work. Visitors and guests are always welcome to attend any regular meeting of the Society. Our current membership covers many states and we invite you to join our Society. For membership application write to the Corresponding Secretary at address shown above.

Georgia Battalion in the Texas Revolution

Contributed by: Mr. Robert S. DAVIS, Jr., [redacted]

A roster of the members of the Georgia Battalion, a group of volunteers from throughout Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, and Louisiana who served in the Texas War of Independence, 1835-6, was published in the Central Georgia Genealogical Society Quarterly, (1985) vol. 7, No. 2, pp 64-9, with a list of sources to check for further information. Most of these men were put to death by the Mexican army at Goliad, Texas, 27 March 1836.

Since that article was published, I have discovered two articles that may help in identifying some of the persons whom appear on the rosters.

Macon Georgia Telegraph, 9 June 1836, p. 3, c. 2.
"Among the volunteers from Macon who were killed are the following: William Ward, Brad. Fowler, Hunt, Thomas Freeman, Samuel Brown, Marion Vigal, Joseph Stovall, Washington Cummings, James Hughes and his two sons Wiley and Westley Hughes, Robert Pace, Hugh Minor from Perry Houston county, Francis Brooks, Joseph Wilson, James McKensey, John Moat, John O. Moore, James Calahan, Capt. Winn from Gwinnett, Capt. Wadsworth. I am uncertain as to the fate of Watkins and Noble. Wm. L. Wilkerson is living and is kept a prisoner. Pierce Hammack and Stewart have escaped." [Benjamin C. Franklin of Texas]

"WARM SPRINGS, June 5th 1836

To the Editors of the Columbus Enquirer.

GENTLEMEN-- Joseph W. Andrews (my brother-in-law) just arrived here from Texas, furnishes the names of Prisoners taken by the Mexicans, whose lives were spared by their presenting themselves as Mechanics. It will no doubt be gratifying to their relatives and friends to learn that they are alive.

Ibid., 26 March 1836, p. 2, c. 6
"The following named persons under the command of Cols. Fannin and Ward made their escape -- Joseph Andrews (our informant) from Meriwether Springs, David Holt, Lewis Washington, ----- Dickinson, Morarce Bullock, Samuel Hardaway, and Benj. Mordeen, all Georgians. Dr. Shackleford of Ala. had his life spared, and is now in attendence upon the wounded Mexicans."

1860 CENSUS, DOUGHERTY COUNTY, GEORGIA.
Abstracts by Faye Sweat.
Published by Southwest Georgia Genealogical Society, P.O. Box 4672, Albany, GA 31706
Softcover, 8½ x 11-inch, 46 pages, indexed.
$5.00 plus $1.35 for postage and handling from the society.

This is an unusual census record in that the enumerator numbered the households in numerical sequence from 1 through 249, then he started over and numbered the households 1 through 9, then he omitted household numbers for five pages and started numbering again with household 290 through 522. This is explained at the beginning of the surname index on page 41 and an astrick is used in the index to denote surnames found between 249 and 290. This explanation is essential for the user of this record — it may have been a good idea to also have shown it in the introduction?

Aside from the enumerator's erratic numbering system this is a well prepared record and the surname index makes it easy to find a name in the record. The record includes a person's name, age, sex, occupation, and place of birth. It does not indicate race, except for an occasional entry such as "Black carpenter" on page 15. For anyone who is interested in Dougherty County, Georgia this is a worthwhile addition to their genealogical library.

Softcover, 8½ x 11-inch, 99 pages, Surname index.
$8.00 plus $1.35 for postage and handling.

This is an abstract of free inhabitants of Randolph County, Georgia as enumerated in the Federal Census of 1860. It is arranged in the same order as shown on the microfilm and the surname index is keyed to the household number. It shows a person's name, age, sex, occupation, and place of birth. The typescript format is well arranged and easy to use. This was one of the more populous counties with 905 households in the 1860 census. It is a handy reference to have in your library.

TRAINING: Twice each year the Society conducts classes for beginning genealogists. These classes are free and available to members only.

WORKSHOP: The Society plans to hold an all day workshop once each year, complete with exhibits, for members and the public. The registration fee will be set to cover the Society's cost and will vary from year to year, depending upon prices charged for food, meeting facilities, speaker fees, etc.

PROJECTS: The Society undertakes special projects for preservation of genealogical and historical information. The Society, in cooperation with the University of Georgia, Athens, Georgia microfilmed the "Houston Home Journal" newspaper and placed a complete set of films in the Nola Brantley Memorial Library, Warner Robins, Georgia. The Society also reprinted the "First 110 Years of Houston County,Georgia" a history of the county first published in 1932. Other projects, such as publishing county census records, are planned. Also bound copies of the Quarterly complete with a name index.

RESEARCH: From time to time the Society plans to offer special research services to the members. This will be on a limited basis and a small fee will be charged to produce income for the Society.

PROBLEM SOLVING: Members are invited to submit their genealogical problems for solution. When submitting a problem always state what you have tried to solve the problem. This is very important so that those things which you have tried, and found inadequate, will not be suggested as a possible solution. We will publish your problem, with one or more possible solutions when available, in the monthly NEWSLETTER. If we do not have a solution at the time we will publish your problem and ask for suggestions from our readers. This IS NOT an offer to do your research, but to suggest ways in which you might accomplish your research or solve other problems which you have. Problems should be typewritten, double spaced, one side of paper only, and each page should have the member's name and address thereon. When we publish a problem we will not show a member's name nor address — only the member's state of residence will be shown. Suggested solutions will be published ONLY IN THE NEWSLETTER — replies will not be made to individual submitting a problem. This is a free service for members only. Mail your problems to CGGS, Attn: Research Editor. The Publications Committee reserves the right to edit/rewrite problems received and to reject those considered inappropriate for publishing.

ADVERTISING: The Society accepts classified and display ads for publishing in the QUARTERLY. Only ads of genealogical/historical interest; including supplies and services, books and periodicals, educational programs and opportunities, workshop/seminar announcements, etc., will be accepted. CGGS will consider entering into reciprocal agreements with other genealogical organizations for publishing announcements pertaining to activities thereof. A display ad layout sheet, with cost for various size ads, is enclosed with each issue of the Quarterly.

MEETINGS: The Society holds regular monthly meetings with planned programs. In addition to the planned program, time permitting, a question and answer session is usually conducted for the benefit of members who have a problem with their research, or who has found a better way for accomplishing their work. Visitors and guests are always welcome to attend any regular meeting of the Society. Our current membership covers many states and we invite you to join our Society. For membership application write to the Corresponding Secretary at address shown above.

Heros of 1812

SOURCE: The Atlanta Constitution, 14 December 1897, p. 6, c. 1.

Colonel John P. FORT is in possession of a quaint old roster which tells of the stormy days of 1812 when the United States fought Great Britain on the high seas, and the Spaniards and Indians on her southern land border. This is the roster of a company of Georgia volunteers which served under Captain Tomlinson FORT, the father of Col. John P. FORT, and the names therein will be recognized as among the best in Georgia. The document is indorsed as follows: "A schedule of army and equipage furnished Captain Tomlinson FORT, copy, 24th August 1812, at Block House, Davis Creek, east Florida." This certificate is also found on the reverse side of the document: "State of New York. Copy. Sackett's Harbor, 11th February 1814 — I certify that Captain Tomlinson FORT, of the Georgia volunteers, was severely wounded through the knee, the 11th of September 1812, while gallantly performing his duties in the service of the United States. T. A. SMITH, Colonel Rifle Regiment."

In speaking of the battle in which Captain FORT was wounded his son says:

"My recollection is from an account given to me by my father, Tomlinson FORT, of the battle in which he was wounded is about this. In the campaign in Florida he left the blockhouse where his command was stationed to protect a wagon train that was bringing supplies to the fort, or blockhouse, where they were stationed.

It seems that the supplies in the wagons were captured by the Spaniards and Indians without the command at the blockhouse being aware of it. The distance that his command had to go was to a place called Twelve Mile Swamp, and was twelve miles distance from the blockhouse near the river landing. About nightfall, as they were nearing the end of their journey, the command was suddenly attacked in the swamp after nightfall. The attack was made, as afterwards ascertained, by 125 Spaniards and Indians, mainly Spaniards. The fight was as close quarters, although neither party closed at a bayonet charge, both sides firing at the flashing of each others guns. The night was dark and foggy. Neither side had any protection except high grass and small bushes. After a persistant duel of nearly an hour the firing on both sides about ceased and on gathering the men together there were but seven survivors, all, with probably one or two exceptions, more or less wounded. These seven men retreated toward the blockhouse.

Among the last wounded was Captain Tomlinson FORT, a rifle ball passing through his knee and lodging on the great nerve near the bone. It there remained forty years, when it was extracted after giving him untold pain for a life time. It was extracted by his son, then a physician and surgeon. The ball was a small rifle ball and had plainly the indention of the front teeth of a man, upon it showing that the soldier in the excitement of loading his rifle had put the ball between his teeth before loading his rifle. A large detachment from the blockhouse visited the battlefield the next day and it was found that the enemy had retreated with most of their dead and wounded without waiting until day and without taking or capturing the dead and wounded of the United States troops. Of the thirteen men left on the field, a few were still alive but all eventually died.

The criticism upon this battle, if it may be so called by Captain Tomlinson FORT, was that should his detachment have retreated at first fire, as was probably expected, they would all have been overtaken and massacred, unless some might have escaped in the increasing darkness, as daylight was not entirely gone when the battle commenced, but that a retreat should have been ordered earlier. It was afterwards ascertained that the enemy lost near forty men in killed and wounded. It appears that my father, although a captain carried a musket in accordance with the rules of the service. He informed me that he shot seven or eight times during the engagement."

Poor School Fund, Houston County, Georgia 1858-1859

Contributed by: Mr. William R. HENRY, [redacted]

An 1858 Act of the Georgia Legislature made it the duty of the School Commissioners of each county to require the Justice of The Peace in each district to make a full and complete return of all the poor children in their district between the ages of six (6) and eighteen (18) who they believe to be entitled to the benefits of the Poor School Fund. In Houston County an order to this effect was filed in the Ordinary Court on 5 Jul.1858 and on 1 Jan.1859 the following names returned by the JP of each district were recorded in Ordinary Court. Note: In a few cases only an initial was used but if the first name was known to this compiler it was placed in parentheses following the initial. For ease of location identity the more common used Land Districts are shown in parentheses following the Georgia Militia District.

Georgia People 1885

Abstracted by: Mr. Victor R. MYRICK, [redacted]

These interesting items about Georgia people are probably found in no other place. They appeared in the SAVANNAH MORNING NEWS from 31 March 1885 through 29 June 1885.

31 March 1885
MACON: The down train passed the crossing between Sunnyside and Griffin yesterday and struck a one horse wagon crossing the tracks. A man named Starr was lightly bruised but his wife and child were horribly mained.

1 April 1885
MACON: The wife of Bridges Smith of the Telegraph and Messenger died today.

2 April 1885
MACON: Mrs. Floyd Starr and her child are not as seriously injured as thought and there are hopes for their recovery.
ADVERTISEMENT: The best proof of the virtues of the GREAT GEORGIA BLOOD REMEDY is the fact that it is prepared according to the original formula developed in Houston County over fifty years ago and that it never fails to effect a cure. A SLICE OF NORMAN FAMILY GENEALOGY. By Loyal V. NORMAN, Ph.D, [redacted]. 1970. Softcover, 6 x 9, 53 pp., no price.
Copy donated to CGGS library.

A slice, we might say a thin slice, of the Norman family genealogy is what this book offers the reader. However, in addition to genealogical data it offers valuable biographical information and family history which helps one to a better understanding of the families. It is a scholarly work which is a pleasure to read and enjoy. And, as the author states, a good point of departure for further study and development of a more comprehensive genealogy.

The author starts with William NORMAN, who came to America from England around 1680, and briefly covers his descendents to the tenth generation — the author's generation. Families are shown in outline format and arranged by generation, according to date of birth, with a simple and easy-to-use numbering system for identifying generations and family members. The NORMAN line which the author traces starts in South Carolina, moves to North Carolina, Tennessee, Alabama, Mississippi, Arkansas and points west. In conclusion, the author has provided a bibliography of sixty-five references for further reading by those interested in pursuing the NORMAN genealogy.

IOWA COUSINS: A GENEALOGY. Compiled by: Amelia Wulf BECK and Juanita Comegys GETTMAN, 1983. Hardcover, 8.5 x 11-inch, xxxiv, 548 pages, Illustrated, Indexed. Price $39.50
Order from Amelia Wulf BECK, [redacted].

This complitation covers the following family lines of early settlers of Iowa and traces their genealogy to recent times: Linder, Callison, Ayers, Ball-Stark, Barstow, Beck, Eichmeier, Cook, Brodersen, Cavender, Comegys, Elliott, Deaton, Fredregill, Gardner, Henderson, Wade, Jeffers, Lane, Logsdon, Iske, Colyar, Millard, Sabin, Patterson, Nichols, Pirtle, Parnham, Preston, Richmond, Stark, Page, Strait/Straight, Bundy, Kruger, Ruggles, Benskin, DeWalt, Hannagan, Wildman, Collins, Fenoglio, Henning, Harris, Slater, Vaught, Potts, Fitzhugh, Dawson, Wulf, McCloskey, Hickman, Price, Wonder, Reynolds, Townsend, Haycraft, Van Meter, Hart, Henry, Masmar, Eisenberg, Hunsicker, Sterling, Harley, Cowan, Russell, Horning, Jones, Grater, Heath, Getman, Bridges, Zeeuw, Tiffany, Eads, Witt and Franzen.

There are a lot of photographs in this book and many are pictures of family members. It is unfortunate that improper methods were used in reproduction which renders many of these pictures almost worthless to the reader. The surname index is a mess. Many names are out of place, but if you keep searching you can find most of them. I was unable to locate Leona B. WULF in the index. Poetry is fine, but too much is too much.

Aside from its many shortcomings this book has a world of interesting and valuable genealogical information on the families which it covers. It is well worth your review when searching for Iowa ancestors.

ORGANIZATION: The CENTRAL GEORGIA GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY, Inc. was organized in October 1978 by James T. Martin of Warner Robins, Georgia. In February 1981 the Society was incorporated as a non-profit organization under the law of the State of Georgia. The U. S. Internal Revenue Service has determined that the Society is a tax-exemption organization under Section 501(c), U.S. Internal Revenue Code of 1954. The Society is governed by a Board of Directors consisting of the elected and appointed officers and six elected Directors.

GEOGRAPHICAL AREA: The Society's area of primary interest consists of twenty-seven contiguous counties located in central Georgia. They are: BALDWIN, BIBB, BLECKLEY, CRAWFORD, CRISP, DODGE, DOOLY, HOUSTON, JOHNSON, JONES, LAMAR, LAURENS, MACON, MONROE, MONTGOMERY, PEACH, PIKE, PULASKI, TAYLOR, TELFAIR, TREUTLEN, TWIGGS, UPSON, WASHINGTON, WHEELER, WILCOX, and WILKINSON.

PURPOSE: The purposes for which the corporation is organized are:

To collect, preserve and disseminate knowledge and information with reference to genealogical and related historical, biographical, and heraldic data;

To inculcate and promote interest in research in these fields;

To stimulate and provide instruction in the use of efficient methods and the adherence to principles of accuracy and thoroughness in research;

To champion ethical standards and to discourage and oppose incompetent and disreputable practices or researchers;

To foster careful documentation and otherwise promote scholarly writing;

To issue publications, and

To promote the collection and the preservation of local records which are of genealogical or historical value.

MEMBERSHIP: Membership in the Society is open to any person interested in promoting the objectives stated above. Annual dues are: $15.00 for individual membership; $20.00 for family membership (husband and wife, or two related persons in same household), and $30.00 for sustaining membership (minimum - no maximum).

PUBLICATIONS: The Society publishes a monthly NEWSLETTER and a QUARTERLY. The QUARTERLY is published in March, June, September, and December and is mailed to all members in good standing. The Society exchanges quarterlies with a number of genealogical societies and mails free copies to selected libraries. QUERIES, from members only, are published in the QUARTERLY free of charge. There is no limit as to the number of queries which a member may submit. BOOK REVIEWS are published when a copy of the book has been received by the Society. These books then become part of the Society's permanent library. Members are encouraged to submit ARTICLES FOR PUBLICATION in the QUARTERLY, and extra long articles may be serialized. The QUARTERLY is not copyrighted and anyone is welcome to make proper use of the contents; however, the use of articles quoted from other published sources is prohibited without prior permission from the copyright holder. The Society, and authors of articles, will appreciate appropriate credit. The QUARTERLY is not sold by subscription. Current and back issues may be purchased from the Society, when available, within one year from date of publication for $3.00 per issue — postpaid within the U.S. After one year, or earlier if stock is depleted, copies must be photocopied locally and the cost is $4.00 per issue, postpaid within the U.S.

TRAINING: Twice each year the Society conducts classes for beginning genealogists. These classes are free and available to members only.

WORKSHOP: The Society plans to hold an all day workshop once each year, complete with exhibits, for members and the public. The registration fee will be set to cover the Society's cost and will vary from year to year, depending upon prices charged for food, meeting facilities, speaker fees, etc.

PROJECTS: The Society undertakes special projects for preservation of genealogical and historical information. The Society, in cooperation with the University of Georgia, Athens, Georgia microfilmed the "Houston Home Journal" newspaper and placed a complete set of films in the Nola Brantley Memorial Library, Warner Robins, Georgia. The Society also reprinted the "First 110 Years of Houston County,Georgia" a history of the county first published in 1932. Other projects, such as publishing county census records, are planned. Also bound copies of the Quarterly complete with a name index.

RESEARCH: From time to time the Society plans to offer special research services to the members. This will be on a limited basis and a small fee will be charged to produce income for the Society.

PROBLEM SOLVING: Members are invited to submit their genealogical problems for solution. When submitting a problem always state what you have tried to solve the problem. This is very important so that those things which you have tried, and found inadequate, will not be suggested as a possible solution. We will publish your problem, with one or more possible solutions when available, in the monthly NEWSLETTER. If we do not have a solution at the time we will publish your problem and ask for suggestions from our readers. This IS NOT an offer to do your research, but to suggest ways in which you might accomplish your research or solve other problems which you have. Problems should be typewritten, double spaced, one side of paper only, and each page should have the member's name and address thereon. When we publish a problem we will not show a member's name nor address — only the member's state of residence will be shown. Suggested solutions will be published ONLY IN THE NEWSLETTER — replies will not be made to individual submitting a problem. This is a free service for members only. Mail your problems to CGGS, Attn: Research Editor. The Publications Committee reserves the right to edit/rewrite problems received and to reject those considered inappropriate for publishing.

ADVERTISING: The Society accepts classified and display ads for publishing in the QUARTERLY. Only ads of genealogical/historical interest; including supplies and services, books and periodicals, educational programs and opportunities, workshop/seminar announcements, etc., will be accepted. CGGS will consider entering into reciprocal agreements with other genealogical organizations for publishing announcements pertaining to activities thereof. A display ad layout sheet, with cost for various size ads, is enclosed with each issue of the Quarterly.

MEETINGS: The Society holds regular monthly meetings with planned programs. In addition to the planned program, time permitting, a question and answer session is usually conducted for the benefit of members who have a problem with their research, or who has found a better way for accomplishing their work. Visitors and guests are always welcome to attend any regular meeting of the Society. Our current membership covers many states and we invite you to join our Society. For membership application write to the Corresponding Secretary at address shown above.

USING THE RESEARCH DIRECTORY

The MEMBERSHIP RESEARCH DIRECTORY consists of an alphabetical listing of names being researched and a numerical listing, by membership number, of members doing the research.

The three-digit number, or numbers, shown after a name being researched, is the last three digits of the membership number of the member doing the research. Find the name you are interested in, note the number after the name and locate the name of the researcher in the numerical listing. For example: "ABEL 337" refers to member 84-337 Sally Johnson LUCIUS.

NOTE: Not all members have submitted a list of names which they are researching.

31st. Georgia Regiment, CSA

I would like to correspond with anyone who had ancestors in the 31st Georgia Regiment, Lawton-Gorden-Evans Brigades, Army of Northern Virginia during the War Between the States. I am attempting to put together a much needed history on this brave and proud regiment. My research has taken me to the National Archives and the Georgia Archives. I have obtained the rosters and a long list of battles the unit was in, plus a few letters and photos of some of the members. Two of its ten companies originated in Monroe and Pulaski Counties, GA. I am in dire need of copies of letters, photos, relics, stories, etc., about the soldiers, in order to make this history as complete and interesting as possible.

Also, I would like any accounts or stories about the burning of the grist mill at Unionville/High Falls in northern Monroe County, GA by retreating Confederate soldiers during the war.

Mrs. Joseph Smith
Autobiography

Contributed by: Mr. Jack H. BRAUCHT, [redacted]

Mrs. Joseph SMITH, b 27 Sep.1858, died in 1939. The following was written by Mrs. SMITH in 1938 for her children and their descendents.

My maternal Grandfather, Major Abraham A. BEATTIE was born in Washington County, VA. Married Eliza DAVIS of Smythe County, VA. He had a large plantation near Emory and Henry College, Washington County, VA. He had a number of slaves which he housed in a long brick building separate from his own residence. These slaves tilled the farm. He never did any work — only managed everything. Grandmother had six children, five daughters and one son - Ellen - my mother, Robert, Josephine, Jennie, Fannie and Nannie. Josephine died when 16 years old. Mother married Wm. H. McDONALD, Rich Valley, VA, 1854. Grandma Beattie died 1862, when I was four years old. Aunt Fannie wedded a doctor and left no descendants. Jennie married late in life, a widower, Mr. Herman of Nickerson. Aunt Nannie married Zack ATKINS of Marion, Smythe County, VA. She had several children but not other descendants that I have heard about. My paternal grandfather, Solomon McDONALD was of "Scotch" descent. He married Nancy COX, both of Rich Valley, VA. They had 8 children, five daughters; Mariah, Bettie, Sallie, Katie and Nancy. Three sons; Frank, James and William - my father - who after his marriage with Mother - Ellen A. BEATTIE - 1854, settled in Chatham Hill, Rich Valley, VA, in merchandising business. My two older brothers, George, Charlie and myself, were born in Chatham Hill. George died when a few weeks old. When I was a year old, Father moved to Marion, Smythe County, VA with his store, and taking Grandpa BEATTIE in partnership with him. He built a beautiful home on the suberbs of the town, planted a large fruit orchard, fish pond full of "suckers", "Horney Heads" etc. A stream ran near the home called "Staleys Creek." A range of high hills ran back of the house. My brother Charles and I did much tramping about over the place. Father had his barn built across the creek from the home. A bridge ran out of the yard to the barn. One day Charlie and I were playing over there. A big gate opened into the carriage lot. Charlie told me to get on the gate and he would give me a ride. We both climbed upon it. I was 5 years old. He was 8. The gate bumped so hard I fell off striking my elbow on a stone, dislocating the joint. Was so painful. I started for the house. I fainted before reaching the bridge. Father, sitting on the porch happened to see me drop. Came and carried me over to Mother who put me to bed and called the doctor. Was so swollen he did nothing with it. I have a crooked arm unto this day! Charlie died when 9 years old. My next remembrance was during the Civil War.

Father was in the Army. Our slaves had left us. Mother was alone with her four children. She could not carry on father's business, so he had to close the store. The northern men, "Yankees" we called them, had raided the town. Father's store had been pillaged. Mother was afraid she would be molested. She had some precious silverware she wanted to preserve, so she took it across the bridge to a poor neighbor to hide under her floor, as the "Yankees" would not be apt to bother her. As she came back home over the bridge, she saw a "Yankee" chasing a Southern man with a gun. The man passed through our gate, from the street, which happened to be opened. The Yankee still pursuing him - overtaking him up in the hills, shot him to death. The "Yankee" then came back to our home, and told Mother because she "opened the gate and let that "Rebel" through he would burn her house down. Mother had not gone to the gate, but had taken a path by the creek to the neighbor. The "Yankee" had seen her on the bridge, as she came home and thought she had been down to open the gate for the "Rebel." He went to bedrooms, pulled all covers from beds, piled them on the floor, then went to the dining room, helped himself to all the food he could find. He went out and got his horse, tried to ride it into the dining room but his men - there were several following him around - persuaded him not to. They knew he was drunk. Then he told Mother not to straighten anything, he would come back and burn the house down. Mother went to town authorities for protection. We were outside of corporation. We never saw the "Yankee" again. Then Father came home from the war. He had been "Captain" and Grandpa BEATTIE "Major" in the Army. They had no business any more. Nothing of any value was left. Granpa's slaves were all gone and he had to pay for all the work done on his farm, so they did not open up the store again. Father found office work for several years. Then had an offer from a mining company in Tennessee. We moved to Bristol, Tennessee. I had graduated from "Scherer College" in Marion and was thinking of teaching. My two sisters, Mary and Fannie and brother Garret were still in school. After a year, father did not seem to like his occupation, so concluded to "go west." Threw up his job - had a sale of household goods - made ready to travel West. We, the family, was to visit among the

"kin" in VA during the summer, until Father should find his job. In meantime I was strickened with Pnenumonia - had to be "cared for" at a neighbors. Delayed Father's trip for a week. When I "pulled up" we all went to Cousin Wm. SEXTON, in Marion VA for a week, then scattered about among other relatives. Father landed at Battle Creek, NB. Found a man who was wanting a manager for his farm, and a housekeeper. The man, Mr. GAYLORD, wished to live on the farm, was not married. Father sent for us at once. We arrived in mid summer - 1876. Mother, not used to work, just managed. Sisters Mollie and Fannie bore the burden of work. Garret helped with the farming. I was getting ready to take a school about 3 miles from the place, which I was to begin 1st September. Mr. Gaylord furnished me a "pony" to ride back and forth to school. The horse was very gentle - but young - 3 years old. One morning I was late and was galloping along when a squirrel ran across the road, scared the pony. He reared up and tossed me out of the saddle. My skirt caught on the horn and I hung head down, which frightened the horse more, as I clapped his side, but the skirt broke loose at the belt and I dropped to the ground, not much worse for the "freak" - happened about a block from the schoolhouse. The pony ran there and stopped. The children put him on the rope and I went to teaching.

Father stayed with Mr. Gaylord two years then moved to Dodge County, NB, ten miles north of Fremont, onto a farm he liked much better. I taught several schools in the county. There I met the man I married. Joseph A. SMITH. He was from Fremont and came out there to try farming. We were married in 1881 and went to a farm in Butler County, NB near linwood. My first baby - Grace Ellen - came in 1882, born at Mother's home. At last, Father was weary of farming and moved to Pierce, NB. He set up a lumber yard and was successful for many years. He had his brothers, Frank and James to move there from Virginia. My sister Fannie married Wm. Martin, a neighbor while in Dodge County. Father was made "Postmaster" then he turned the lumberyard over to brother Garrett and Wm. Martin. Finally he was elected County Judge and held the office for 17 years. Father wanted Joseph to buy a farm if he was expecting to stay in that business. In 1883 he wrote him of a cheap farm, to come up and look it over. He did but did not like it "was too sandy." While in Pierce, Joseph met a man he had gone to school with in Fremont. He owned a store in partnership with another man. He told Joseph he wanted to sell out, and go back to Fremont and finding that Joe came to buy a farm, the man insisted that he buy his share in the store and "come and live in that nice town." Joseph listened to him and bought his interest in the store. The man knew he had been a clerk for several years before marriage. But later he found out why his "friend" wanted to "sell out." He was in with a "thief" who was stealing from him all the time. The "friend" went to Father Smith who lived in Fremont and told him to warn Joseph to "watch" that "man" as he did not think he was honest. Father Smith was very "riled" to know that "friend" had used Joseph to save himself. After several months, the "thief" began to suspicion that Joe was watching him. He then told Joe he was going North on vacation and fishing tour, asked Joe if he could run the store. The next Saturday evening he told Joe to "go home to his wife" - I was not well - and he would "lock up" and leave key in a certain place. The "thief" packed two big trunks with everything he would need from the store and sent them to the station that night and left going south by way of Norfolk. The station agent met Joe on Sunday and informed him of the trunks and of going South. The Banker told him he had not deposited any money for several days and had drawn out a large sum for shipment of goods - he said - so Joseph sent out "tracers" for the thief on Monday and by time they caught up on his trip he was somewhere in Mexico. Joe turned the store over to the Banker, who retained him to sell out. Joe received no surplus cash from it, as so much was owed the Banker.

Joseph found a job in a southern county for the summer and moved there where our oldest son, Frank, was born in 1884. Then in early fall we moved back to our first hometown, Linwood. Was on several farms in the county. Finally, a friend, Mrs. Taylor, wanted to "go east" and wanted us to rent her farm. We stayed there several years. Daisy, our second daughter, was born there in 1886. When Mrs. Taylor returned home, we moved to North Bend, NB where Joseph was on several different jobs. Our second son, Chester was born there in 1888. In 1889, Father wanted Joe to take care of some cattle he had on a farm in Pierce County, so we moved there again, 12 miles from town. When Father sold the stock we moved nearer to Pierce. A cousin Beauregard McDonald desired to have us move in with him on a farm. He was a "bachelor" and wanted a housekeeper, and help in farming. There, our third daughter, Mary V. was born in 1891. Then Beauregard was elected to an office in Pierce and had to leave the farm, so we moved to a smaller one, and on it Joseph's crops were a failure from drought. Crops were litterally burnt up. We had a lot of stock, and pigs and nothing to feed them. There was little on market as every farmer was in same predictament, and grain had to be shipped in. The schoolhouse was about a block from our home, so I prepared the way to teach there. I went to Pierce to "Teachers Institute" for two weeks and got a certificate of high grade. Of course, all my neighbors were willing for me to have the school.

My husband took care of the home and baby Mary. She was two years old. The four other children attended the school. The second term, Matie would slip away from "Daddie" and come to school to find "Mama." I had to send her home with her brother. I got an aunt to keep house in last term. She had been visiting Mother - her sister - I was expecting another heir, so was very fortunate to have help. Three months after the second term ended, our third son Ivan G. was born in September 1894. Of course, that was the end of teaching. My Aunt, Jennie Beattie, got married a few years later to "Grandpa" Herman.

Joseph moved to another farm farther south. The next year he gave up farming. Sold all machinery and stock, saved one young horse and buggy and moved to Fremont. I drove around the County on Agency work while Joe was looking for a job. The oldest daughter, Grace, 14, could keep things running in the home, with the aid of the other children, through the summer, then when school began their father had a job with a creamery company and I could stay home.

While on the Agency work I came near having my "last ride." I had Chester, 10 years old with me. My horse, had been frightened once by a bright street light, let down in front of him. He wheeled around and nearly upset the buggy then. Grandpa Herman was driving. Never seem to get over a bright light. This time, it was the light of the train engine. The highway ran by the railroad, which was upon a high "fill." Came around a curve, all at once, and did look like it was coming down on us. The pony was so frightened he turned square around and upset the buggy with me in it. Chester jumped out as it went over. Then the pony galloped on down the road with the top dragging. At last it broke off and I was left in it senseless. The horse stopped at a barn. A man caught him and led him back to us. I was just regaining my senses. Chester was crying thinking I was dead. Blood all over my face from a bad cut across the nose. The man adjusted the top on the buggy and helped us into it. Otherwise I do not know how I would have reached home. I stopped at the doctor's and had him examine me for head bruises. When I got home, and "Daddy" saw me, he was so distressed and upset one would have thought he had been in the buggy too! He sold the pony before I could say "Jack Robinson." But I got a wheel and rode that for several years. Then another "heir" was coming again and I had to stay at home. We moved to another house on Broad Street. Our fourth son, Joseph A. was born there on 24 July 1899. When he was a year old we moved again, further out on the street across the R.R. track west to be nearer my husband's work. Then I used the wheel to go up town and again, I came near throwing up life. I was about to cross the track, I looked up and saw a train almost on me. I had not heard it. Was so frightened lost control of wheel and fell off beside the track. Was so upset could not get on wheel again. Had to "tow" it up town. We stayed in that house for several years. Brother Garret died while we were there in 1900. I went out to help in church work, often leaving baby Jay with his sisters to care for him. I would help the Ladies Aide on any rushing work. One day they sent me a special invitation to come to the meeting and I thinking they had special work they wished to get off, I left all my work and went to the meeting, saying "The Lord's work comes first." When I reached the Ladies house I found they were just having a social time and no work. The wall was covered with pictures illustrating the names of the business men of the town. Each one was required to fill out the list and the best "guesser" would receive a prize. I was the fortunate one and that prize is the most precious of all my possessions today. It was a little booklet of "Gods promises" and it seemed as I read it that the Lord was speaking directly to me. I had been in doubt regarding some of His promises respecting myself, but after receiving the booklet, I never doubted again.

A new "Home Magazine" had just come on market. I took up the "Agency" for it. I desired several churches, as well as my own, to help me gain subscriptions for it and I would give them my commission. All helped me, save my own church! My minister did not approve of that way to gain money for church, so that gave me a troubled conscience, until I received the booklet when all was peace. The most precious of the Promises, "Fear thou not, for I am with thee" and "The Lord will perfect that which concerneth thee" filled my heart with comfort. I felt the Lord had arranged that meeting to still my fears.

Now, we moved again, "up town" on 6th Street - 10-3. My two sisters were married. Mollie to Henry Herman and Fannie to Wm. Martin, and living in Fremont. Their husbands had both been farmers of Dodge County. Frank, our oldest son, had taken a job up in Montana and married a woman he met there. Grace, our oldest daughter, was married to Fred Gaeth of Schuyler in 1905. Their son, Arthur was born in September 1906. Father was getting very frail from "Brights Disease." Mother was not able to care for him so we suggested that she bring him to Fremont and let us all help her out. She did and rented her home. I rented a large comfortable home with two rooms and bath for their use. Joseph did not like being around sick people, so he left home and went to Frank in Montana. Father lived 9 months and died in 1907. Then I moved to a cheaper home. There Daisy married David Braucht, a farmer of Wisner, Nebraska in 1909. I moved again, near Fremont College under Prof. Clemons to send Ivan there. I took a large rooming and boarding house, taking in students in 1910. I had only Matie to help me. She had a job in Telephone office, so was of little help. She finally married F. C. Miller in 1912. I hired a maid to help me for awhile. My husband came home from Montana. He found a job in Schuyler and stayed with Grace. In 1914 he went back to Montana and took up a "homestead" near Bridger, then wanted me to come there. I gave up the boarding business and went to the farm in 1915. I had been in the boarding house 5 years - the longest time I had remained in one place since I had married. My mother had been living with me so she wanted to go to the farm too. We had to build an extra room on the cabin for her comfort. She helped to pay for it. The climate was too severe for her. She lived only two years. We brought her to Pierce, Nebraska for burial. I was taken ill and could not return with Joseph. He stayed with Frank and Rose. They had taken a homestead next to us. I finally was able to travel after a few weeks and went home. Oh, it was so lonely without mother! Then, Matie wrote that Frank had an accident and lamed his back, and could not work - had been with a telephone company. We had Frank, Matie and two children come to us. We had a neighbor who had been an "Osteopath" but when he took the homestead he gave up his profession. When Frank came we had Mr. Milspaugh give him treatments for several months. When spring came he was feeling all right. I went down with a bad spell. Was in bed nearly all winter. I do not know what I would have done without Matie. Frank helped "Daddy" with the farm work that spring and summer. In the fall of 1920 Daisy Braucht - my daughter - came to visit us from Wisner. She persuaded me to go back with her, as they feared another sick spell through the winter. Grace wanted me to stay with her in Omaha, as she was clerking and needed help. David Braucht had not been well and when Daisy got home he was put in a Hospital in October. He died in December. The next spring, 1921, Fred Gaeth was taken to the hospital and died in May.

The next year Daisy rented the farm and bought a home in Fremont. Frank Miller was still on our farm. His two brothers, Carles and Robert, came to see him. They went on to California. The next year they persuaded Frank to come there and work on his old job for a telephone company. So "Daddy" did not feel able to "carry on" the farm alone. He had a sale and left too. After Daddy left the farm, Chester, our son went to Eureka, California to be with the Miller boys. He got a good job with the telephone company but had worked a few months when he had an accident. He was running a hand car gathering up "left-over" lumber along the line which was built by the R.R. track. They inquired of the station agent if any trains were due before night and he said no. They went out and had the car about full of lumber ready to go back when a special with railroad officials came upon them. They had to unload the lumber and lift the car off the track to let the "Special" pass. It was too much strain for Chester. He was ruptured in the heavy lift. Could not stand up. The men took him back to Eureka to hospital and under an operation he died 1 August 1923. He was buried in Eureka. Chester had done more to help his father than the other boys. He had got out the timber for the cabins and barns. Helped to build them, "broke-up" all the land, and put in the crops. I wanted to give him some of the money Mother left me, about $500 - but he would not accept it. Charlie Miller was so good to us. Took charge of Chester's funeral and the grave. He would not accept any pay either. Of course, the Telephone Company paid some of the expenses. Grace bought a home in Omaha and I stayed with her the next year. "Dad" was still in Montana with Frank. I then took a trip up there, to get some possessions I had left there in 1925. I went on to Buhl, Idaho to visit a sister, Mollie Herman, and spent the winter with them. Then up to Washington. That spring to see another sister, Fannie Martin, and other "kin." In 1926 I came to California to Matie Miller's at Redwood City. I got a job at San Francisco for a few months in a lampshade factory. Could not stand the work and gave it up. I was staying with Bob Miller and wife who were living in the city. Then I came back to Matie. While with her, Faye, age 8, youngest daughter died, from black dyptheria in 1927. After that, they moved to several different places, finally landed at Paso Robles. "Dad" came to California with a friend by automobile and visited his sister at San Diego, then came to us in Paso Robles in 1928. "Dad" concluded to stay there. He rented a comfortable house and we lived there seven years. I liked it there. Dad was janitor of a Methodist Church for several years. I tried to help in church work in Ladies Aide Society and enjoyed it. The church had a heavy debt and finally could not pay for a janitor but "Dad" still kept up the work without pay. Then his health began to fail, but he would keep on working. He had a "bowel rupture" which troubled him until he found a doctor that healed him. Several of our children helped us with monthly cash payments, and too, we received help from County Welfare Association for several months. Then suddenly, death came to Daddy from "heart attack." He dropped on the street. He had just cleaned the church and was on his way home when he succumbed. Frank and Matie had moved back to Redwood City and bought a home there. They came and took charge of all things. Brought his body to Redwood City Cemetary to bury him. Daddy left me $1,000 on life insurance, so they managed all expenses with that. I am making my home with them at present.

SOME NAMES OMITTED FROM THE TWIGGS COUNTY, GA LIST OF WINNERS IN THE 1820 LAND LOTTERY

Contributed by: Mr. Robert S. DAVIS, Jr., [redacted]

People have the terrible shortcoming of being human and thus capable of making mistakes. The compilers of the various published lists of winners in the Georgia land lotteries are no different. Reproduced below are some names starting with "H" which were omitted from the list of published winners in the 1820 land lottery for Twiggs County, Georgia. The abbreviation "RS" stands for Revolutionary War Soldier. Only when these lists have been published county by county from the original records in the GA Surveyor General Department can most of these omissions be caught. RSD

Moravian Archives

Contributed by: Mrs. Anita L. RAMAGE, [redacted]
Condensed from MORAVIAN ARCHIVES OFFER A NEW INSIGHT INTO PIONEER DAYS by Hunter James, published in the Atlanta Journal and Constitution on 12 Jan.1986

Among scholars adept in the field of record keeping, the german speaking Moravians were indeed a proficiently dedicated group. Mid-eighteenth century Moravians kept extensive records concerning their pietistic[1] society, located primarily on the upper North Carolina Piedmont region — now Winston Salem, North Carolina.

Their reports indicate such details as the mailing of the Declaration of Independence and a mass of letters, maps, land surveys and even public notices taken from tavern walls. There are source materials relating to the American Revolution and always, their town prominents were making transcriptions involving rebellions, wars, epidemics, political upheavals, economic developments and social changes. At one time, the Moravians served as a dominant cultural force in all of the Carolina back country.

Until now, researchers have relied primarily on the 6,000 page, eight volume translation compiled by Ms. Adelaide Fries who served during the early 1900s when the Archives building was located on the corner of Bank and Main Streets in the old town of Salem. In addition to her work, three volumes have been translated by other scholars and historians from the archival banks of accumulated research data provided by the Moravians.

Work is underway to transcribe the remaining manuscripts which fill seven rooms and more than 1,400 boxes. The records from just one of the most obscure Moravian settlements; the Cherokee Indian Mission in Springplace, Georgia fill an entire wall.

Present archivist, Thomas J. Haupert, estimates another six to ten thousand volumes, interesting for the insights they afford us into the eighteenth century frontier life, remain to be published.

To the german speaking population, the material already provides a positive link to the past. Invitations to each of the nation's doctorial programs in history, German and theology, have been extended by way of a monthly newsletter from the archives department.

Another source, operated by the Wachovia Moravians for almost a century is the Communal Society in Winston Salem which provides a vast wealth of information for those who are interested in further study.

Specification 1st. In that having executed to R. M. PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH (Cont'd.)

Specification 3rd. In that on the 27th of December last, being indebted to P. L. TAYLOR in the sum of $1,025 by the notes of BACHELLER and TAFT, without the knowledge or consent of said TAYLOR, he exchanged his own individual notes for those of the Firm, and before they fell due, transferred his interest in the Firm to his co-partner, thus releasing his co-partner from a co-partnership debt; and depriving Mr. TAYLOR of the lien he had possessed. WITNESSES: P. L. TAYLOR, W. McKINLEY.

Specification 4th. In that in a settlement of mutual accounts with the Georgia Penitentiary of his account for the year of 1854, he preferred for payments against the Penitentiary, his accounts for the years 1851, 1852 and 1853, which he alleged were unpaid, and due him, when these accounts had been previously settled, as he subsequently acknowledged. WITNESSES: Wm. TURKE, Mr. WILLIAMS, bookkeeper, P.J.

Charge 2nd
FALSEHOOD

Specification 2nd. In that being indebted as alleged in charge 1st specification 2nd to estate of HARRISON, he denied the existence of the debt. WITNESSES: Judge DANIEL, Mrs. Mitchell HARRISON.

Specification 3rd. In that having obtained the endorsement of some of his friends on the assurance that if any misfortune befell him he would according to mercantile usage, protect them, he failed to comply with his engagement and by a transfer of his property without notice to them, placed such compliance out of his power. WITNESSES: W. G. ROBINSON, R. M. ORME.

Specification 4th. In that in order to secure indulgence for Col. Wm. McKINLEY, on account of claims in his hands for collection, he assured Col. McKINLEY that beyond those claims he did not owe on his own account one hundred dollars, when, in fact, his indebtedness at that time largely exceeded that amount. WITNESSES: Col. McKINLEY, Milledgeville.

29 Jan.1855 Session met at Mr. NISBET's office. Mr. BACHELLER, in obedience to the citation issued at the last meeting appeared before the Session. The charges tabled against him were then read; and he having signified his readiness to go to trial, the Session was charged according to the form prescribed in the book of discipline to remember the solemn nature of the business in which they were about to engage as a court of Jesus Christ.

Mr. BACHELLER then stated that he would introduce no witnesses to rebut the charges tabled against him, but went on to make a statement with a view of explaining the facts charged, and of palliating his offense. Being called upon to say whether or not he admitted the truth of the fact charged, he answered in the affirmative respecting all save one under the first general charge, namely the 2nd.

He then by permission retired, and after a free interchange of views by the members of Session the vote was taken, unanimously sustaining the charges and specifications, on the ground of his own confession.

The Session then by a unanimous vote resolved to suspend him from the communion of the Church until he give satisfactory evidence of repentance. Adjourned to meet Sat., 3 Proximo.

3 Feb.1855 Session met according to adjournment. Dr. S. G. WHITE and Mr. J. H. NICHOLS came before the Session seeking admission to the communion of the church. After satisfactory examination they were, by unanimous vote, admitted to full communion of the church. Letters were granted to Mr. O. CHILDS and wife dismissing them to join the Orthodox Congregational Church of Springfield, Mass.

Warner Robins, GA 31099

Dear Sir:

If you think it appropriate you may publish the attached in a forthcoming issue of your magazine.

Poplar Spring Baptist Church (North) is presently preparing a history for publication and has indexed the names of its members from August 1, 1807, including bits and pieces of genealogical information as gleaned from church records and from other sources. The index includes the names of approximately 300 slaves and their owners, and Freed persons, who were members up to 1870.

Many early church members became settlers in new counties established to the west of Laurens County and their names are occasionally seen in the "Inquiries" portion of your magazine.

We will be pleased to respond to any inquiries, accompanied by a stamped envelope (SASE), concerning early Wilkinson/Laurens County residents.

Sincerely,

/s/ R. M. Johnson
Historian, Poplar Spring Baptist Church (North)

The old minutes, extant from the date of constitution, show it to be the Mother Church of several in the area, some now defunct, including Liberty (1837), in Wilkinson County, and Whitehead's Meeting House (1812), Rocky Creek (1812), Dublin (First - 1831), Blue Water (1838), Rock Spring (1848), Bethsaida (1888), and Marie (1899), in Laurens County; and Dominy's Meeting House (1831), in Irwin County.

Missions were established at Dublin (1829), Fordham's School House (1831), Seaborn Braswell's Plantation (1843), Centerville School House (1843), and at Drewry Hobbs School House (1887). Plantation meetings were being conducted at J. B. Coats' and at Jethro Weaver's by 1839, and at Cullen Oneal's by 1843. In 1894 it established a Sabbath School at Centerville Academy.

Among its early membership were thirteen known veterans of the Revolutionary War, four veterans of the early Indian Wars in Georgia, and more than twenty-one veterans of the War Between the States. Many officials of early Laurens County are found on the rolls, and some were officials in old Wilkinson County. Others moved on and are found to have become officials in the early history of Decatur, Houston, Jasper, Lowndes, Pulaski, Telfair and Twiggs Counties. Six members of the church served on the first Grand Jury of Laurens County, at the old county seat of Sumpterville.

Many became early members and leading laymen in other Baptist churches which were established later in the Laurens County area and in the regions south and west, as new lands were ceded by the Indians. Some became noted ministers of the gospel after moving on, including John Dupree, Thomas W. Dupree, Berry Hobbs, Allison Culpepper, W.W. Pierce, Joe Hobbs and Jesse Pollock.

Some early ministers who joined the church (not as pastor of the church) included John Albritton, Levi Bush, W. A. Garner, Elijah Hammock, Wiley SHEPHERD, Charles Stringer, and William Whitehead. Early ministers licensed or ordained by the church (some to become its pastor) included Matthew Albritton, Jordan Baker, William Jordan Baker, Henry Messer, Robert B. Hightower, L. B. Unclaimed Millions Await Heirs

Condensed from UNCLAIMED MONEY IS AVAILABLE, an article published 23 Feb. 1986 in the Macon Telegraph and News, Macon, Georgia

In Mississippi there is an estimated four million in unclaimed funds. The cash has been entrusted to the state's treasurer until the rightful owners make their claims. There are presently 600 claims pending.

In some states unclaimed funds from dormant accounts at financial institutions becomes government property, but in Mississippi the coffers will be held indefinitly or until ligitimate heirs have proved their claim. Some of the heirs' claims being processed range from a few dollars to one as large as $15,000. Might you have a claim?

INDEX TO WAR OF 1812 PENSION APPLICATION FILES

ALL PERSONS NAMED "JONES"

Contributed by: Mr. William R. HENRY, [redacted]

Microfilms in the M313 series are now available for rent or purchase on the Index to War of 1812 Pension Application Files. This extraction is from Mirrofilm M313-52 on all persons named JONES. As many early records for this time period are missing, this extraction may be of interest to those who are researching a JONES line. Researchers may use the pension application codes following each name when making request for pension records on NATF Form 80. Code explanations are: SO - Soldier's Order (application); SC - Soldier's Certificate (approval); WO - Widow's Order (application); WC - Widow's Certificate (approval); OW - Old War (codes not transposed to the new system); BLR - Bounty Land Request; and BLW - Bounty Land Warrant. A few index cards in later years contained additional data on the soldier and his family, while a few of the Old War records are to illegible for extraction.

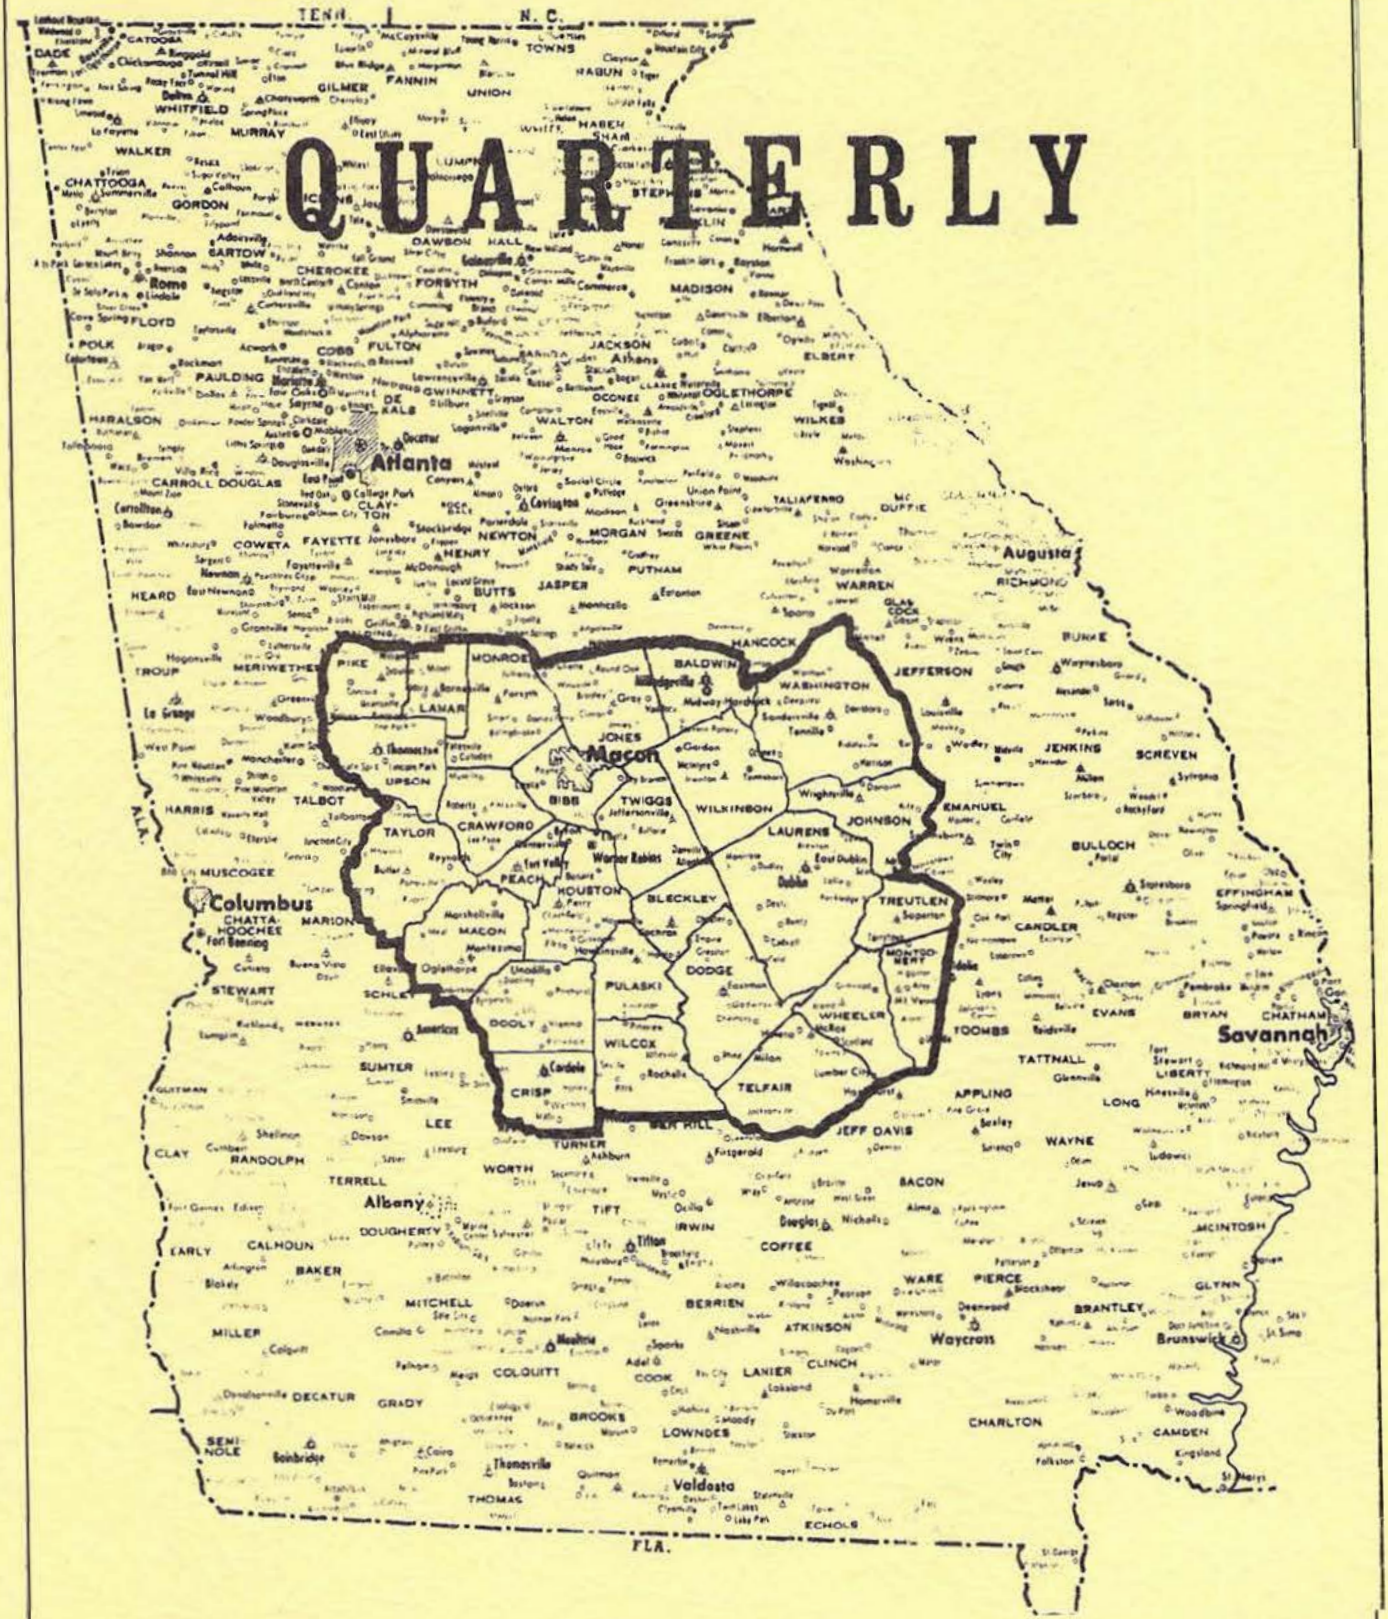
CENTRAL GEORGIA GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY, INC.



QUARTERLY

Volume 8 SEP. 1986 Number 3

TRAINING: Twice each year the Society conducts classes for beginning genealogists. These classes are free and available to members only.

WORKSHOP: The Society plans to hold an all day workshop once each year, complete with exhibits, for members and the public. The registration fee will be set to cover the Society's cost and will vary from year to year, depending upon prices charged for food, meeting facilities, speaker fees, etc.

PROJECTS: The Society undertakes special projects for preservation of genealogical and historical information. The Society, in cooperation with the University of Georgia, Athens, Georgia microfilmed the "Houston Home Journal" newspaper and placed a complete set of films in the Nola Brantley Memorial Library, Warner Robins, Georgia. The Society also reprinted the "First 110 Years of Houston County, Georgia" a history of the county first published in 1932. Other projects, such as publishing county census records, are planned. Also bound copies of the Quarterly complete with a name index.

RESEARCH: From time to time the Society plans to offer special research services to the members. This will be on a limited basis and a small fee will be charged to produce income for the Society.

PROBLEM SOLVING: Members are invited to submit their genealogical problems for solution. When submitting a problem always state what you have tried to solve the problem. This is very important so that those things which you have tried, and found inadequate, will not be suggested as a possible solution. We will publish your problem, with one or more possible solutions when available, in the monthly NEWSLETTER. If we do not have a solution at the time we will publish your problem and ask for suggestions from our readers. This IS NOT an offer to do your research, but to suggest ways in which you might accomplish your research or solve other problems which you have. Problems should be typewritten, double spaced, one side of paper only, and each page should have the member's name and address thereon. When we publish a problem we will not show a member's name nor address — only the member's state of residence will be shown. Suggested solutions will be published ONLY IN THE NEWSLETTER — replies will not be made to individual submitting a problem. This is a free service for members only. Mail your problems to CGGS, Attn: Research Editor. The Publications Committee reserves the right to edit/rewrite problems received and to reject those considered inappropriate for publishing.

ADVERTISING: The Society accepts classified and display ads for publishing in the QUARTERLY. Only ads of genealogical/historical interest; including supplies and services, books and periodicals, educational programs and opportunities, workshop/seminar announcements, etc., will be accepted. CGGS will consider entering into reciprocal agreements with other genealogical organizations for publishing announcements pertaining to activities thereof. A display ad layout sheet, with cost for various size ads, is enclosed with each issue of the Quarterly.

MEETINGS: The Society holds regular monthly meetings with planned programs. In addition to the planned program, time permitting, a question and answer session is usually conducted for the benefit of members who have a problem with their research, or who has found a better way for accomplishing their work. Visitors and guests are always welcome to attend any regular meeting of the Society. Our current membership covers many states and we invite you to join our Society. For membership application write to the Corresponding Secretary at address shown above.

SOMETHING NEW TO HELP WITH YOUR RESEARCH

We have made some changes which we hope will help our members with their research.

The MEMBERSHIP APPLICATION has been revised to allow for showing ten, or less, family surnames being researched, plus applicable time frame and state(s) or country for each name, e.g., QUATTLEBAUM (1784-1845) VA, NC, GA. (The time frame is synonymous with the research period — usually a person's lifetime. Not, for example, from 1066 to 1986.) This additional information should help others in identifying the names you are researching and, in turn, promote timely response by those who may have information which could help in your research.

As applications are received from our new members their research list will be published in our next NEWSLETTER. This is the fastest method we have for publishing your research list.

Current members are requested to send us a revised list of ten, or less, surnames plus the applicable time frame and state(s) or country for each name. These will be published in our NEWSLETTER on a first come basis as space permits. Also, as your research emphasis changes you should send us a revision to your research list.

For research outside the United States please spell the name of the country rather than showing an abbreviation. This will help us to accurately identify the country.

We plan to continue publishing our annual research directory in the June issue of our QUARTERLY — this will give our members a consolidated listing for ready reference. Only those names for which we receive a listing in the above format will be included in the annual research directory.

REGISTER OF CONFEDERATE DEAD FROM GEORGIA

In Camp Chase Confederate Cemetery, Columbus, Ohio, there is a memorial arch erect- in 1902 inscribed with the single word "Americans." Beneath the arch is an older memorial boulder which bears the inscription "2,260 Confederate Soldiers of the War 1861-1865 buried in this enclosure."

The cemetery located at 2900 Sullivant Ave. was part of Camp Chase, the Civil War Camp that became the largest prisoner of war camp in the North. Originally the camp was established to help organize, equip, and train the crowds of men who poured into Columbus, Ohio, in response to the 1861 call for volunteers. It was soon pressed into service as a prison camp when 4,000 Confederate prisoners were captured within two weeks of its opening. The number of prisoners fluctuated during the course of the war, from a few hundred to over 9,000 in the early months of 1865. Five thousand prisoners died at Camp Chase between 1862 and 1865. More than half the bodies were removed by relatives, but the rest were buried in what was to become a largely neglected, forgotten cemetery. Years later, a Northerner, William Knauss, rescued the cemetery by clearing it, planting flowers, organizing services, erecting gateposts, soliciting donations, and writing a book about it. By June 1902, the memorial arch was erected and dedicated through public donations. Memorial services are held yearly on the Sunday in June nearest June 3, Jefferson Davis's birthday, and the cemetery is open to the public during the summer months.

THE SHEDD FAMILY OF THE SOUTHERN STATES DESCENDED FROM JAMES SHED OF LOUDOUN COUNTY, VIRGINIA. 1981. By Joel P. SHEDD.

Available from his sister Kathleen Shedd CLARY, [redacted]
Soft cover, 8.5 x 11 inches, 212 pages, Indexed. $15.00

The author, Joel P. SHEDD (1906-1982) was a great-great-great-great-grandson of James SHED of Loudoun County, Virginia. Mr. SHEDD spent 25 years doing genealogical research on the SHEDD family, including the examination of records throughout the United States and trips to England, Scotland and Northern Ireland. The results of his research are documented in this record. Presented in this volume are the findings constituting the history of James SHED and his ancestry. Also presented are his descendants through his three sons; Thompson, George (1764-1846) and William who settled on the western frontier of South Carolina shortly before the American Revolution. And now, two hundred years later, his descendants are numbered in the thousands. During the Civil War, just 90 years after the three brothers settled in South Carolina, there were some 60 soldiers in the Confederate Army with the surname SHEDD or a variant spelling, of whom at least 30 can be identified as descendants of James. The first five chapters of this record present the scope and sources of this family history — an excellent historical background. Chapter six inquires as to the ancestry of James. Chapters seven to nine present the SHEDDs in South Carolina and the remaining chapters concern the SHEID family of Tennessee, the SHEDDs in Georgia and the South, and the SHEDDs in the Confederate Army.

THE LATEST DOMESDAY BOOK

Contributed by: Mr. James W. TURNIPSEED, Jr., [redacted]
SOURCE: From an article by Robert Zietz, Genealogy Division, Mobile Public Heritage Library, published in the MOBILE PRESS REGISTER, 29 Jun.1986, p. 8-G.

The Domesday Book, William the Conqueror's survey of Britain down to the last person, ox, cow and pig, was compiled in 1086, 20 years after the Norman Conquest of England. It is celebrating its 900th anniversary this year.

To gather data for this inventory, commissioners were sent to every county in the country to discover the names of the landowners and their tenants, the extent of the cultivated lands and the value of lands, plows and livestock.

The Domesday Book is regarded as one of the most important works ever published. Its historical, legal, sociological and genealogical value is immeasurable. It was the final, infalliable authority as arbiter of land disputes and it served as the basis for taxation.

Hence the title Domesday, pronounced Doomsday, Book, by way of analogy with the Day of Judgement. No one would dare to disagree with it.

Now, after 15 years of diligent labor by the late Dr. John Morris, the entire work has been translated into modern English. Publication of this mammoth translation was undertaken by the Genealogical Publishing Co. The set comprises 35 volumes in 40 books, with one county per numbered volume.

The left-hand page of each volume contains the original Latin with Morris's English translation on the right-hand page. The translation includes detailed notes on the text, maps, statistical terms and, very importantly, indexes of names and places.

QUARTERLY

Volume 9 MARCH 1987 Number 1

CENTRAL GEORGIA GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY, INC.
POST OFFICE BOX 2024
WARNER ROBINS, GEORGIA 31099-2024

Non-Profit
Tax Exempt
Org. GA

ORGANIZATION: The CENTRAL GEORGIA GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY, Inc. was organized in October 1978 by James T. Martin of Warner Robins, Georgia. In February 1981 the Society was incorporated as a non-profit organization under the law of the State of Georgia. The U. S. Internal Revenue Service has determined that the Society is a tax-exemption organization under Section 501(c), U.S. Internal Revenue Code of 1954. The Society is governed by a Board of Directors consisting of the elected and appointed officers and six elected Directors.

GEOGRAPHICAL AREA: The Society's area of primary interest consists of twenty-seven contiguous counties located in central Georgia. They are: BALDWIN, BIBB, BLECKLEY, CRAWFORD, CRISP, DODGE, DOOLY, HOUSTON, JOHNSON, JONES, LAMAR, LAURENS, MACON, MONROE, MONTGOMERY, PEACH, PIKE, PULASKI, TAYLOR, TELFAIR, TREUTLEN, TWIGGS, UPSON, WASHINGTON, WHEELER, WILCOX, and WILKINSON.

PURPOSE: The purposes for which the corporation is organized are:

To collect, preserve and disseminate knowledge and information with reference to genealogical and related historical, biographical, and heraldic data;

To inculcate and promote interest in research in these fields;

To stimulate and provide instruction in the use of efficient methods and the adherence to principles of accuracy and thoroughness in research;

To champion ethical standards and to discourage and oppose incompetent and disreputable practices or researchers;

To foster careful documentation and otherwise promote scholarly writing;

To issue publications, and

To promote the collection and the preservation of local records which are of genealogical or historical value.

MEMBERSHIP: Membership in the Society is open to any person interested in promoting the objectives stated above. Annual dues are: $15.00 for individual membership; $20.00 for family membership (husband and wife, or two related persons in same household), and $30.00 for sustaining membership (minimum - no maximum).

PUBLICATIONS: The Society publishes a monthly NEWSLETTER and a QUARTERLY. The QUARTERLY is published in March, June, September, and December and is mailed to all members in good standing. The Society exchanges quarterlies with a number of genealogical societies and mails free copies to selected libraries. QUERIES, from members only, are published in the QUARTERLY free of charge. There is no limit as to the number of queries which a member may submit. BOOK REVIEWS are published when a copy of the book has been received by the Society. These books then become part of the Society's permanent library. Members are encouraged to submit ARTICLES FOR PUBLICATION in the QUARTERLY, and extra long articles may be serialized. The QUARTERLY is not copyrighted and anyone is welcome to make proper use of the contents; however, the use of articles quoted from other published sources is prohibited without prior permission from the copyright holder. The Society, and authors of articles, will appreciate appropriate credit. The QUARTERLY is not sold by subscription. Current and back issues may be purchased from the Society, when available, within one year from date of publication for $3.00 per issue — postpaid within the U.S. After one year, or earlier if stock is depleted, copies must be photocopied locally and the cost is $4.00 per issue, postpaid within the U.S.

FAMILY PEDIGREE CHARTS: The Society welcomes the opportunity to publish pedigree charts for members in good standing. Minimum coverage of four generations is required. When you submit your pedigree for publication you may order additional copies of your chart. Copies are printed in reduced size on 8½ x 11-inch paper (standard typewriter paper). The MINIMUM ORDER is $2.00

PREpublication prices:

20 charts $2.00	80 charts $6.40
30 charts $2.80	90 charts $7.10
40 charts $3.60	100 charts $7.70
50 charts $4.30
60 charts $5.00
70 charts $5.70

For copies of more than one chart you may order in minimum increments of 10 copies per chart.

Add 70c for each additional 10 charts over 100 charts.

continued

TRAINING: Twice each year the Society conducts classes for beginning genealogists. These classes are free and available to members only.

WORKSHOP: The Society plans to hold an all day workshop once each year, complete with exhibits, for members and the public. The registration fee will be set to cover the Society's cost and will vary from year to year, depending upon prices charged for food, meeting facilities, speaker fees, etc.

PROJECTS: The Society undertakes special projects for preservation of genealogical and historical information. The Society, in cooperation with the University of Georgia, Athens, Georgia microfilmed the "Houston Home Journal" newspaper and placed a complete set of films in the Nola Brantley Memorial Library, Warner Robins, Georgia. The Society also reprinted the "First 110 Years of Houston County,Georgia" a history of the county first published in 1932. Other projects, such as publishing county census records, are planned. Also bound copies of the Quarterly complete with a name index.

RESEARCH: From time to time the Society plans to offer special research services to the members. This will be on a limited basis and a small fee will be charged to produce income for the Society.

PROBLEM SOLVING: Members are invited to submit their genealogical problems for solution. When submitting a problem always state what you have tried to solve the problem. This is very important so that those things which you have tried, and found inadequate, will not be suggested as a possible solution. We will publish your problem, with one or more possible solutions when available, in the monthly NEWSLETTER. If we do not have a solution at the time we will publish your problem and ask for suggestions from our readers. This IS NOT an offer to do your research, but to suggest ways in which you might accomplish your research or solve other problems which you have. Problems should be typewritten, double spaced, one side of paper only, and each page should have the member's name and address thereon. When we publish a problem we will not show a member's name nor address — only the member's state of residence will be shown. Suggested solutions will be published ONLY IN THE NEWSLETTER — replies will not be made to individual submitting a problem. This is a free service for members only. Mail your problems to CGGS, Attn: Research Editor. The Publications Committee reserves the right to edit/rewrite problems received and to reject those considered inappropriate for publishing.

ADVERTISING: The Society accepts classified and display ads for publishing in the QUARTERLY. Only ads of genealogical/historical interest; including supplies and services, books and periodicals, educational programs and opportunities, workshop/seminar announcements, etc., will be accepted. CGGS will consider entering into reciprocal agreements with other genealogical organizations for publishing announcements pertaining to activities thereof. A display ad layout sheet, with cost for various size ads, is enclosed with each issue of the Quarterly.

MEETINGS: The Society holds regular monthly meetings with planned programs. In addition to the planned program, time permitting, a question and answer session is usually conducted for the benefit of members who have a problem with their research, or who has found a better way for accomplishing their work. Visitors and guests are always welcome to attend any regular meeting of the Society. Our current membership covers many states and we invite you to join our Society. For membership application write to the Corresponding Secretary at address shown above.

Pine Level Post Office — Joyner's Store

Contributed by: Mrs. Martha J. HAMPTON, [redacted]

The Post Office and store were located on Knoxville Road, Crawford County, Georgia near Society Hill Baptist Church. Picture was taken around 1884.

The following was copied from THE HERALD, Knoxville, Georgia, 24 July 1891:

Kind Editor:

Allow me a small space in your paper. I will give you a few dots from our corner.

Mr. J. H. Joyner is building a large and handsome store house. He will have it completed in about 30 days, and then his many customers will find a full line of dry goods which can be had at a living price.

Messers A. R. & J. H. Joyner and James Gibson has just returned from Americus where they have been attending a series of meetings. They report a good meeting.

The peoples hogs are dying of cholera. Would be glad if some of the readers would give us a cure for the disease.

PINE LEVEL POST OFFICE (Cont'd.)

Mr. J. H. Joyner has some of the finest Jersy hogs I ever saw. He lost one some time ago that weighed 450 pounds.

With best wishes for the Herald and its readers.

This photograph was taken c.1891 at a school building on the property of the Society Hill Church.

Most of the children are unknown, but the little boy, fourth from the end on the first row is Homer Joyner and the fifth child on the first row is his sister, Pearl Joyner. They were the children of James Randolph Joyner and Sarah Willie Long Joyner. Homer is now (1987) deceased, but Pearl is the widow of Judge Durwood Aultman and now resides in Byron, Georgia.

HORNE FAMILY BIBLE RECORDS

Contributed by: Victor R. Myrick, [redacted]

The title page shows that the Bible was published in Springfield, Mass., in 1846. A notarized statement on each of the five pages was made in Polk County, Florida, April 30, 1864, by Louise Horne BURNS stating that this is a true copy of the family records in a Bible in the possession of Mrs. Virginia HYMAN of [redacted].

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH MINUTES (Cont'd.)

16 Mar.1873 Session met in the Church after morning service. Present: Rev. G. T. GOETCHIUS, Mod., R. L. HUNTER, S. G. WHITE, F. SKINNER, WM. H. HALL and T. T. WINDSOR. The Moderator called the attention of Session to the fact of the death of our old and beloved Elder D. C. HOUSTON, and a motion was made that a committee consisting of Rev. G. T. GOETCHIUS, S. G. WHITE and WM. H. HALL be appointed to prepare a suitable memorial for publication of his life and death which was seconded and passed. The case of Mrs. MARY READ was brought to the notice of the Session. She having presented her letter previously to the Session, and no action having been taken thereon, it was now moved and seconded that she be received as a member of this church and enrolled as such, which was passed.

30 Mar.1873 Session met. Present: Rev. G. T. GOETCHIUS, R. L. HUNTER, S. G. WHITE F. SKINNER, T. T. WINDSOR. Opened with prayer. Absent: W. McKINLEY and WM. H. HALL. The committee on the memorial in reference to Col. D. C. HOUSTON reported progress. The narrative on the state of religion was then read and received as follows:

We find we have very much to be thankful for. We have not been altogether without presence of the Spirit of God in our midst and whilst there has been no powerful outward manifestation, so as to be felt by many, and seen by all, yet the silent operations of that power has been too plain to be mistaken by us. We have witnessed it in the general outward walk and conversation of the membership and the attendance upon the stated means of grace, we have seen it in the fact two of the baptized children of this church, coming forward and dedicating themselves to the Lord in the bloom of their youth and the general good feeling pervading all the membership of the Church, in their readiness in cooperating in every effort for the temporal as well as the spiritual well being of the congregation, and above all do we regard it as the guidance of the good Spirit of our God, in the readiness and willingness with which four of our beloved members have, when called upon so to do, come foreward and filled the position of elders in this our beloved Zion, and two others of our younger members taking the positions of Deacons, thus giving a vitality and power to this Church, in the strength of its Session, and the completeness of its organization, which it has not enjoyed for a great many years past.

We have also passed another epoch in our history as a church in the withdrawal of our beloved friend and Minister, Rev. C. W. LANE, many of us standing almost appalled not knowing where to look for a successor, and in the interim, our Session determining to keep open the Church and conduct the regular exercises, which in one short month were brought to a close. And cannot we see again the same good Spirit, bringing one to us as our Pastor upon whom the mantle of beloved brother LANE shall not unworthily fall, in all this have we not cause for unbounded thankfullness and graditude to the Great Head of the Church, and can we not raise our Ebenezer to Him and say "Hitherto the Lord hath helped us". Thanks be unto His Adorable name.

Can we then as a Church, awake to a redoubled seal and diligence in our Master's Cause and putting on the whole armour of God, determine in his strength to do our whole duty as his followers, and in constant prayer and supplication to Him look with certainty for a blessing, a rich blessing from Him, even the mighty outpouring of His Spirit, and the fulfilment of that promise, "If I will not open the windows of Heaven and pour you out a blessing that there shall not be room to receive it."

All of which is respectfully submitted.

THOMAS T. WINDSOR, Chmn.

-----In Memoriam-----
-----Col. DAVID C. HOUSTON-----

Col. D. C. HOUSTON was born in Mecklenburg Co., NC Oct. 31st, 1795. He was married Oct 24, 1828. Soon after he moved to Alabama, where he lived many years an active and useful elder in the Presbyterian Church.

He united with the Church at 16 years of age, and at the time of his death had been a ruling elder 44 years. Having lost all his family except two grandchildren he moved to Milledgeville, GA, a short time since, to spend his last days with these children. He died in Milledgeville, GA, March 6th 1873 at the age of 78 years. He loved his Master and felt a deep interest in the success of His Kingdom, as was seen in his walk in public and private. At one time possessing large means he was very liberal in contributing to the support of the gospel, his liberality embracing all the benevolent operations of the church. All of her interests were his interest and he cheerfully responded to every call made upon him. In the days of slavery he was very careful and diligent in the religious instruction of his servants. His great desire was to see them servants of his Lord and Master, Jesus Christ, and hence he was ever ready to give them such instruction as he was able, to lead them to the cross; and no doubt has many stars in his crown for his labors among his servants. He was a pillar in the church - a great man - yet as humble as he was great. Until his health failed, he was regular in his attendance upon prayer meetings as well as the Sabbath services. "He loved the gates of Zion more than the dwellings of Jacob" and was found around her alters offering his sacrifice. "The sacrifice of a broken heart and a contrite spirit." He read the Scriptures; yes, studied the word very closely, accepting the Bible as the word of God. He found pleasure in reading every part of it, and in meditating on its great truths, both day and night. The promises and invitations were very dear to him. A few days before his death, he said to his pastor, "All I can do is to gather up the promises and invitations as my portion; they are my food."

He was retiring in his disposition, but even when his health became too feeble to permit him to attend church, he retained a lively interest in the prosperity of Zion and mourned over her desolations. And we know not but that the abundant and forvent prayer of his advanced life, for God's saving grace to be bestored upon the church, made the days of his feebleness and infirmity more to abount in usefulness than even the active period of his life. He loved and received with an intelligent faith all the doctrines of our church, but felt that all are brethren who love the Lord Jesus in sincerity. Bereaved of all his household, whom he deeply loved, he bore his losses with submission, saving, "It is the Lord, let him do as seemth good in his sight." He was looking waiting, sometimes longing for the summons to depart and be with Christ, for several years before his death. His faith up to the hour of his death was strong. He talked of heaven as a child would talk of home - no doubts, no fears. Like Abraham, he died "in a good old age, an old man and full of years, and gathered to his people." His dust is now mingled with kindred dust, waiting for the second coming of his Master. His death was quiet and beautiful - heaven was in full view. "Not a wave of trouble rolled across his peaceful breast." All was peace, his mind was staid on God, who kept him in perfect peace. In his death the church militant has lost a faithful soldier; but the church triumphant has received into her shining ranks a noble spirit.

"The pains of death are past,
Labor and sorrow cease,
And life's long warfare closed at last,
His soul is found in peace.
Soldier of Christ well done,
Praise be thy new employ,
And while eternal ages run,
Rest in thy Saviours joy."

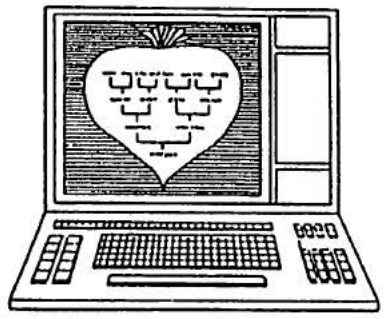
COMPUTERIZING YOUR ROOTS



Contributed by: Mr. William R. HENRY, [redacted]

The Board of Directors at our January meeting sanctioned the proposal to make 1987 the "Year of The Computer". The following week our Program Chairwoman presented a program to kick off this theme. On this program four of our members revealed details on the methods, computer, and software they were using to maintain their family records. More than a dozen members were present who are using computers and many more expressed keen interest in their use.

Many of us had ideas that computers were as complicated as a rubric cube and that we were to old or lacked the patience to learn. Before I bought my computer last July, I felt that it might take me a year or more to learn and to enter much of the data I had already collected - not so. I could kick myself for waiting so long.

Mr. Villian Belflower, who spoke at the meeting, should be an inspiration to anyone considering buying a computer. He received his on his 75th birthday and without any formal training, set down, read his manual, and started. He is still going strong and highly recommends the use of a computer to anyone. Marge Thompson and Ann Shirah quoted similiar experiences - just follow your software manual and go. Villian Poole, who for several years has accumulated more than 5000 records on the Pool/Poole name, expressed how a computer during the past year has been of great benefit over his previous methods.

The general consensus of this meeting was that any computer, regardless of brand or memory capacity, could be used to maintain family records and write a family history. As easy as you can write a letter on a typewritter, you can write on a computer. There are software programs for word processing that can be used to write and edit in book form, give you headers, footers, page numbers, table of contents, and indexes. There are also dBase type programs that can be used to file genealogy notes and some of these are compatable to specific word processors.

There are many software programs written specificaly for genealogy. All of these give you some type of Family Group Charts, Petigree Charts, etc. Some are much more comprehensive than others and may provide you with provisions for limited text and list of names. Three of our members reported they were using "Family Roots" by Quinsept, Inc., P.O. Box 216, Lexington, MA 02173 (617)641-2930 and were well satisfied. This program has been written in some six different DOS languages and is therefore available for almost any computer with at least 64K of memory. Price is $135.00 but members of Ancestry receive a $20 discount. A Word processing program can supplement Family Roots or any other genealogy program.

Georgia residents add 4% sales tax. Free cataloge available for other public domain programs. NOTE: An 88 page manual contained on the disk. Program is designed for Latter Day Saints use but church ordinance data can be omitted. Printed charts show excellent detail including internment dates and locations in addition to death dates and locations. Program is limited to 500 persons and 200 marriages in one file.

Family Ties. A public domain program by Computer Services, 1050 East 800 South, Provo, Utah 84601 (801)377-2100 for which a $50 contribution (registration fee) is solicited. For PC & MS DOS users. This program approved by the Mormon Church but can be used in regular or LDS version (which shows the sealings, baptisms, endowments and temple dates and codes that are of great interest to Latter Day Saints). Free form notes can be added to a Family Group Sheet but should be used with care as each database is limited to 32766 lines at 80 characters per line even when a line is blank.

COMPUTERIZING YOUR ROOTS (Cont'd.)

A 20 page manual is contained on the disk. Order locally from People's Choice Software, P.O. Box 3061, Warner Robins, GA 31099 at #3.75 plus $2.00 shipping & handling. Georgia residents add 4% sales tax.

Family Tree - Etc. A public domain program by Pine Cone Software, P.O. Box 1163, Columbus, IN 47202-1163. A $35 contribution (registration fee) is solicited. For Compaq, AT&T 6300, IBM-PC and compatables. A very fast and easy to use program supporting a family tree with a maximum of 999 persons. Has 18 page manuel on disk. Prints personalized pedigree, descendant, ancestor, and family group charts. The 1984 Version 1.25 which I used however did not provide input for place of birth or death although some parts of the program were written to cover changes to these. Hopefully later versions have corrected this problem. Order locally from People's Choice Software at previously mentioned address.

Family History System. A public domain program for all IBM or compatables with 128K minimum RAM. By Phillip E. Brown, 834 Bahama Drive, Tallahassee, FL 32301 for which a $35 registration fee is solicited. Registered users to receive most recent version and to be notified of future enhancements. I consider this the best and most comprehensive public domain program I have tried to date. Up to 3200 individuals can be entered on a single diskette or up to 9999 on a hard disk. You may also maintain multiple family files using the primary surname as a prefix. You can print personalized top quality Family Group Charts, Ancestor (Pedigree) Charts, Ancestor Report, and Descendant Report. Input is a little slower than other programs as the system caculates age at death and years married. Even the hour & minute of birth and death can be input along side the date. The system provides for showing generation levels, bloodlines, and lineage numbers. There are special provision for inputing education, work, health, and military records. The current address and telephone number with dates lived at this address plus two previous addresses can be entered and printed. About 8 lines of general comments can be added with notes to other entries. Not all of these notes can be printed but can be recalled to your screen. The only fault I have with this program is that the "best guess" method must be used when entering an about date of birth or death. Due to the age calculation the system does not provide for entry of anything other than numbers in the day-month-year lines. Therefore a c1798 or ca1798 must be entered as 1798 and add a comment to tell yourself this is not a proven date. The programmer has planned a number of changes to further enhance this program in future versions.

I have omitted the Church of Latter Day Saints Genealogy Program which is available for a number of computers using different DOS systems. I borrowed a copy, made for IBM and compatables, belonging to a lady from Salt Lake City. One of the 5 disks was bad and I was unable to give it a fair trial.

All the programs I have tried were designed to print charts on printers capable of condensed print (15 or 17cpi). Some will print in 10cpi with the right side of the print out going to the second page so you can tape the two pages togeather. Not a very desirable method but you could then reduce the chart on a copy machine to one page.

Word Processors - Reviewed.

There are a number of good word processors available. One of the most popular and widely used per Computer Shopper, January 1987 issue, is a public domain program, PC Write by Quicksoft, 219 First N. #224, Seattle, WA 98109 (206)282-0452, which is available for IBM and compatables. Peoples Choice Software in Warner Robins, GA can provide you with the latest version 2.7 with a 50,000 word spellchecker on two disks. Version 2.6 & 2.7 contain a brief 35 page print out manual on disk. Quicksoft wants you to send in $75 for registration and the complete 180 page printed manual but many people use and order the version 2.55 from which a complete manual can be printed from the disk. Computer Shopper says changes in the newer manual are marginal and college students perfer version 2.55. You can write a book on PC Write complete with automatic page numbering, table of contents, footnotes, and index. PC File is a dBase program that can be intergrated with PC Write. Another public domain word processor which is highly regarded is New York Word. PC Outline is another public domain program which allows random entering of information and organizing it into a hierarchial structure which has good genealogical possibilities and you can bold, underline, move block of text, etc. like expensive software. These word processors and others I have not tried are available locally from Peoples Choice Software.

Word Perfect by SSI Software, according to Computer Shopper, "is taking over the place of Word Star in the hearts of academic users". Word Perfect is the best word processor I have tried. It lists for about $440 but can be purchased from many outlets for about $200. Our member Gervaise Perdue is a dedicated user and strongly recommends it use to anyone planning to write a book. I have also tried Leading Edge Word Processor and found it contains most of the basic features of a good word processor with simple and various ways to bold, underline, etc., but lacked any indexing features. Leading Edge WP normally sells for about $150 but I obtained a copy from a Washington, DC liquidator outlet for $39, and I am using it to write this article.

We will try to review other programs as they become available. Members are encouraged to send in their comments on methods, software, computers and printers they are using.

GLEANINGS FROM THE MILLEDGEVILLE REFLECTOR, 1817-1819

MILLEDGEVILLE, BALDWIN COUNTY, GEORGIA

Contributed by: Mr. Robert S. DAVIS, Jr., [redacted]

The following abstracts are from the few surviving issues of The Reflector, an obscure Milledgeville, GA early newspaper. These issues are in the Library of Congress but on microfilm at the Georgia Department of Archives and History. The abstracts were compiled in 1966-1968 by the James Edward Oglethorpe Chapter of Atlanta, Daughters of American Colonists in a typescript volume at the Georgia Archives. The abstracts are reprinted here with the kind permission of Mrs. Thomas Carroll Holmes Jr., State Regent and Mrs. Thomas R. Burnett, Chapter Regent.

Both Georgia College Library in Milledgeville and the Georgia Archives have copies of an index to The Southern Recorder, another Milledgeville newspaper, for 1820-1874. The Georgia Newspaper Project, University of Georgia Libraries, Athens, GA 30602 has made more than 6,000 reels of microfilm of Georgia newspapers. This film can be used at the University library, borrowed on interlibrary loan within Georgia, or purchased. They are always seeking information on Georgia newspapers they have not copied.

Rare books found

SOURCE: The Macon Telegraph & News, Macon, GA 28 Nov.1986.

Some 100 rare books, written in German and dating from the 1600's have been found in a vault at the Lutheran Thealogical Southern Siminary, Columbia, SC. They were brought to America by the Salzburgers who settled at Ebenzer in Effingham County, GA in 1734.

For over a century, descendants of these early settlers wondered what happened to some 1000 volumes believed to have existed in the Salzburger library. Herman WINDE of Halle, Germany, while doing his doctoral dissertation on the history of the Lutheran Church in Georgia, compiled a list of the books thought to have existed. He give a copy of the list to the Georgia Salzburger Society in 1984.

A 1786 letter says the British burned the Salzburger library during the Revolutionary War. Others had thought the books fell victim to Sherman's march to the sea in the Civil War.

The Rev. Raymond DAVIS, who found the books, went to the siminary looking for information on behalf of Milton RAHN, a member of the Georgia Salzburger Society. RAHN's great-great uncle was the first American-born Salzburger to become a Lutheran minister. When DAVIS showed WINDE's list to seminary librarian William Richard FRITZ, FRITZ told him, "I think we've got the library here." "We went into the vault and Dr. FRITZ started pulling out all these books and I just could have passed out. This was the most amazing thing he was saying to me and showing me," DAVIS said.

BOOK REVIEWS and PUBLICATIONS NOTED

POLICY: Book reviews of publications pertaining to genealogy and related subjects are published in our QUARTERLY as a service to our readers. Authors and publishers are invited to contribute publications for review. Books contributed for review become property of Central Georgia Genealogical Society, Inc., and are placed in the Society's library after the review has been published. Contributors are mailed a copy of the QUARTERLY containing the review. CGGS members only may loan books for review, after which they are returned to the member if requested. Flyers announcing publication and sale of books and other publications, except those sponsored by CGGS, will not be reprinted or enclosed in the QUARTERLY except as paid advertisements. A "bare bones" description may be shown under "Publications Noted" when the actual item has not been received for review. Readers are cautioned that these items have not been reviewed. Books for review should be addressed to: Book Review Editor, Central Georgia Genealogical Society, Inc., Post Office Box 2024, Warner Robins, GA 31099-2024

HERITAGE QUEST, Drawer H Q, Orting, WA 98360
Price $25.00 per year for six issues.

I recently read issue #6 and was very impressed with it. In the 128 page issue were 80 pages of well written, informative articles which covered a variety of subjects of interest to every genealogist. The one by Robert S. Davis on migration in and out of Georgia was especially good. Some of the others were Mail Research Policy of the Illinois State Archives, How to Compile Surname Booklets, Nebraska Land Distribution, New York Research, The Allen County Library at Fort Wayne, Indiana, Glimpses Into History, and How to Preserve Genealogical Records. The remaining pages consisted of book reviews, queries and advertisements. It is encouraging to find a publication with educational articles when most genealogical magazines are becoming mostly advertisements.

OUTPOSTS ON THE GULF: SAINT GEORGE ISLAND AND APALACHICOLA FROM EARLY EXPLORATION TO WORLD WAR II. 1986. By William Warren Rogers. Published by University of West Florida Press, Pensacola, FL 32504. Hardcover, 6 x 9-inch, pp. i-xxv, 297, Bibliography and Index. $28.95 from publisher.

This is an interesting and well written history of the Apalachicola, Florida region from its beginning to World War II. It gives the reader an historical insight into the trials and tribulations of a developing area, the hardships encountered during the Civil War, and the many schemes concocted by some speculators to gain an economic advantage.

From a genealogist's point of view the "important" movers and shakers are identified and their rolls discussed in some detail. But, don't overlook the footnotes! Here is a wealth of sources for research by the genealogist which may just prove to be the lead you are looking for.

In addition to the program, time permitting, a question and answer session is usually conducted for the benefit of members who have a problem with their research, or who has found a better way for accomplishing their work. MEMBERSHIP RESEARCH DIRECTORY

THE 1987 MEMBERSHIP RESEARCH DIRECTORY IS BEING DELAYED FOR PUBLICATION IN THE SEPTEMBER ISSUE OF OUR QUARTERLY.

LAST YEAR WE UNDERTOOK A PROJECT TO UPDATE THE RESEARCH LISTS OF OUR MEMBERS AND TO REDUCE EACH MEMBER'S LIST TO TEN NAMES. (SOME OF OUR MEMBERS HAD SUBMITTED EXCEEDINGLY LONG LISTS AND OUR DIRECTORY WAS GETTING OUT OF HAND.) WE TRIED TO IMPROVE THE DIRECTORY BY ADDING A TIME-FRAME FOR EACH SURNAME BEING RESEARCHED AND FOLLOW WITH THE STATE(S) OR FOREIGN COUNTRY WHERE THE RESEARCH WAS BEING CONDUCTED.

THIS SEEMED LIKE A GOOD IDEA, BUT IT DIDN'T WORK. ONLY A FEW UPDATED LISTS WERE RECEIVED AND THE "TIME-FRAME" CAUSED ALL KINDS OF REPLIES. FURTHERMORE, THE COMPUTER OBJECTED.

FOR THE TIME BEING WE WILL GO BACK TO OUR ORIGINAL FORMAT FOR THIS YEAR'S DIRECTORY. FOR THOSE MEMBERS WHO DID NOT SUBMIT AN UPDATED LIST WE WILL SHOW THE FIRST TEN NAMES IN THE LIST ON RECORD.

PLEASE SEND IN YOUR REVISED LIST AS SOON AS POSSIBLE. IF WE GET IT IN TIME WE CAN REVISE YOUR LIST FOR THE DIRECTORY IN SEPTEMBER.

THIS IS NOT AS GOOD AS WE WOULD LIKE AND WE ARE WORKING ON THE PROBLEM.

ANY SUGGESTIONS?

James T. Martin, Chairman
Publications Committee

Continued from Volume 9, Number 1, March 1987.

Since 1987 has been designated as the "Year of the Computer" by our Society, we will continue our efforts to report any new computer and genealogy related developments.

Genealogy "On Display", Version 3.0 reported in our last Quarterly has been updated with Version 4.0 and a new disk Genealogy Notes-Sources has been released to work with either version. This new disk will not work with any other genealogy software.

Word Perfect, Version 4.1 reported in our last Quarterly has been updated with Version 4.2. This new version lists for $495 but 4.1 owners can upgrade to 4.2 for $35. Those owning version 4.0 or lower can move up for $60. Computer Shopper, June 1987 lists several computer discount houses that will sell version 4.2 for about $205.

Mrs. Lucille Couey ST. JOHNS, a new member of our Society, recently purchased a Tandy 1000 and reports she is now using Family Ties. Mrs. Martha Jane HAMPTON has an Apple Computer and recently purchased Genealogy Program for Apple IIPlus & IIe. Jane reports she is very pleased with her program. One of my correspondants, a retired College History Professor in Kansas, reports he is using Roots II on an Epson Equity I Computer and uses PFS Write for text. He states his dissatisfaction with the index, pedigree charts, and instructions. He further states an update version has been developed (@ $50) but he was so unhappy with the program he didn't buy.

The second annual California Genealogical Society 1987 Genealogical Fair, held 6 June 1987 will be history by time this is published. One of the eight feature speakers will be Howard NURSE, President of Commsoft, Inc., who will speak on "Talfel Matching Systems" and "What's New with Roots II Computer System."

The Harvest of History 1987, to be held July 8-11 in Cincinnati, OH., is a Federation of Genealogical Societies with some 45 cooperating organizations. The following programs are among more than 100 listed: "Computers & Genealogy" by Brian HARNEY of the KY Gen. Soc.; "Computers & The Genealogical Society" by Dan HOPPING; "Manual vs Computer - Organzing Genealogical Data for Both" by William DOLLARHIDE; "Personal Computer Genealogy" by Dr. Richard N. BIALAC of Xavier Univ.; and "Using Computgers in Local History & Genealogical Departments of Libraries" by J. Carlyle PARKER.

Genealogists are finding that personal computers are becoming more and more feasible, not only for organizing and analyzing family records, but for writing a family history. When one sends a typed manuscript to be published it must normally be typeset. Typesetting causes changes in the characters per inch (cpi) of each line and lines per page. This causes your typewritten index to become invaled and you or your publisher must reindex from a proof typeset copy before final printing. With a good Word Processing program you can use Justification to straight line the right margin just like this article and typesetting. You can use the correct pitch, width, and length for your publisher and automaticaly print an index. You can also use a spell checker to check the spelling and punctuation.

Sam McDOWELL, who publishes our Quarterly and who published all our recent softbound publications, advises that a computer prepared book is much cheaper to publish than one that must be typeset. Sam states, "If you cannot afford to purchase a computer, you may be able to hire someone to prepare your book on one. Our current charge for an 8 1/2 x 11 page is $3.50. That is more expensive than typing but is cheaper than type setting."

TOMBSTONE RUBBINGS: One way to sucessful rub a tombstone is to attach Pellon with masking tape and use a lumberman's crayon. Pellon is a brand of interfacing materiel that can be purchased by the yard in any fabric store. It is available in white, cream and black. It can be framed to make a very attractive wall hanging. Lumberman's crayons come in a variety of colors and can be purchased at any hardware store. They do not melt, smudge or smear like chalk or graphite.

PASSPORTS: Ancestors who visited their native lands were required to have passports and their applications would have listed their birth areas. Passport applications from 1906 to present may be requested from Research & Laison Branch, Passport Services, 1425 K Street, NW, Room 316, Washington, D.C. 20524. You must include the full name and date and place of birth of the ancestor. Any other information as to date of travel is desired. If the ancestor was born after 1900 but now deceased a copy of the death certificate, obituary or similiar evidence must accompany application. The fee for a search of passport records is $8.00 payable to the Department of State, for each name. Individuals still living may request his/her record or consent to release to a third party, without paying the search fee. Passports prior to 1906 are in the National Archives.

RAILROAD RECORDS: Railroad Retirement Pension was set up at same time as Social Security. Railroaders had a choice of the railroad pension or social security but not both. Those who accepted the pension plan received their own SS numerical prefix to differenciate. If this number was 700-728, he was employed sometime between 1937 and 1943. If he died prior to 1937 he could not have filed an application. Employee records must be requested from the railroad for which the ancestor worked.

SOCIAL SECURITY: Social Security records contain the date and place of birth for applicants. Early files include many people born as early as 1850. If an ancestor lived past 1935, they probably have a Social Security file. This file may be the only place where the actual town or village of birth is recorded for those who were naturalized prior to 1906. Direct descendants are the only ones to whom this information may be granted. Submit a certified copy of the death certificate and the SS number to Social Security Administration, 6401 Security Blvd, Baltmore, MD 21235. Many death certificates after 1935 will have the deceased SS number on them. In order to qualify for SS, many had to first apply for delayed birth certificates. These records can generally be found recorded in the county of birth from 1935.

OLD INVOICES FOUND IN CRAWFORD COUNTY

Contributed by: Mr. William R. HENRY, [redacted]

A box full of old invoices dated 1887-1888, like the one below, was auctioned off a couple of years ago at a store sale in Crawford County. The store had been closed for about 40 years and many items dating back to the last century were auctioned. Invoices in the box were all made out to Mr. J. A. AVERA at the time he operated Clark's Mill. Many of the invoices contained fine lithographic pictures of the business (mostly in Macon) from whom he ordered supplies.

ORIGINAL UNBOUND MARRIAGE RECORDS

Contributed by: Mr. Robert S. DAVIS, Jr., [redacted]

An inventory of loose, original, unbound marriage records of Pulaski County was prepared by Eva R. BUFFORD of the Staff of the Georgia Department of Archives and History. These records consisted of both licenses and certificates on the same document. On back of most of the records is the book and page where the licenses are recorded however no effort has been made to compare the completeness of this file with the recorded copies in the Marriage Record volumes of the County.

These records (Record Group 216-2-1) have been flattened, cleaned, placed in folders and separated by race. The individual folders are marked alphabetical by first letter of grooms surname. Within each folder individual records are arranged alphabetically. (NOTE: The inventory submitted by the contributor was entered on computer by our Asst. Editor William R. HENRY, proof read, and is printed here in two side by side lists, alphabetical by Groom and alphabetical by Bride. An astrick "*" next to the date means license only).

The Archives programs for bringing in original records and the microfilming of county records has been abolished. If you are interested in having these programs resumed, you may write to Secretary of State Max CLELAND and to our legislators at the State Capitol, Atlanta, GA 30334.

CRAWFORD COUNTY ESTATE FILES, 1822-1900

Contributed by: Mr. Robert S. DAVIS, Jr., [redacted]

The following alphabetical listing contains the name of all deceased found in loose records filed with the Crawford County Inferior Court and County Ordinary, 1822 - 1900. Documents included are wills, annual returns, inventories and appraisements of estates, oaths of appraisers of estates, administrators and guardian bonds, letters of administration and guardianship, letters of dismission of administrators and guardians, sale bills and receipts to and from administrators and executors, and hearings on widows' years support. Also interfiled are names of persons taking oaths from Notary Publics, Justices of the Peace and County Commissioners, and names of freeholders found in records on estray domestic animals.

These files are in Record Group 139-2-1 at the Georgia Department of Archives & History. This inventory was prepared by the staff of the Georgia Archives. Until recently the Georgia Archives brought in original county records like these, restored the documents, organized the records, and made them available for use by the public in the Archives' fire-proof, humidity controlled vaults. At the same time, the Georgia Archives was microfilming county records across the state and making the microfilms available for use by researchers at the Georgia Archives. Both of these programs have been discontinued. If you are interested in having these programs resumed, you may write to Secretary of State Max Cleland and to our legislators at the State Capitol, Atlanta, GA 30334.

CRAWFORD COUNTY HERALD ABSTRACTS

Contributed by: Martha J. HAMPTON, [redacted]

(The following are abstracts from THE CRAWFORD COUNTY HERALD, W. J. McAfee, Editor and Prop.)

THURSDAY, FEB. 20, 1890, Vol. I, No. 1

The Knoxville School... having secured Prof. C. G. POWERS as principal during last year.

John S. SANDERFUR butchered and dressed a hog weighing 606 pounds. "It was discovered that the hog would have weighed considerable more had it not been that in its mouth were a number of defective teeth on account of which it had been unable to sufficiently masticate its food to produce the best results."

Some months since, the millinery store of Mrs. PIERCE was open to public patronage... valuable assistance rendered Mrs. PIERCE by Miss Florence WRIGHT.

Mr. J. R. BEELAND and family are now temporary residents of Knoxville. A neat cottage is being erected for them by Mr. A. H. Ray on his plantation near town, the place formerly occupied by them having been rented to Mr. Laban BRYANT.

It is reported that Mr. J. H. NOLAN of this town has been very busily engaged for the past few days investigating the merits of an invention intended to be used in sticking bean and pea vines. We hope he will succeed in perfecting the same as there is a universal demand for just such an article.

Knoxville has recently received a valuable acquisition to its population and society in the family of Mr. J. S. HAMMETT, who removed here from Clark's Mill, where they had resided for the past several months.

LOCAL ITEMS

Mr. Wade MATHEWS and lady were in town on Sunday last, visiting the family of Mr. HAMMETT.

Miss Josie WILLIAMS and Mr. WING of GALLIARD, visited friends in Knoxville during the past week.

Mr. W. H. DENT spent a day or two in the Central City during the past week and, as usual, returned home with a stylish new horse.

Mr. J. W. BLASINGAME made a trip to Macon the past week with a view to purchasing goods, which will result in considerable addition to his stock of general merchandise.

Miss Lena JACK is now, by her presence and assistance in the business, contributing largely toward making the millinery store of Mrs. M. B. PIERCE still more attractive.

One of the most successful days in partridge shooting... was that of Mr. J. R. BEELAND, when he succeeded in bagging twenty-six toothsome beauties.

Miss William RICHARDSON (sic) of Ceres, spent several days the past week with her friends in Knoxville.

Colonels R. D. SMITH and W. P. BLASINGAME have formed a copartnership under the firm name of SMITH and BLASINGAME. This is a live and energetic law firm... They represent the A. & F Railroad.

Rev. L. R. ALLISON, the Methodist minister who has been assigned to the pastorate of the Knoxville Circuit for present year, removed here with his family a short time ago, and is occupying what is now known as the Methodist parsonage.

...Mr. H. M. BURNETT, Clerk of the Superior Court has found it necessary to secure the services of an assistant, Col. O. P. WRIGHT.

The family of L. L. BRYANT, we are gratified to state, have become citizens of Knoxville with the past few weeks, at least they are near enough town to be regarded as part of our population. They are occupants of the place at which Mr. BEELAND had been living... He has also opened a stock of family groceries in Knoxville... But the inducement above all others, for Mr. BRYANT to remove his family here was the education of his children. This was his reason for coming. He has three children in school here at present and will have two or three others to begin before long. Mr. BRYANT expresses himself as highly pleased with the progress his children have made in the short time they have attended the school here...

Mr. M. J. MOORE of Ceres, drove rapidly into town a few days ago...

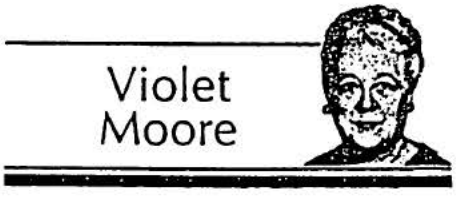
Contributed by: William R. HENRY, [redacted]

The following article appeared in the Macon Telegraph and News, Mon., May 25, 1987, and may be of interest to those researching their ancestors who lived near Travelers Rest (near present Montezuma) in Macon County, GA. In 1821 Travelers Rest was the survey point on the Flint River at Bernard's Crossing from which the southwest corner of Houston County and the northwest corner of Dooly County were formed. In 1837 Houston County lost this last point of contact on the Flint River when Macon County was formed from Houston, Dooly and Marion Counties.

Violet MOORE is the Librarian at the Montezuma Public Library. She writes a weekly article on Food & Cooking for the Macon newspaper, and frequently writes articles on a variety of other subjects for newspapers in Macon, Columbus, Americus, Montezuma, etc. She has been instrumental in supporting the sale of this Society's publication, 1860 Federal Census for Macon County, GA.



Any day now they will start arriving at courthouses and local libraries, pleasant and lively retired couples from other states, bent on filling out the blanks in their genealogical charts with names of early Middle Georgia forebears.

Sometimes the "missing links," as a Texas couple called them, are right there in a county history or the records of a county clerk, but it may also happen that they must seek out some obscure country cemetery where buzzing bees and possibly snakes, also descendants of earlier occupants, add zest to the adventure. There, with new-bought cameras, they take pictures of the well-nigh obliterated words on a 150-year-old gravestone in a field abandoned to the elements.

For some strange reason almost all the kinfolks hunters arriving in Macon County from the west (principally Texas) zero in on Traveler's Rest Cemetery, a couple of miles east of Montezuma, where the earliest gravestone is that of Mary Mendenhall Jones (born, Wilkes County, Ga., 1785; died, Macon, Ga., 1838). Of her the engraving says "Closing a life of true piety and fervent devotion — Living a number of years as she died, an orderly and truly acceptable member of the Methodist Episcopal Church."

Travelers' Rest is a meaningful and poetic name for a cemetery, but it was at one time a small community as well. It was a busy stagecoach stop where dusty, tired and hungry passengers alighted from crude vehicles to refresh themselves while the driver changed horses and ate a hasty meal. The roads of the day were little more than trading paths worn by the feet of Indians over the centuries.

Some of the coaches that trundled down those bumpy early highways were works of the craftsman's art, but others were little more than rough, covered wagons. Usually the "stage" could accommodate eight or nine people, plus the honored individual who occupied the high seat next to the driver. Mail was carried by this courier who left letters and packages with the inn-keeper. Usually the postage was paid by the recipient, and bags and boxes of unclaimed mail were a worrisome responsibility.

It took four strong horses to pull the equipage, and 20 or 30 miles was considered a very good day's progress. To give you an idea of the cost of stagecoach travel — the fare from Milledgeville (the state capital) to Augusta in 1837 was $10, to Tallahassee, $25, and to Macon, $4.

When they heard the horn blown by the approaching driver, local residents dropped their work and gathered 'round to stare at the passengers, carry in the mail and catch up on the news.

A few residences, a store, a blacksmith shop, the inn and its stables, a Masonic Lodge, and of course a Methodist and Baptist church made up the community. One old church building remains. At one time many "travelers' rests" spotted the Georgia map. The Macon County site is the only one that still bears the name. It was an important point on one old "trace" that led southward to Ellaville, then on to Plains of Dura (plain Plains now) and on into Lee County. Some trails inevitably crossed and there is a legend in The Cut Off, (A portion of Macon County that was once cut off from Sumter) that two stage drivers were bitter enemies and, carrying their feud to the grave, one asked to be buried in the center of the crossroads so that his enemy would be forced to drive over him on every trip!

Janet Williams, a former Macon Countian, now living in Perry, has done a signal service to people in this area and to the kinfolks hunters by listing in a small book all the names on all the graves at the Travelers' Rest Cemetery. The cemetery is in a state of neglect and it was well that Williams took her notes when she did.

Many of the surnames on the Travelers' Rest gravestones, Williams discovered are to be found in the local telephone book today. The inscriptions chiseled in marble are sentimental and poignant. Death was a common visitor in those days, but grief was just as genuine. On the stone over a 7-year-old girl who died in 1882 — "Twas but a flower too good for earth — Transplanted into Heaven."

On the tablet of an Episcopal minister: "Died here among strangers, 1853. A native of England, a graduate of Bristol College, and a faithful minister of Jesus Christ."

A South Carolinian's inscription: "Rest, Husband, by that partner Dear — On whom you fondly Doated here — And by whose side you often said — You'd have your Last and Narrow bed."

A very early settler: "In yonder house he spent his breath - But now he slumbereth here in death — Consider, without doubt or fear — A man of Truth is buried here."

(Names in italic were found on three or more gravestones.)

We testify heartily to the goodness of his life, and the noble qualities of his nature, his long life had no stain, but was a bright proof the efficacy of the Christian faith, to make a man good and happy. We recall to memory and now record that his association with us and with this church was always that of a wise counselor, and an active, cheerful, bright, happy Christian and good man. His late years were years of weakness, that compelled his retirement from our meeting and that weakness long lingering and affective, ending at last in his death on the 11th day of March 1875. We honor his memory. He left a good name.

The Statistical Report was also presented which is as follows: Elders 6; Deacons 2; Added on Examination 11; Added on Certificate 3; Total Communicants 105; Adults Baptized 0; Infants Baptized 5; Baptized non-Communicants 60; Member children S.S. 55av.

Having resided in this city from childhood he knew no other home. He adopted the profession of his distinguished father, the late Dr. B. A. WHITE. Graduating with distinction at Philadelphia he at one entered the U. States Navy as Assistant Surgeon, in which capacity he served during the Mexican war. At the close of that war, he resigned his commission and settled in the practice of his profession in his native town, where he married and lived uninterruptedly excepting a short time when he visited the schools and hospitals of Europe, to perfect himself in his profession; and his four years years absence as Surgeon in the Confederate Army. ...this community has lost one of its most benevolent, high toned, public spirited citizens, his profession one of it brightest ornaments, his family a kind and indulgent father, and the Church, one who, whether as member, deacon, or Ruling Elder (which last office he filled at the time of his death) will be sadly missed .....and that a copy be furnished to the family and another to the Souther Presbyterian for publication." GEORGIA'S BLACK REVOLUTIONARY PATRIOTS

by Carole E. SCOTT *

During the Revolutionary War as many as three-fourths of the blacks in Georgia may have gone over to the British. One-third of the British soldiers garrisoned at Fort Cornwallis during the siege of Augusta were blacks. A corps of fugitive slaves harassed people living on the Savannah River for several years. [WOODSON, Carter G. and WELSEY, Charles H., The Negro in Our History, p. 123.] The number of black soldiers in both the American and British armies was limited by opposition to the arming of slaves. The number fighting in the Continental forces has been estimated at between 5,000 and 8,000 [FONER, Philip S., History of Black Americans, p. 337]. Most black Continentals soldiered in the North. Austin DABNEY was one of the few exceptions.

DABNEY'S origins are hinted at by Governor George R. GILMER, who relates that, well before the Revolutionary War, a bachelor fond of card-playing, drinking, and horse-racing lived on his plantation near Richmond, Virginia. The only white person living with him was a girl, whose parentage was unknown. She grew up knowing scarcely anyone other than the bachelor and his slaves. Suddenly and secretly, he left his plantation, taking her with him. He went to North Carolina, where he stayed with a man named AYCOCK. AYCOCK later showed up in Wilkes County, Georgia with a mulatto boy called AUSTIN, who he said was his slave. [GILMER, George R., First Settlers of Upper Georgia, p. 165].

When called upon to fight the Tories plaguing Georgia, AYCOCK offered AUSTIN as a substitute. When he found that a slave would not be accepted, he claimed that AUSTIN was not a slave. AUSTIN was enrolled in the American forces under the name Austin DABNEY.

The Georgia Legislature rewarded AUSTIN with a grant of 500 acres of land and, although he was technically a free man of color, in August 1786--possibly to help him get a pension--it gave him his freedom. [SAMS, Anita B., Wayfarers in Walton, p. 54].

In an 1821 "act for the relief of AUSTIN, otherwise called Austin DABNEY, a free man of colour" the Georgia Legislature recognized that Austin, "instead of advantaging himself of the terms to withdraw himself from the American lines, and enter with the majority of his colour and fellow-slaves in the service of his Britannic Majesty, and his officers and vassals, did voluntarily enrol himself in some one of the corps under the command of Col. Elijah CLARK , and in several actions and engagements behaved against the common enemy with a bravery and fortitude which would have honoured a freeman, and in one of which engagements he was severely wounded and rendered incapable of hard servitude" [DAWSON'S Compilation of the Laws of the State of Georgia, 1820-29, p. 301].

DABNEY was wounded not far from Washington, Georgia at the Battle of Kettle Creek. This battle broke the hold of the British in Georgia and led them to abandon Augusta for awhile. At Kettle Creek DABNEY took a rifle ball through his thigh, making him a cripple for the rest of his life.

Giles HARRIS, a white man who lived nearby, took DABNEY to his farm and cared for him. DABNEY never forgot this kindness, and he worked for the HARRIS family for the rest of his life. "Being a quick-witted man with an instinct for business, he accumulated property" [MITCHELL, Lizzie R., History of Pike County, Georgia 1822-1932, p. 22].

HARRIS had a son named William. DABNEY persuaded the HARRIS family to let him send William to College. After he graduated from the University of Georgia [then Franklin College], Dabney supported him while he studied law with Stephen UPSON. "When William was undergoing his examination for admission to the bar, Austin DABNEY stood leaning against the railing that enclosed the court listening to the proceedings with great anxiety. When the young man was sworn in, and was shaking hands with the members of the bar, AUSTIN, unable to control himself, burst into a flood of tears, happy that he had been able to help the son of a man who had nursed him so patiently when he lay wounded and helpless" [History of Pike County Georgia 1832-1932, p. 23].

Before 1820 DABNEY and the HARRISES moved from Wilkes to Madison County, where DABNEY became the bone of contention in an election campaign in which the County split into pro- and anti-DABNEY parties. DABNEY, who was granted a federal pension, had not been permitted to have a chance in an 1819 land lottery with other veterans. Stephen UPSON engineered the passage of the 1821 relief law which awarded DABNEY a lot [HARRIS, Joel C., Georgia, p. 110]. DABNEY and the HARRIS family may have moved to Walton County and farmed the 112 acres of land he was granted [Wayfarers In Walton, p. 54].

It was because one of the members of the legislature from Madison County voted for the law granting him this land that DABNEY became the center of controversy. During the following election, Madison's voters split into a group favoring the vote and another one opposing it. Opponents said that it was an indignity for white men to thus be put on the same level as a mulatto. Another factor making Dabney unpopular with some was that he owned race horses and associated with white gamblers [TABOR, Paul, The History of Madison County Georgia, p. 220.

"It is strange," wrote Governor GILMER [p. 167], "that Austin DABNEY, who never knew his grandfather, should have inherited the taste of the Virginia gentlemen for horse-racing. He owned fine horses, attended the race-course, entered the list for the stake, and betted with all the eagerness of a professional sportsman."

After adjournment of court in Danielsville, it was Dabney's habit to sit with the lawyers and judge. Sometimes he told them of the "stirring incidents of the struggle between the whigs and tories in Upper Georgia and South Carolina. His memory was retentive, his understanding good, and he described what he knew well" [First Settlers Of Upper Georgia, p. 167].

Once a year DABNEY went to Savannah to draw his pension. "On one occasion he traveled thither with Col. Wiley POPE. They were very intimate and social on the road, and until they entered the streets of Savannah. As they were passing along through the city, Colonel Pope observed to Austin DABNEY, that he was a sensible man, and knew the prejudices which forbade his associating with him in city society. Austin DABNEY checked his horse, and fell in the rear, after the fashion of mulatto servants following their masters. They passed the house of Gen. James JACKSON, then Governor of the State. He was standing in his door at the time. Col. POPE passed on without notice. Recognizing Austin DABNEY, he ran into the street, seized him by the hand, drew him from his horse and carried him into his house, where he continued as his guest whilst business kept him in Savannah" [First Settlers of Upper Georgia, pp. 166-167].

When Col. William HARRIS moved to Pike County in 1826, DABNEY went with him. He lived out the rest of his life on HARRIS'S plantation. He was often seen in on the streets of Zebulon, "where he was respected by everyone" [History of Pike County Georgia, 1822-1932, p. 23]. He was buried in the HARRIS family cemetery.

DABNEY'S female counterpart was called Mammy Kate. Like the white heroine, Nancy Hart, she lived in what was then Wilkes County, but is now Elbert County. An imposing woman of more than six feet, she was a house servant belonging to Governor Stephen HEARD, who fought with Austin DABNEY at the Battle of Kettle Creek.

In an 1820 letter she was said to be the "biggest and tallest" black woman the writer had ever seen and had 'proven herself to be a strong, a kindly, a never failing friend to Colonel HEARD and his family" [McINTOSH, John H., History of Elbert County Georgia 1790-1935, p.22). Of pure African blood, she said she was the daughter of a great king.

HEARD suffered a great deal at the hands of the Tories. Tories forced his wife out into a snow storm, and she and their young adopted daughter died from exposure. Then he was captured by the British and sentenced to death by the Tories.

Ostensibly to care for his needs, Kate followed him to his prison. One morning she presented herself with a large covered basket on her head. She told the sentry on duty that she was there to pick up Colonel HEARD'S soiled linen and was admitted to his cell. There she put HEARD, who was of small statue, in the basket and calmly sauntered pass the guard with him in the basket balanced on her head.

The previous night she had secreted two of Heard's fine Arabian horses--Lightfoot and Silverheels--in the outskirts of Augusta, where he was imprisoned. She carried Heard to where she had hidden the horses, and she and HEARD rode away. It is said that on the ride he offered to set her free, but she responded by telling him that he could set her free, but she was never going to set him free.

He gave her her freedom and a deed to a small tract of land and a four-roomed house, but she continued to serve the HEARD family, turning over on her death bed her children to his [History of Elbert County Georgia 1790-1935, p. 23].

PETERS CEMETERY, JONES COUNTY, GEORGIA

Contributed by: Bobby F. STOKES, [redacted]

Located in Jones County on U.S. Government, Peidmont National Wildlife Refuge. It might be found by traveling the River Road (East Juliette to Macon) for approximately 1.6 miles north of the entrance to the Jarrell Plantation. It is on property, formerly known as the old Felts homeplace and occupied at one time by the descendants of Thomas Beeland. The old house site will be found on the East side of the road with much wisteria vine growing on the ground and in trees. By walking toward the northeast from the house site, for about 400 yards, the cemetery will be found in a stand of hardwoods.

The burial area is approximately 20 feet in width and 30 feet in length. There appears to be twelve graves, only one is marked. A visit was made to this cemetery on 3 May 1987 by Thomas Mitchell, a native of the immediate area, who knew of the existance of this cemetery; William C. Yarbrough, Sr. who is related to the Beelands, former residents on the property and Bobby F. Stokes, an historian. The following was seen and recorded:

In Memory of Baalam Peters; b. 11 Jan.1800, d. 17 Dec.1856, age near 57; J. Artope, Macon (Artope of Macon was a stone worker and engraver). This 42 inch tall tombstone was dug up from under leaves, leaf mold and dirt. It is broken in two pieces. After recording it's inscription, it was left in place, laying proped on an old cedar limb. The foot stone is still standing in it's original position, marked with initials, B.P.

A deep sink in the ground, on north side of above marker, with native rock at head and foot.
A sink in ground on south side of marker, no rock at head or foot were seen.
A sink with a pointed granite looking rock at head.

This will probably be the last of this series of articles on exposition of 1987 as the Year of The Computer. There are now over 50 genealogical programs in use and it is impossible for us to cover all of them. We will of course print any future article that we feel promotes the use of computers in the field of genealogy.

Joseph J. Borrello, P.O. Box 4459, Covina, CA 91723 has sent us a press release on his program, "Genealogy db". It is written in dBASE III programming language and available in a regular version and an LDS (new 1987) version. It is completely menu driven and features Add, Change, View, Notes, Search, Print and Display. Printouts include Persons lists, Marriage lists, Notes lists, Parent/Child Index, Family Group Record, Pedigree and 5 Generation Descendants Chart. The programs are designed for the IBM PC, XT, AT or compatibles with DOS, 512kb RAM, two floppy drives, or one floppy with hard disk, color or monochrome monitor. Demo versions are priced at $9.50 with limit of 50 persons and 25 marriages. The full scale versions are priced at $95.00 and are available only from the Author.

Rick Cherry, Cherry Tree Software, P.O. Box 964, Reynoldsburg, OH 43068-0964, introduced in June 1987 a new type program called "Family Tree". This program should not be confused with "Family Tree - Etc." or others of similiar names. I purchased his demo disk for $2.00 which is limited to 15 persons. The unusual features are that you write a biographical sketch on each ancestor. It may be only one line or as many pages as you desire. You enter the usual birth, marriage, death, parents, children, etc type information, plus Cause of Death, Occupation, Church Affiliation, and you can select two more of your own origin. I chose Place of Burial and Military Service. When you have finished, the program prints a book on your ancestors, complete with Title Page and your name as compiler, Table of contents, Introduction, Chapter 1 Biographies, Chapter 2 Trees and Data, Appendix A Names and reference numbers, Appendix B Missing information, Appendix C Miscellaneous information, and Index. I liked this approach to a complete family history in book form but experienced some difficulty in reediting and changing the biographical sketch once written. The program itself did not permit you to overtype or insert data in a line once entered. Instead you had to transfer your biographical sketch to a Word Processor (provided it could edit in ASCII code) or to Edlin (the MS-DOS Text Editor). I found Edlin to be the best since a Word Processor had a tendency to leave hidden codes. Rick asked to be advised on any problems and he would try to update. He offered a 10% discount to any members of this Society from the $39.95 price of his program. It is available for IBM and compatibles using MS-DOS 2.0 or higher and will run on a single floppy disk.

Computer Shopper currently lists over 1200 Bulletin Boards on a variety of subjects. They are now beginning to springing up everywhere in a new approach to computerized genealogy. There are at least 28 known to exist at this writing. By using the auto dialing modem capability of your computer, you can reach a Bulletin Board and read it's menus on your monitor. The system varies from board to board but you can search through various genealogical indexes, read family histories, enter your own research information, leave queries and receive queries that appear in a number of genealogical publication, etc. Most of the boards have free (public domain) database programs and demonstration versions that you can download. More than 20 Bulletin Boards are now using FidoNet's EchoMail Conference system by which all can see the same surname query.

Commsoft, the developers of Roots II, is undertaking a new venture called "Tafel Matching System" which will network local databases of indexed surnames that can be queried by researchers nationwide. By this method one can dial into his local or nearest Bulletin Board, upload his surname query, and have it routed to all participating boards. Later when he dials back, he receives a Tafel report. All this for the cost of two local or nearby phone calls.

There are publishers who will take your family history by the telecom modem of your computer. Using a fully automated typesetting system, they can print your book with same-day service. One such publisher is Integraphics, 106A South Columbus St., Alexandria, VA 22314. Phone (800)368-3342 or (703)683-9414 in DC area. Send $20 ppd for their 200 page guidebook or call toll-free for credit order.

This brings to mind another non-computer program for storing your genealogical records, family history, and similiar documents. The American Genealogical Lending Library, P.O. Box 244, Bountiful, Utah 84010 will now place these records on microfilm or microfich for a very low cost of $25.00 for up to 5,000 pages, plus $.05 per page for microfilming. They will permanently store your master but you give them permission to distribute copies. Contact them for more details.

"GENEALOGICAL TRASH — BUYER BEWARE"

Contributed by: Mr. William R. HENRY, [redacted]

Stumbling on roots

A postcard in the mail caught my eye. It said Mary Whitney of Ottsville, Pa., wants to sell me a copy of a book called Boyds Across America. She says the book will come in handy in tracing my roots.

I don't know how the lady got my name, but she certainly hit a soft spot. For a long time, I've wanted to do a little work on my family tree, but two things have delayed it.

First, I wouldn't want to trace my family so far back that I'd find out I came from apes. Fact is, I wouldn't even want to trace it back to any horse thieves named Boyd.

Second, I get lazy and find it easy to procrastinate when it comes to digging through old census records, death certificates, marriage licenses and old graveyards.

But about this new book. Would it mean a shortcut? Lazy folks love shortcuts, you know.

The postcard offered the book for $29.95. That's a heap of money to Ol' Boyd. I mean, I never got that kind of price for any of my books.

Could I get my money's worth out of it? The letter promised a hard-bound book with a "leather textured cover." It certainly sounded nice.

The postcard also said I'd have until March 9 to place my order. Well, that gave me a little time to procrastinate and do a little digging of my own. I headed to Washington Memorial Library.

Willard Rocker met me at the front counter in the Genealogy Department. He took one look at the postcard from Mary Whitney and said, "You can throw that in the trash."

"Really?" I asked.

He nodded. "We have people asking us about those offers all the time, and we always give the same answer. Would you like to see what you'd get for $29.95?"

He pulled a book from a nearby shelf. It was hard bound with a leather textured cover. Nice.

I sat down at a table and scanned the book for half an hour. Here's what I found.

The first half of the book is filled with pictures from yesteryear, advice on how to trace your roots and pages that look like sports tournament brackets that are useful in compiling a family tree.

It looked familiar, and I finally remembered where I'd seen those things. I bought a book at Kmart several years ago — for $2.95, not $29.95 — with the same "trees." And I'd even started filling it out.

The second half of the book was a computerized listing of people with the surname of Holbrook. Although that looked like it might be helpful, Mr. Rocker told me that serious root tracers consider the listing incomplete and out of date.

I looked for Holbrooks from Georgia. They covered about a page and a half of the 49 pages bearing 120 names on each. About 150 Georgians named Holbrook were listed.

I did some counting. Only three Holbrooks from Macon were listed. There are five in our phone book. Nine Holbrooks from Alpharetta were listed, but only one each for Griffin and Brunswick. And it listed just 22 of 210 Holbrooks listed in the Altanta phone book.

Conclusion: I can do better with phone books.

I returned the book to Mr. Rocker and asked what I should do to trace my family roots. He said to start with older family members. Then search old census records. The library in Macon has most of the census records for the Eastern Seaboard states.

A transplanted Okie like me will have to drive to East Point, Ga., to view records maintained by the federal archives. But that's the way to start, Mr. Rocker said.

Well, one of these days, I'm going to do it. But first, I'm going to find a trash can where I can get rid of Mary Whitney's postcard. Then I'm going out and buy something useful with the $29.95 she didn't weasel out of a Georgia boy who wants to trace his roots.

Bill Boyd is a feature writer for the Macon Telegraph and News. He writes on a variety of subjects. This column appeared on Feburary 15, 1988. He, like most of us, is subject to a constant flow of mail with appealing offers designed to help separate one from his money. Genealogy is no exception. Read Bill's story carefully for he tells it like it is.

Mary Whitney has taken up where Beatrice Bayley left off. For years Ms. Bayley advertised in the same manner. Her books contained the same type of basic information on how to trace your roots with forms and charts not generally accepted by genealogists. Her list of Genealogy & Historical Societies were not only brief and incomplete but often more than seven years out of date. Ms. Bayley claimed a 70 million name nation data bank as her source. This was compiled from other data banks of telephone directories, automobile registrations, etc. Once a surname file, such as Henry, was extracted and printed it was already out of date and the same printing may have been sold for several years. This type of publication has no genealogical value.

There is another mail order scheme that I have recently experience. Halbert's, Inc. of Bath, Ohio sent an offer to sell me a plaque for $34.95, featuring the Henry Coat of Arms. It was a one time offer with a 14 day limit. I dropped it in the trash with other junk mail, but 3 months later they came again with the same offer. This time I replied (as President of CGGS) that, "I feel it is deciteful to advertise for sale a plaque containing a Coat of Arms, which may or may not represent one of several Henry families and then say no genealogical representation is implied. What else do you think your ad is implying?" I went on to tell them there were three recognized Henry Coat of Arms and they did not tell the public this in their ad.

Thirty days later Halbert's answered that the Henry Coat of Arms they were using was located in Burke's General Armory. On 16 February 1988, I further replied to this, stating that they overlooked the one with a Pelican Head, also listed in Burke's General Armory. I further stated that the Henry Family History, by Seaver, published in 1929, by the American Historical Genealogical Society, referrs to three different Henry Coat of Arms. It includes the two mentioned in Burke's General Armory and a third representing the Henry's of "North Ireland," which they displayed on their cover.

Henry's who descend from the early Irish name of MacEniry have another Coat of Arms. This one was described many years ago by John C. Downing in his "Know your Name" column in The Atlanta Journal-Constitution.

If I am going to display a Coat of Arms in my home, I want it to represent my lineage. To day, heraldic lineage is determined by the heralds at The College of Arms, Queen Victora Street, London E.C.4V4BT. Qualifications are tough. You must prove direct descent in an unbroken line of first sons of an arm-bearing ancestor. If you descent from other sons, you may qualify for an alternate coat of arms.

These are just a few cases in which we say, "Buyer Beware." There are no doubt others, and there will be others to which the same caution must be applied.

CRAWFORD COUNTY, GA

Compiled by: B. L. WALKER and W. H. WALKER on 25 November, 1977.
Contributed by: Tina Clark HORTMAN, [redacted]

Location: This cemetery is located in the western portion of Crawford County, near where it adjoins Upson County. It is approximately 3.2 miles south of U. S. 80, between Roberta and Carsonville, Georgia.

Remarks: This cemetery is located approximately 50 feet South of a dirt road from which it is barely visible. From the degree of growth and deterioration it appears to have been neglected for several years. Judging from the layout of this cemetery there could be another 115 graves, bringing the total number of possible graves to 180. (Graves are listed in order, with unknowns given.)

Searching for proof of date and place of birth of George W. CUNNINGHAM, b. ca. 1828 (VA?), d. 1879 Macon County, m. 1857 Sarah E. WILLIAMS in Sumter County, and his ancestors. He had several daughters but only one son, Charles, who married his cousin Annie COLLINS. This Charles had three sons, Tracy, who had one daughter with no issue, Charlie, no issue, and William Grady who died in NC, had one son, Bill CUNNINGHAM, b. NC [who is now a pro basketball coach - hearsay.]

(S?) CUNNINGHAM and Martha COLLINS CUNNINGHAM, b. ca. 1788, were the parents of George w. CUNNINGHAM. Legend is that a daughter married, moved to Texas, and carried with her the Family Bible of this couple. Mrs. I. F. Carter, in "History of Sumter County" by Cox, page 289 lists children of this couple as James W., John W., William T., George W., and Martha E., but I have not been able to obtain the source of her information or proof thereof. Note the W in three names.

George W. CUNNINGHAM was the grandson of Joseph and Nancy COLLINS, The COLLINS line was written in Haye's "History of Macon County" by Mrs. P. D. Coogle, a graduate of Wesleyan College and direct descendant of Joseph and Nancy CONNER COLLINS, and also by Mrs. I. F. Carter in "History of Sumter County" by Cox.

There were several Joseph COLLINS living in Georgia after the Revolution. Two (or more) were RS. One lived in Upson County and had wife also named Nancy. For years I thought our Joseph COLLINS was a rascal with two families, until I discovered that the Upson County Joseph could not write his name.

The Joseph COLLINS, RS that I search for was in Twiggs County in 1830, but not in 1840, having died in 1839. He married Nancy CONNER of the Montgomery County and Marlboro District SC CONNER family. She was still in Twiggs County in 1840. Children of this couple listed in the county histories aforementioned were: Sarah m. Alexander NELSON, Wilson m. Martha CUNNINGHAM, Martha m. (S?) CUNNINGHAM, Mary m. W. H. OWENS, Ruth m. Green NORRIS, Some descendants of above couples bear names of Daniel, Chappell, Smith, Law, Hoskins, Carter, Bynum, Cloud, Coogle, Kleckley - many others.

Unless otherwise specified, everything is GA. I WILL GREATLY APPRECIATE ANY HELP.

EPPS, THIGPEN.

I am anxious to locate William Henry EPPS, b. 20 Jun 1829, for the period of 1830 to 1860. It is possible he was living with a relative in Clarke County or Greene County, GA. JAMES THOMAS MARTIN
Founder and First President
President - 1979 and 1980

James Thomas Martin, of Warner Robins, Georgia, was the founder and first President of the Central Georgia Genealogical Society. He served two terms as President, 1979 and 1980. In the spring of 1978, Martin placed "sign-up" sheets in libraries in the central Georgia area to obtain the names of persons interested in forming a local genealogical society. Over 100 persons signed up. He scheduled a meeting for 26 September 1978 at the 20th Century Cafeteria in Warner Robins. Some twenty-odd persons came to this meeting and from this nucleus the society was formed. An organizational meeting was held on 23 October 1978, and by the end of the year the society had forty-seven Charter Members. The society continued to add new members, showing a net gain each year, until a membership of over 200 was reached in the spring of 1987. After serving as President, Martin continued to serve as Chairman of the Publications Committee with primary responsibility for publishing the monthly Newsletter and the Quarterly. In 1981, under leadership of James W. Turnipseed, Jr., the society was incorporated as a nonprofit corporation under the laws of Georgia.

Martin was born on 18 July 1917 in Cincinnati, Hamilton County, Ohio, son of James Morris Martin and Viola Adaline Moore Martin. He was the first of three children; one boy and two girls. His father was born in Rockcastle County, Kentucky and his mother was born in Boyle County, Kentucky. When he was about five years of age the family moved to a farm located north of Fairfield, Union County, Indiana. The family lived on several farms in eastern Indiana and finally settled in Fairfield where Martin attended the consolidated High School at Brookville, Indiana.

In 1935 he enlisted in the U.S. Army and was assigned to the U.S. 11th Infantry at Fort Benjamin Harrison near Indianapolis, Indiana. During his enlistment he served as a Company Clerk and later as a Regimental Clerk--he had learned to use a typewriter in high school and that accomplishment sealed his doom. He also attended the Army West Point Prep School for nine months. Martin was an expert marksman and served on both pistol and rifle teams in his company. He was honorably discharged in 1938 and enlisted in the U.S. Navy on the following day.

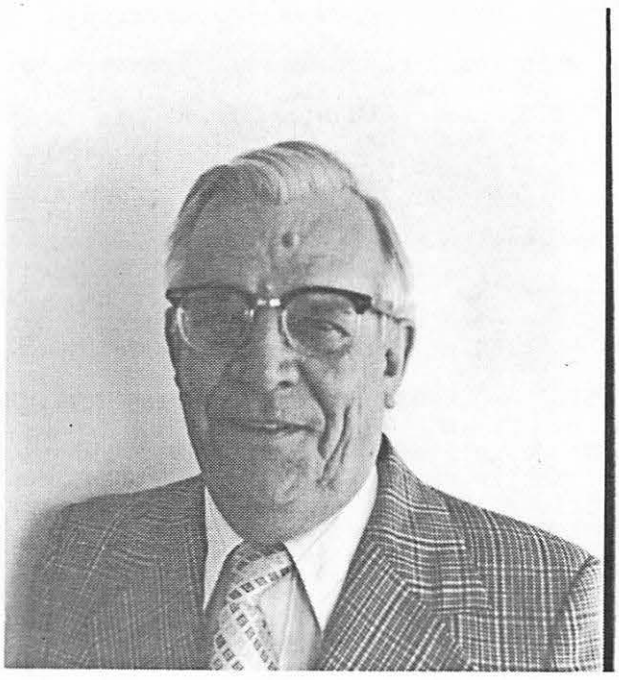
Martin was sent to the Great Lakes Naval Training Station in Illinois for his "boot" training, and was appointed "square-knot" Chief Petty Officer of his Company. After completing his training, he was assigned to the Supply Division aboard the U.S.S. Indianapolis at San Pedro, California. In 1940, the U.S.S. Indianapolis sailed to Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, and in the spring of 1941 Martin transferred to Patrol Wing Two on Ford Island in Pearl Harbor. Ford Island was a large naval aviation supply and repair depot. In the summer of 1941, he and twelve other naval personnel were sent to a "sand pile" known as Johnston Island with a mission to develop an advance Naval Air Base. This was an interesting assignment. At high tide the island was only about four feet above the water, and that didn't leave much dry land on which to stand. The island was overrun with birds, mostly Terns and Frigates, and you had to kick them out of your way to walk--they were not use to people and therefore were not afraid. After a tour of nine months on Johnston Island, Martin returned to Ford Island where he was assigned to the finance office. At the time of his return several of the ships sunk during the raid on Pearl Harbor were in the process of being raised and placed back in commission. It was an unbelievable mess! Shortly after his return Martin was promoted to Chief Storekeeper and assigned to a large supply warehouse on Ford Island. Those were the days of around-the-clock work. Ships returning with damaged aircraft would off-load at Ford Island and pick up serviceable aircraft for return to the fighting zone. Those needing aircraft spare parts would radio their requirements when the ship was about a day out of Pearl Harbor and the supply department would try to have their orders ready by the time the ship arrived in port. Martin returned to the States in April 1945 and was honorably discharged in October 1945.

As a civilian, Martin worked for the Santa Fe Railroad at Stockton, California and later for an International Harvester dealer in Woodland, California. The U.S. Air Force was a newly formed organization and Martin enlisted in 1948 as a Technical Sergeant at Mather Field near Sacramento, California. He was soon promoted to Master Sergeant and assigned to the Base Procurement Office. In the summer of 1951, he received his overseas assignment to the Directorate of Procurement, Headquarters Far East Air Material Command at Tachikawa Air Base, Japan. While in this assignment, he served as a member of a Staff Assistance Surveillance Team for procurement activities in Korea, the Philippines and many other island bases in the South Pacific. The team would leave on Monday and fly to two or three bases during the week and return on Friday. Saturday and Sunday were devoted to finalizing inspection reports and taking care of laundry and other personal matters in preparation for another week in the field. One Christmas was spent at Clark Air Force Base in the Philippines--no snow, and not much else to remind one of Christmas. After six or seven months on this job, Martin was transferred to the Procurement Field Office at Osaka, Japan. This was a small office with responsibility for administration and surveillance of Japanese companies doing contract work for the U.S. Air Force. Shortly after moving to Osaka, Martin was appointed Warrant Officer, Junior Grade.

Martin returned to the States in January 1953 and was assigned to the Production Division, Directorate of Procurement, Headquarters Air Material Command, Wright-Patterson Air Base, Ohio. One of his more interesting and important responsibilities was surveillance of contractors manufacturing items for the then highly classified early warning system known as the Dew Line. In March 1954, Martin was assigned to the Directorate of Procurement at Robins Air Force Base, Warner Robins, Georgia, where he served as Chief, Management Division. While in this assignment, he was promoted to Chief Warrant Officer and retired on 31 December 1959 with a total military service of over 21 years. In January 1960 he accepted a position as Management Analyst with the Directorate of Material Management at Robins Air Force Base. In 1961 he transferred to the Directorate of Maintenance with assignment as Chief, Procedures Section, where he remained until his retirement in 1970.

Martin is married to the former Wilma Marshall of Americus, Georgia, and they make their home in Warner Robins, Georgia. After retirement Martin continued to pursue his genealogical interests, and after a few years, turned his hobby into a part-time business. He authored the FAMILY UNIT METHOD for Organizing Research and Publishing Genealogies. He produces and markets genealogical forms, compiles genealogies for clients, and provides genealogical services to the public.



JAMES WESLEY TURNIPSEED, JR.
President - 1981

I was born 14 August 1917 in Mount Vernon, Mobile County, Alabama. My maternal grandmother, Anna Colula RIVERS, was the first child of Ann Elizabeth BISHOP and Joel Mason Miller RIVERS. She married Marion Wiley WRIGHT, 10 March 1889 in Clarke County, Alabama. He was the third child of Louise Catherine "Crissie" ODOM and John Ervin WRIGHT. My mother, Lula Katherine WRIGHT, was the first child of her parents. She was born 9 January 1890 in Clarke County, Alabama.

Sarah Olivia POWE, my paternal grandmother, was the eighth child of Sarah Harry CHAPMAN and William Henry Pegues POWE. She was born 9 October 1839 in Wayne County, Mississippi. She first married John A. TURNIPSEED and had three sons by him before he was killed in the Civil War. On 14 November 1866 she married John Wesley TURNIPSEED, the son of Mary Ann "Polly" HAMITER and George A. TURNIPSEED. (John A. and John Wesley were first cousins, once removed.) My father, James Wesley TURNIPSEED, was the third child born to Olivia and John WESLEY, born 21 January 1871 in Pickens County, Alabama.

My parents were married 20 September 1916 in Toulminville, Mobile, Alabama. I was the first child. My sister, Katherine Elizabeth, born 9 November 1920, was the second and final child.

While in high school I worked part time for my grandfather WRIGHT who owned and operated a lumber and building supply business. After attending Alabama Polytechnic Institute (now Auburn University), I went to a business school. I then worked in Mobile for R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company in the office and as a salesman. Then I obtained a job with Panacea Produce Co., Pensacola, Florida. I was the bookkeeper but whenever the truck driver failed to show up, I became a truck driver as I was the only one with experience in handling a trailer.

From Pensacola I went to Washington, DC, and began my civil servant career with the U. S. Railroad Retirement Board. After one freezing winter in Washington I gladly transferred to the Corps of Engineers, Mobile (Alabama) District Office. Two hours after reporting I had orders for Eglin Field, Florida.

There was only one temporary building at Eglin when I arrived and after serving as a storekeeper, personnel clerk, I was put in the purchasing section and bought much of the material from which Eglin was built. I was sent down to Panama City and helped organize the office to build Tyndall Field. The first load of lumber had just been delivered when I arrived.

I was at Eglin when Pearl Harbour was attacked and in April of 1942 I enlisted in the Army. After basic training at Jefferson Barracks, Missouri, I was sent to Napier Field, near Dothan, Alabama. At Napier I was put in charge of purchasing for the Post Engineer. Later I organized the Base Fiscal Office and later on became the Non-Commissioned Officer in charge of the Base Statistical Office. In January 1946 I was discharged as a Technical Sergeant.

While I was in the service both of my WRIGHT grandparents died. My aunt, Ella Virginia WRIGHT, asked me to help her manage my grandfather's lumber yard. At the Community Presbyterian Church, just across the street from the lumber yard, a tall good looking girl started working. On 27 October 1951 Marie Faith SWANSTROM and I were married at the First Presbyterian Church, Foley, Alabama.

As far back as 1570 the TURNIPSEEDS (REBSAMEN in Switzerland) were members of the Reformed Church. My father was raised as a Presbyterian, my mother as a Methodist. I was a member of the Methodist Church but since Faith was working for the Presbytery of Mobile as Director of Christian Education, and planned to continue working, I joined the Presbyterian Church. After serving as a Deacon and Church Treasurer I was elected a Ruling Elder in the Community Presbyterian Church, Mobile, in 1956. Since that time I have been active in the church. In the fall of 1959 I was elected Moderator of Mobile Presbytery; in 1964 I was one of the two Ruling Elder Commissioners elected by Mobile Presbytery to the General Assembly. Augusta-Macon Presbytery elected me Moderator in 1982. During 1987 I served on a committee to organize a new presbytery, taking in most of the southwest quarter of the State of Georgia, as the church reorganized after the union of the northern and southern branches. In January 1988 Flint River Presbytery became operational using guidelines established by the committee and a manual which I helped draft.

My wife, Faith, is the daughter of the late Marie (Lehr) and Adrian Godfrid SWANSTROM. She was born 30 September 1921 in Foley, Baldwin County, Alabama. Our first child, James Wesley TURNIPSEED III was born 5 July 1953 in Mobile, Alabama. Our second, and last child, Mary Faith TURNIPSEED, was also born in Mobile on 27 May 1956.

In 1955 I left the lumber company and for about three months worked in the State and County Tax Collector's Office in Mobile, Alabama. On 5 July 1955 I went back into federal service at the Mobile Air Material Area, Brookley Air Force Base, Alabama. In 1967 I transferred to the Warner Robins Air Material Area, Robins Air Force Base, Georgia. I was a logistician at Warner Robins with some interesting assignments. One was a radio direction finder developed in conjunction with the National Aerospace Agency (NASA) used to track our astronauts, particularly during their descent and in the zone where normal communications were blacked out. My last assignment was a new Tactical Air Communication and Navigation (TACAN) set developed and installed in approximately 7,000 aircraft. This set was more accurate, reduced repair cost and introduced a new concept into the Air Force where, instead of repairing in the field, sets were returned to the contractor for repair--we called it Reliability Improvement Warranty. When the program was almost complete I retired in January 1980 as a GS-12, with slightly over 30 years of service.

I am a charter member of the Central Georgia Genealogical Society and was the original first vice president. In 1980 I was elected president to take office in January 1981. During my term as president the society was incorporated as a non profit organization under the laws of the State of Georgia. The society also was granted tax exempt status.

Before retirement I was very active in tracing my family history and have been devoting much time to that since I retired. In July 1988 I received information from a family Bible as to the name and birth date of a maternal g g g g grandfather plus from other sources the probable name of a maternal g g g grandfather and another g g g g grandfather. So I have work to probe the probables!

BEULAH VIOLA WHITE CRUTHIRDS
President - 1982

Most of my life has been spent in the Southern part of the United States. My roots are here. We are a very close knit family, and I had the privilege of visiting in the home of many of my kin on both sides.

We were living in Shreveport, Louisiana when our mother, Mary Viola Rutledge White, died in 1923. She left three little girls: Yvonne, Beulah and Mary Ethel; and our father, Willie Presley White. Mother was laid to rest in the Advance Cemetery near the Marion and Lamar County line in Mississippi. Many of her family are buried there--Mary, her baby; Ida Baggett and Ella Garraway, her sisters; and many aunts and uncles. Both John James Miller and his wife, "Polly" Sarah Ann Hudson, were born in North Carolina in 1829. One of the first graves in this cemetery is that of her Great Grandfather, William Ragan Galloway, son of a Revolutionary Soldier, Matthew Galloway, of Oglethorpe County, Georgia.

Beulah White Delcuze, my father's sister, asked us to move to Gulfport, Mississippi, so she could look out for the little girls. We did not stay there long. Dad was a contractor, an interior decorator and a painter. We moved when work in an area ran out. I think our stay in New Orleans was one that impressed me most. We went to the river, parks, French Market, street dances, Mardi Gras, churches, and cemeteries. Later, we moved to Jackson, Mississippi, where we lived one block from the Governor's Mansion. Once we saw a mob after a man in jail; we were so afraid! We lived several times on the Mississippi Gulf Coast. I loved the sand, water, waves, and the calm quiet that I found there. I loved to sail and I loved to go with my father in a skiff to fish or crab. Sometimes we would build a fire and cook on the beach.

Each summer, and at Christmas, we went to Grandmother Rutledge's home for a visit with her and other grandchildren were always there. Grandmother was left a widow on 16 August 1900 at Simminary, Mississippi, when her Circuit Rider Preacher husband, William Wesley Rutledge, died suddenly of cramp colic. They had nine children. Grandmother was only four feet, eight inches tall, and never weighed a hundred pounds.

Her farm was close to Oloa, west of Sumerall, Mississippi. We all worked on the farm planting corn and cotton, weeding, hoeing, and gathering crops. I learned to dry fruits, can and pickle, smoke meat, and even to make plug tobacco to sell.

My uncle taught me to shoot a gun and stalk game, and to set a trap and trot lines. We went into the woods to find berries and to search for plants that were good for food, and also for plants that the Indians said were good medicine. All the time we spent together, we were told about our family and how they came to settle in the center of Mississippi. There were many trips to visit relatives who added many stories about our grandparents and how they came from Virginia to the Carolinas, to Georgia, to Alabama, and to Mississippi. These families included Miller, Hudson, Johnson, Rutledge, Galloway, Cleveland, Hailey, Ragan, Kidd, White, Martin, and Beaver. So many of my questions were unanswered. Through research I have found some of the answers.

I visited in the homes of five of my Grandfather Rutledge's sisters. They told me that a very wise old lady, Jane Galloway Germany, my grandfather's aunt, lived at Union, Mississippi. Dad let me go by train and I spent three wonderful days with her. She was born in 1853 in Neshoba County, Mississippi. Aunt Jane took out her pictures and her large German Bible with twelve pages of family records! I sat and copied it, even the part I did not think concerned us. She told of the arrival and departure of the wagon trains from Georgia to Texas. Our ancestor, James M. Cleveland, made his first trip to Texas from Elbert County, Georgia in 1823. Each time he sold his rig and returned to Georgia. Land became available in Mississippi so he moved. At the end of the Civil War there was unrest and a train going to Bosque County, Texas, was made up at Decatur, Newton County, Mississippi. The wagons were circling to form a train when he reached out and grabbed a hand hold on one of the wagon seats and pulled up. He called to his wife to join him. She did. The wagons halted and he told the master to send men to his house for his wagon and supplies which he had loaded and ready to go to Texas once more. That night the men joined the train with his supplies. We have many relatives in Texas. About two years ago a distant relative sent me a picture of his grave at Kobble, Texas.

Attorney Thomas Weir, Walnut Grove, Mississippi, gave me my first job. He was fighting for Choctaw Indian Claim against the United States Government and was very deeply involved in Genealogy. I was to file these records and sometimes I went to the court house to search records for him. It was a learning experience for what I was to learn to enjoy so much later. He won this case many years later when he was an old man. My oldest son was impressed by the court conclusion of this famous case at Meridian, Mississippi. Tom Weir stood in his sock feet, with permission from the Judge. "Your Honor, I beg to be allowed to finish this case in my sock feet. I am an old man and my feet have given out," he pleaded. He won the case.

In the early thirties, a United States Coast Guard Station was located at Biloxi, Mississippi, where the Veterans Hospital now stands. Some of the men were moved to Pascagoula, Mississippi. Among them were Randle Louis Cruthirds, his nephew, Wyatt "Slats" Walden, Henry Cook, and my brother-in-law, Howard S. Turner. The Robert B. Cruthirds's farm was north of Biloxi. Evelyn Elizabeth Coleman Cruthirds lived there with Randle's brother, Homer, and his two small children, Nona and Vanas. Randle and I were married at the home of my sister, Yvonne Turner, with Slats Walden as best man. My cousin, Ann Smith, was Maid of Honor, and my father gave me away. Vivian and Linda Barnett were Flower Girls. We were married on 4 January 1934. We had many happy times and some sad times together.

My husband was a Regular in the Coast Guard and his duty sent him to many places. When he was transferred, we soon followed to places like Galveston, Texas, Mobile, Alabama, Pascagoula and Biloxi, Mississippi, New Orleans, Louisiana, and Honolulu, Hawaii. He served in World War II and the Korean Conflict. He was devoted to his service, was loyal, and loved his family very much. His greatest desire was a college education for his sons. He worked with the schools, especially when the principal of Erwin Craighead Elementary School needed his presence. Randle became ill in Hawaii, and really never was well again. He died on 3 April 1963 at Mobile, Alabama. Two of our sons did graduate from college.

Dad lived with us most of seventeen years and my husband loved him like a father. He was an excellent cook, a repairman and a gardener. We had the prettiest yard in our neighborhood and never had to pay a baby sitter. From him I learned about his German mother, Amanda Melvenia Brunner, and his grandmother, Mary Ann Garner White. Sometimes he would talk about his father, William Presley White, who served in the Civil War. The Whites came to Mississippi from Arkansas, from South Carolina, from Virginia, and from Pennsylvania, and from England c1725 (with William Penn) two brothers: Hugh and Moses. This is a very interesting line to trace.

While we were in Galveston during World War II, I attended Metropolitan Business College where I earned four certificates and a diploma which helped me to get work and to advance in pay later. Our stay there was good but sad as we lived on the beach front and watched as the convey went over the horizon where German Submarines lay in wait. Many men we knew never made it to the War Front.

While working at Brookley Air force Base, my job was transferred on 25 August 1965 to Robins Air Force Base, Georgia. I kept my grade and was able to stay in the training program and was promoted to GS-9 grade. After twenty years' service, I retired. We bought a home in Warner Robins, Georgia, and after several years, we sold it and in 1986 we built in Bonaire, Georgia. Out here I have room for my Genealogy records which I have from 1929.

Washington Memorial Library in Macon, Georgia, has the most complete Southern Genealogical records available anywhere. One day I found four of my Revolutionary Grandfathers. The library helped to get together people interested in forming a local genealogical society. James T. Martin met with a small group at the Twentieth Century Cafeteria in 1978 and from that meeting the Central Georgia Genealogical Society was formed. I became President in 1982. We had a good start with our monthly Newsletter and our Quarterly going out all over the United States. We are still growing. During the 250th Birthday (1733-1982) Semiquinincentenary, I served as Chairman for NSDAR, UDC, and CGGS, Inc. I saw how history was made through genealogy. I worked for an attorney to break a will tracing the family to 1800 with proof of birth and death of all but his client. He won. In 1982 I joined the Daughters of the American Revolution and I visited the grave of my Revolutionary War ancestor, William Hailey, in Elbert County, Georgia. I am presently Regent of the Sukey Hart Chapter, NSDAR.

There is so much work I would like to finish. My health is good. There is much I would like to add to this story of a little blue eyed, blond haired, fair baby girl, Beulah Viola White, the third daughter of Willie Presley White and Mary Viola Rutledge, born on 3 September 1913 in Birmingham Alabama, when it was a thriving industrial center.

VICTOR R. MYRICK

Victor R. Myrick was born 18 August 1926 in Bleckley County, Georgia, the son of Jonie Madison Myrick and Nellie Harrell Myrick. His entire life has been spent in Bleckley and Dodge Counties. He earned the Bachelor of Arts and the Master of Education Degrees at Mercer University in Macon, Georgia.

Mr. Myrick was employed for thirty years in the Bleckley County School System and retired in 1982. During that time he worked as a classroom teacher, federal programs director, basketball coach and elementary principal, with most of the time being spent as principal. At the same time he carried on a second career as a Baptist Minister, serving as pastor of churches in Laurens and Dodge Counties. He is currently pastor of the Friendship Baptist Church near Pineview in Wilcox County, Georgia.

A number of things caused him to develop a serious interest in genealogy, the most important one being that he grew up in a traditional southern family that had strong family ties and attachments. Close association with a large number of elderly relatives provided him with much oral history and tradition about his family background. This influenced him to choose history as his major in college and to become a history teacher. This in turn led him back to genealogy. Another influence was strong--well organized family reunions which he has attended all his life. The fact that all of his family lines came into the central Georgia area, as soon as it was opened for settlement, has simplified his research problems to some extent--even though a number of them lived in the "burned" counties.

During his career as an educator Mr. Myrick was active in professional organizations for educators and served several terms as President of the Bleckley County Unit of the Georgia Education Association. He has been active in the Baptist associations of which his churches have been members. He has served several terms as President of the Sanders Family Association and the Myrick Family Reunion. He is a member of the Dodge County Historical Society, the Georgia and the National Genealogical Society.

(Victor R. Myrick, Cont'd.)

His genealogical research has enabled him to become a member of The Sons and Daughters of the Pilgrims, The Sons of the American Revolution, The General Society of the War of 1812, and The Sons of Confederate Veterans. He has published the Myrick Family History, Census Records of Pulaski County from 1830 through 1880, Census Records of Twiggs County from 1830 through 1880, and Wilkinson County Census Records from 1820 through 1880.

A charter member of the Central Georgia Genealogical Society, Mr. Myrick served as President in 1983. He has served as Director of the annual workshop for each of the eight years that it has been held, and is currently First Vice President, a member of the Board of Directors, and a member of the Publications Committee. His main genealogical interest at present is copying the Inferior and Ordinary Court Records of Pulaski County, Georgia, which the Central Georgia Genealogical Society plans to publish.

MARTHA JONES BACON

In 1921, Reeda M. Sharp finished high school and then Normal School, in Alcorn County, Mississippi. Back then teaching school was about the best job a young lady could hope to get. Reeda started teaching about fifteen miles from home at a one-room school called Goosepond, eight grades with around seventy students, ranging in age from four years to twenty years.

Oscar Jones was one of the Trustees of Goosepond School. He met the new teacher and soon started courting her. In 1923 they were married. She continued to teach until the fall of 1925, when her teaching career was halted with the birth on the 27th of November of an eight pound girl--me!

Fat, happy and since I was the only girl baby in the neighborhood, I had more than my share of attention from grandparents, great grandparents, uncles, aunts, and a whole crowd of cousins. Despite the attention I managed to grow up not too spoiled, thanks to Mother who saw that a little peach tree tea applied to the seat of trouble kept me in line.

I finished high school and attended the University of Mississippi "Ole Miss" for three years. Then along came a fella by the name of Joe K. Bacon. In March 1947, my schooling came to a halt when we married. Joe K. worked for the American Telephone and Telegraph Company. For the next few years we moved around the Southeast some twenty times. In 1949 during a periodic lay-off we went to Savannah, Georgia, and decided to stay. Joe K. got a job with the government working for RAMA at their port station in Savannah. I worked with the government also as a bio-chemist at the U.S. Public Health Service Station at Oatland Island.

In 1953, I quit work to devote my time to our only child, born in October of that year, a girl named CindyLu. We built a home and settled down we thought, but in 1958, RAMA decided to close the port station in Savannah, and we were transferred to Warner Robins, Georgia. For the last thirty years we have lived, worked, gone to church here, and now retired we are still here.

(Martha Jones Bacon, Cont'd.)

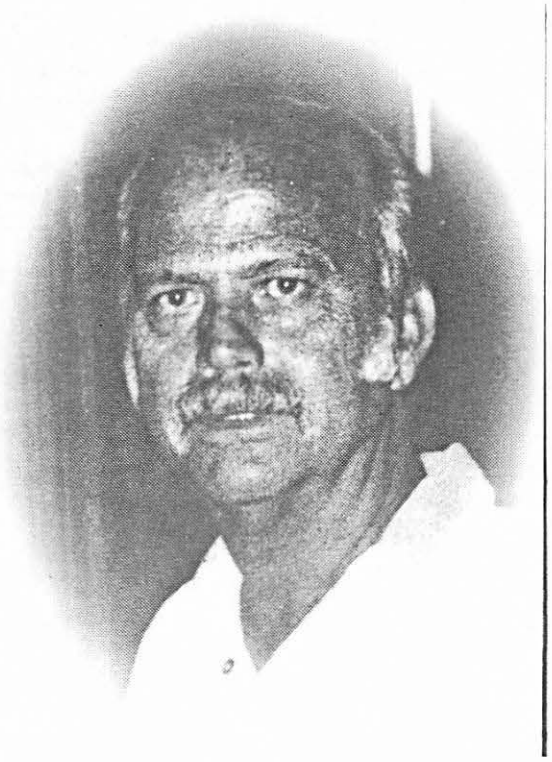
After moving to Warner Robins, I went to the University of Georgia, and received a BFA Degree in Crafts and Arts, taught school at Rumble Junior High for about fourteen years, worked on my family tree, joined the Central Georgia Genealogical Society, later becoming President for a year, co-authored a family history book, helped another cousin with another book, and am presently gathering information on another branch of the family. I no longer teach but I am not bored with retired life either; I have enough to keep me going. And if that isn't enough, we have a granddaughter and a grandson who think "Grannie" can about make or fix anything they break or want made or fixed. Sh-h-h-, don't tell them I can't do everything, and by the time they find out or figure it out, I'll be too old to do all these things anyway.

PEARL GRAHAM DOUGLAS
President - 1985

Pearl Graham Douglas was born 28 September 1941 in Mobile County, Alabama. Her parents are Howard E. and Grace Weaver Graham. Pearl attended school in Mobile County, Alabama.

On 19 September 1958, Pearl married James B. Douglas in Mobile County, Alabama. They have three children: Robyn A., born 20 December 1960 in Mobile Co., Alabama; James B. Douglas, Jr., born 3 February 1964 in Mobile Co., Alabama; and Sharon K., born 17 Feb. 1972 in Warner Robins, Houston Co., Georgia.

Pearl and her family moved on 1 August 1967 from Alabama to Perry, Houston County, Georgia. After living in Perry for two years, they moved during July 1969 to Centerville, Houston County, Georgia. For twenty years they lived in Houston County; then, they moved to Foley, Alabama on 4 August 1987.



JIMMY L. BROWN
President, April 1986 - December 1987

Jimmy Loam Brown was born 20 November 1935 in Dooly County, Georgia, son of William (Willie) Lemuel Brown and Ethel Mikel Brown. He was named for his grandfathers: Jimmy from his mother's father, James Andrew Mikel; and Loam from his father's father, Loam Vitto Brown. Jimmy was the third of four children: two older sisters, Mary Helen and Betty Jean; and younger brother, Bobby Clive. He is the fourth generation of Browns born in Dooly County, Georgia. His ancestors moved from Sumter County, South Carolina to Dooly County around 1830.

His life began as many others living in rural Georgia at that time. His father was a farmer who share cropped and rented land most of his life. During the winter months they cut wood and hauled it to Vienna and Cordele, Georgia, to earn a few dollars for a modest living.

Jimmy's fondest memories of his childhood was sitting around the fireplace in the winter listening to his father tell of the times when he was a child riding in the buggy through the woods at night listening to the panthers screaming like a woman.

Jimmy began his education in September 1940, at the age of five, at Dooly High School. He completed the 11th grade at Dooly High and was accepted in May of 1951 at Martha Berry High School in Rome, Georgia, and attended school there until September 1952. His only regret was not staying at Martha Berry and attending college there.

In November 1952, Jimmy went to Springfield, New Jersey, where he started to work as a short order cook. When his father died in March 1956 of an abdominal aneurysm, Jimmy returned home and went to work in May 1956 At Robins Air Force Base, where he was employed for 25 years. He held several jobs working in Aircraft Engines, Motor Pool, Survival Equipment, Aircraft Fabric, and several different jobs in the Electronic Division of the base.

He met and married Catherine Gallegly of Macon, Georgia. They were married 15 December 1956 in Houston County, Georgia. Catherine was born 9 June 1935 in Calhoun County, Alabama.

(Jimmy L. Brown, Cont'd.)

Jimmy and Catherine have two children: Cynthia Ann, born 25 May 1958; and Charles Michael, born 12 December 1963. They lived in Macon, Bibb County, Georgia, and in Byron, Peach County, Georgia, for the first four years of their marriage. Then, they moved in 1960 to Webb Street, Warner Robins, Georgia, where they presently live.

After Jimmy's Mother died in July 1979 of an abdominal aneurysm, he was shocked in January 1980 to learn that he had one. Jimmy had the surgery in Houston, Texas.

He retired in October 1980 from Robins Air Force Base. At this time he became interested in his family roots, and has traced some of his ancestors back to 1690 in France. Jimmy joined the CGGS in 1984 and was elected First Vice President in 1986. When Dr. Norman resigned in March 1986, he became President and presided for the remainder of his term. He was elected President for 1987.

WILLIAM R. HENRY
President - 1988

William R. Henry was born February 27, 1921 at Plummer, Washington Township, Greene County, IN., the son of William O. Henry and Verna Vay Rogers. He was one of two children. His sister Elizabeth Laurel (Henry) Webb, a widow, was born in 1923 and currently lives in Tampa, Florida.

His birth was in an old log cabin near White River where his father was working as a cook for the railroad while the "105" bridge was being built. It was the nearest place to live and a cook's duties covered long hours each day.

He attended his first two years of school at the old Miller School in the Union Bethel Community north of Bloomfield. Later, when his parents moved back to Plummer, he was sent to the third, fourth, and fifth grades in Lyons, Indiana, where he had to travel about 15 miles each way over mud roads. Being at the start of the bus run, his trip began at 6:30 A.M. and ended around 6:00 P.M. each day. In 1931 his family moved into the town of Bloomfield where he finished his schooling at Bloomfield High School with the class of 1938.

Bill tried football during his sophomore and junior years but he was a little light (125 to 137 pounds) for the team and while in junior spring practice, he withdrew. However, he was active in sandlot baseball and played his heart out.

He took typing and bookkeeping in high school and helped to do a lot of work in the County Recorder's Office with his parents. On graduation he was named by his class as "likely to succeed as a politician." He was sworn in on July 1, 1938 as Deputy County Recorder. The job only lasted six months when the next elected Recorder came to office. Bill worked next at a few odd jobs, helped to paint the High School at Switz City on a NYA project, and worked off and on in a tavern for his uncle, Forest Dixon.

In August 1939, Vernon Patterson and Bill bought mussel license and took two flat boats to Spencer where they were launched. They spent two weeks collecting shells down river to the old covered bridge below Bloomfield.

They had a friendly encounter with old Tom Burke, a negro fisherman and bootlegger, who had years earlier been forced to leave Greene County. They slept in bunks of straw in Tom's cabin, ate fish for breakfast, and listened to many stories he told--not knowing whether to accept them or not. During the trip they would collect mussels for two days and on the third day they would boil out the meat. Meanwhile, they slept on sandbars with only a large canvas for cover.

During July 1940, Frank Dixon, Dorval Emery, and Bill went to Indianapolis to join the service. Dorval was rejected at the downtown recruiting office. Frank and Bill were sent to Fort Benjamin Harrison for processing and enlistment. The processing took several days and about the third morning at roll call, Frank fainted and was sent home.

Bill was accepted for the Army Air Corps on July 20, 1940 and was sent to Maxwell Field, AL for recruit training. In September he was sent to Montgomery Airport (later Gunter AFB, AL), and he became a Military Classification Specialist. He immediately was promoted to Corporal. In May 1941 he was promoted to Sergeant (regular Army) and transferred to Cochran Field, near Macon, Georgia. Immediately after Pearl Harbor, Bill was sent on TDY to Atlanta to help form Experimental Aviation Cadet Examination Board No. 1, and he was soon promoted to S/Sgt. A few months later he was promoted to T/Sgt. and later led a team of Classification Specialists looking for "rare bird" skills at a half dozen bases in Georgia and Florida. Only Bill and Post Sgt. Major Parker remained at Cochran Field (except for TDY) until the base was no longer needed by the Southeastern Training Command. By that time the locator dead file showed over 45,000 had passed through the base.

In May 1945, he was sent to Selma, AL for a few days; hence to Millville, NJ for three months, hence to Gieger Field, WA for training with the Aviation Engineers. While there the separation point status neared 75, and he was sent back to Camp Atterbury, IN as permanent party for the Separation Center. During his stay there, he was in charge of more than 80 men on the processing line covering three shifts. Finally, he was discharged October 25, 1945. He remained in the AF Reserve for many years as a Master Sergeant.

Bill married during the war to Marion Edith Jones at Macon, Georgia. She was the daughter of James Milton Jones and Edith Marion Lampman. Their first daughter, Joan Louise, was born in the base hospital at Cochran Field, GA on August 23, 1944. Their other daughter, Edith Vay (named after both grandmothers), was born in the Macon Hospital on May 26, 1950. Edith Vay's grandmother, Verna Vay (Rogers) Henry, came to see her at Thanksgiving. It was fortunate that she did for the grandmother died less than thirty days later.

When Bill was at Camp Atterbury, Indiana, he, Marion and Joan lived in Government Housing at Freeman Field, Seymour, Indiana. He was offered a CAF-7 to stay at Atterbury but a separation center had only a temporary future and Marion was homesick, so they returned to Macon, GA, where in February 1946, he went to work as a CAF-4 on Robins Air Force Base. He remained there until his retirement in April 1976 as a Supervisory Management Analyst GS-13, with the AFLC Management Engineering Team. During his government service, he was Military Classification Officer, Administrative Assistant to the Troop Commandant, and over 20 years in Manpower. He was very active with development of the LPMS (Logistics Program Management System) in the Air Material Command and made numerous flights to Dayton, OH and Ogden, UT. He also graduated from the MTM (Methods Time Measurement) course developed by the University of Michigan and the Middle Management Executive Course conducted by the University of Georgia.

He was active in veteran and community projects. He rose through American Legion ranks to Commander, Post 172, Warner Robins, Georgia; to Commander Third District of Georgia; and to Chief-de-Gare Middle Georgia Voiture 1145, 40 & 8. He also held numerous State and National Legion committee appointments. During 1961, he wrote the History of Post 172 and his entry won first place in the National contest that year. During the Polio scare of 1955-56, he served as City Chairman for the March of Dimes. During 1957 while Post Commander, he was instrumental in helping Mayor Kemp Harrison obtain the government funds necessary to start a slum clearance project and development program in Warner Robins.

Bill was very interested in electronics. He built a one tube all wave radio during his youth and spent hours listening to stations around the world. He and Marion owned the third known TV set in Warner Robins after World War II. It was a radio adapter model. In late 1940's he studied, designed and built TV antennas that were not yet commercially on the market. He sold and installed many. He was self taught and spent long hours repairing TV's as a hobby. Later, during 1975-77, Bill and Marion operated Henry's TV at 142 Manor Court in Warner Robins, Georgia.

Bill had discovered he had diabetes in 1972, and the stress of building up the TV repair shop was overtaking his health so he sold the business with great reluctance. Two months later in January 1978, he and Marion bought a motorhome and started lengthy travels throughout the US, Canada and Mexico. After five years of travel, they sold the motorhome and decided to stay home.

He, then, became active in Genealogy and joined the Central Georgia Genealogical Society where he now serves as President and Assistant Editor of the Quarterly. In addition to accumulating data on over 8,000 of his and Marion's ancestors, he has researched and written many articles for the Quarterly. He has also abstracted and edited the following books for the Society: 1860 Federal Census of Macon County, GA; 1830, 1840, 1850, 1860 Federal Censuses of Houston County, GA; Houston County , GA Marriage Records 1825-1898; Wills and Inferior Court Minutes of Houston Co., GA 1821-1834; and Early Settlers of Greene County, Indiana (From Southern States).

Marion and Bill maintain their home at 605 Paul Street, Warner Robins, Georgia. They have lived in Warner Robins since 1948. Their daughter, Edith Vay Yaughn, also lives in Warner Robins, but daughter, Joan Louise Heflinger, recently moved from Atlanta, Georgia, to Crawfordsville, Indiana. Marion and Bill have two grandchildren in Atlanta and two in Warner Robins.

SETTLERS FROM SC, GA, AL, MS & LA IN MONROE COUNTY, INDIANA 1850

Contributed by: Mr. William R. HENRY, [redacted]

The following abstracts are taken from the 1850 Federal Census of Monroe County, Indiana. They include individuals and families with one or more in household born in the states of SC, GA, AL, MS & LA. Many of these abstractions reflect a large immigration of Scotch and Irish into South Carolina about 1800, their marriage there, children born there and later migration to Monroe County, Indiana in the 1830's.

GA CONFEDERATE PRISONERS OF WAR AT FORT DELAWARE, WHO DIED AND ARE BURIED AT FINN'S POINT NATIONAL CEMETERY ON THE JERSEY SHORE

In April 1862 Fort Delaware, located on Pea Patch Island in the Delaware River, received its first prisoners of war--a total of 258 Confederate soldiers. By January 1866, when the last prisoner was finally released, 32,305 Confederate prisoners of war had been imprisoned. This total included southern soldiers, officers and political prisoners. Of this number, 2,502 men died on the island. The bodies of 2,406 soldiers and 36 civilians were buried in trenches at Finns Point National Cemetery--including 360 Georgia soldiers. In a war where all prison camps had a bad reputation, Fort Delaware was dreaded above all other Federal prisons, according to one historian. Prevalent diseases there were malaria, pneumonia, scurvy, rheumatism, dysentery, smallpox, and erysipelas. The combination of inadequate shelter, poor diet, insufficient medical care, and no natural water supply didn't provide a healthful housing condition for wounded and physically exhausted men.

(The soldier's rank was Private unless otherwise stated.)

Your Right to Federal Records:

Questions and Answers on the Freedom of Information Act and the Privacy Act

by Wendy L. Elliott, C.G., C.G.L.

Had trouble getting a copy of your relative's social security application? Been denied access to what you feel should be public records? The following information, taken verbatim from a government publication, may provide some of the answers you need.

The text is reproduced from a brochure[1] about the Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) and the Privacy Act of 1974. Based on a question/answer format, it addresses the most frequently asked questions by persons who contact the Federal Information Centers. The footnotes were added by this writer.

The Freedom of Information Act

What information is available under the FOIA?

The FOIA provides access to all federal agency records (or portions of those records) except those which are protected from release by nine specific exemptions . . . . The exemptions cover such material as (1) classified national defense and foreign relations information, (2) internal agency personnel rules and practices, (3) material prohibited from disclosure by another law, (4) trade secrets and other confidential business information, (5) certain inter-agency or intra-agency communications, (6) personnel, medical, and other files involving personal privacy, (7) certain investigatory records compiled for law enforcement purposes, (8) matters relating to the supervision of financial institutions, and (9) geological information on oil wells. . . .

The FOIA does not apply to Congress or the courts, nor does it apply to records of state or local governments. However, nearly all state governments have their own FOIA-type statutes. You may request information about a state's law by writing the attorney general of the state.

The FOIA does not require a private organization or business to release any information directly to the public whether it has been submitted to the government or not. However, information submitted by private firms to the federal government may be available through a FOIA request provided that the information is not a trade secret, confidential business information, or protected by some other exemption.

Under the FOIA you may request and receive a copy of any record that is in an agency's official files and is not covered by one of the exemptions. . . .[2] When you make a FOIA request, you must describe the material you want as specifically as possible. If the agency cannot identify what you have requested with a reasonable amount of effort, it is under no obligation to you. It is not required by the FOIA to do research for you, to compile or analyze data, or to answer questions.

Whom do I contact in the federal government with my request? How do I get the right address?

No one office handles all FOIA requests. Each request for information must be made to the appropriate agency. . . . You may have to do a little research to find the proper office to handle your inquiry, but you will save time in the long run if you send your request directly to the appropriate office. For assistance, you can contact the nearest Federal Information Center (FIC). Located throughout the country, the FICs are specially prepared to help you find the right agency, the right office, and the right address. A list of FIC addresses . . . [follows this article].

How do I request information under the FOIA?

When you get the agency's name and address, write a letter of request to the agency's Freedom of Information Office. (Note on the envelope and at the top of the letter "Freedom of Information Act Request.") Identify the records you want as accurately as possible. Although you do not have to give the document's name or title, your request must reasonably describe the records sought. Any facts or clues which you can furnish about the time, place, persons, events, subject, or other details of the information or records you seek will be helpful to agency personnel in deciding where to search and in determining which records pertain to your request. This can save you and the government time and money and also improve your prospects of getting what you want. . . .

What about costs for getting records under the FOIA?

An agency may charge only for the cost of searching for the material and the cost of making copies for you. Search fees usually range from $4 to $26 per hour; the rates generally reflect salary levels of the personnel needed for the search. The charge for copying letter-size and legal-size pages can be as much as 25 cents apiece, but 10 cents per page is common in most agencies. There is no requirement for uniform fees among the agencies. If you wish to avoid copying charges, you may ask to visit the agency in person to see the records. . .

Some agencies waive charges if the total cost is minimal. This threshold amount varies from $3.00 to $30.00, depending on the agency. You may receive a waiver or reduction of fees if you request it and can show the information you are seeking will, when released, primarily benefit the general public.

How long will it take to answer my request?

Federal agencies are required to answer your request for information within 10 working days of receipt (excluding Saturdays, Sundays, and holidays).[3] If you have not received a reply by the end of that time (be sure to allow for mailing time), you may write a follow-up letter or telephone the agency to ask about the delay.

Sometimes an agency may need more than 10 working days to find the records, examine them, possibly consult other persons or agencies, and decide whether it will disclose the records requested. If so, the agency is required to inform you before the deadline. Agencies have the right to extend this period up to 10 more working days.[4]

A few agencies have received unexpectedly large numbers of requests. If an agency has a backlog of requests that were received before yours and has assigned a reasonable portion of its staff to work on the backlog, the agency usually will handle requests on a first-come, first-served basis and may not respond to all requests within the statutory period.

What happens if the agency refuses to give me the information?

An agency normally will deny an FOIA request only if it has a serious practical problem with granting it, supported by a legal reason for denial (an exemption). If an agency denies your request, it must be able to prove that the information is covered by one of the nine exemptions listed in the Act. The agency must give you the reason for denial in writing and inform you of your right to appeal the decision.[5]

The Privacy Act

What is the Privacy Act?

The federal government compiles a wide range of information on individuals. For example if you were ever in military service or employed by a federal agency, there should be records of your service. If you have ever applied for a federal grant or received a student loan certified by the government, you are probably the subject of a file. There are records on every individual who has ever paid income taxes or received a check from Social Security or Medicare.

The Privacy Act, passed by Congress in 1974, establishes certain controls over what personal information is collected by the federal government and how it is used. The Act guarantees three primary rights: (1) the right to see records about yourself, subject to the Privacy Act's exemptions, (2) the right to amend that record if it is inaccurate, irrelevant, untimely, or incomplete, and (3) the right to sue the government for violations of the statute including permitting others to see your records unless specifically permitted by the Act.

It also provides for certain limitations on agency information practices, such as requiring that information about a person be collected from that person to the greatest extent practicable; requiring agencies to ensure that their records are relevant, accurate, timely and complete; and prohibiting agencies from maintaining information describing how an individual exercises his or her First Amendment rights unless the individual consents to it, a statute permits it, or it is within the scope of an authorized law enforcement investigation.

What information may I request under the Privacy Act?

The Privacy Act applies only to documents about individuals maintained by agencies in the executive branch of the federal government. It applies to these records only if they are in a "system" of records, which means they are retrieved by an individual's name, social security number, or some other personal identifier. In other words, the Privacy Act does not apply to information about individuals in records that are filed under other subjects, such as organizations or events, unless the agency also indexes and retrieves them by individual names or other personal identifiers. Like the FOIA, the Privacy Act does not apply to records held by Congress, the courts, local governments or private organizations (except for the limitation upon the use of the social security account number, which does apply to state and local governments).

There are 10 exemptions to the Privacy Act under which an agency can withhold certain kinds of information from you. Examples of exempt records are those containing classified information on national security or those concerning criminal investigations. Another exemption often used by agencies is that which protects the information that would identify a confidential source. For example, if an investigator questions a person about your qualifications for federal employment and that person agrees to answer only if his identity is protected, then his name or any information that would identify him can be withheld. The 10 exemptions are set out in the Act.[6]

Whom do I contact in the federal government with my request? How do I get the right address?

As with the FOIA, no one office handles all Privacy Act requests. To locate the proper agency to handle your request, follow the same guidelines as for the FOIA.

How do I request information under the Privacy Act?

Write a letter to the agency that you believe may have [the appropriate] file. . . . Address your request to the Privacy Act Officer or head of the agency, such as "Secretary, Department of Health and Human Services." Be sure to write "Privacy Act Request" clearly on both the letter and the envelope.

Most agencies require some proof of identity before they will give you your records. Therefore, it is a good idea to enclose proof of identity (such as a copy of your driver's license) with your full name and address.[7] Do not send the original documents. Remember to sign your request for information, since your signature is a form of identification. (A notarized signature is even better.) If an agency needs more proof of identity before releasing your files, it will let you know.

Give as much information as possible. . . .

What about costs for getting records under the Privacy Act?

Under the Privacy Act, an agency can charge only for the cost of copying records for you, not for time spent locating them. As with the FOIA, you might be able to avoid copying charges by requesting to visit the agency in person to see the records.

How long will it take to answer my request?

Under the terms of the Privacy Act, the agency is not required to reply to a request within a period of time. However, most agencies have adopted the 10-day period in their regulations. If you do not receive any response within 4 weeks or so, you might wish to write again, enclosing a copy of your original request.

Letter to the Editor: Roots Research Bureau, Ltd.

IS YOUR NAME HERE? This question caught my eye, heading an advertisement in a well-known historical magazine (American Heritage, Dec. 1987, pp. 62-63). The question and the introductory paragraphs which followed had a familiar look.

Certain that this was another genealogical "come-on," I nevertheless succumbed to curiosity and shelled out $30.00 for the "History" of one of my family lines, as offered by Roots Research Bureau, Ltd., 39 W. 32 St., N.Y., N.Y. 10001.

I have received the "manuscript" history. It is IDENTICAL in every respect to a "History" of the same name purchased about 1940 from the Media Research Bureau, Washington, D.C., for $2.00. It was not even updated; the last references are for 1939. It was accompanied by the same "goodies" included in the Media mailing: an essay on "Why You Have a Family Name and What it Means," a brochure on "The Romance of Coats of Arms," and an 8-generation, fan-shaped blank genealogy chart. The 8 typed (double-spaced) pages of "history" and the 8 typed pages on "Why . . . the family name" are stapled into a black heavy paper cover with silver trim and title. . . .

The 1987 advertisement states that the material can be returned if it is not satisfactory, but I am keeping it as proof of this newest "scam."

I was very much the amateur in 1940, and sent for two of the name histories from the Media Bureau. They were interesting to me as background but of no help in my own research, and I did not send for any others.

Unlike the Beatrice Bayley and similar books, this Roots series does NOT include a short course on how to do research. . . .

While the advertisement does not state specifically that the "manuscript" will be a history of the purchaser's own family, it says that "if your surname is listed you should have your manuscript."

The statement that the research has been done "over a period of years," is certainly misleading in that evidently nothing has been done since about 1940.

The $30.00 fee is ridiculous. For that amount per each name sought, a researcher could purchase some "how-to" books (even a hard-back), attend some seminars, explore libraries, subscribe to magazines, join a genealogical society, and even--if there are enough names to be researched--enroll in the National Genealogical Society's "American Genealogy" course!

Shirley Baughman O'Leary

[Editor's note: Mrs. O'Leary has sent us copies of the advertisements run by Media Research Bureau in the early 1940s. They are virtually identical to those being placed currently by Roots Research Bureau, Ltd. The principal differences are that Roots Research Bureau's prices are considerably higher and that a money-back guarantee has been added.]

Genealogical Societies Invited to Enter Third Newsletter Competition

Genealogical societies throughout the United States are invited to enter their newsletters in the 1988 NGS Genealogical Newsletter Competition.

Entries will be especially welcome from societies that have not previously entered the competition and from societies that have entered previously and have subsequently made improvements in their newsletters.

A society wishing to enter its newsletter must complete an official entry form and submit it with six copies each of two consecutive issues of its newsletter published during 1988. The deadline for entries is 31 December 1988.

The winning society in each of the three competition classes will receive a certificate, a year's membership in the National Genealogical Society, and the opportunity to have an article featuring its programs, activities, and publications published in the NGS Newsletter. The winners will be announced at the NGS Conference in the States in St. Paul, Minnesota, in May 1989 and in the May-June issue of the NGS Newsletter.

Further information about the competition and an entry form appear on the following pages. Additional forms may be obtained by writing to NGS headquarters.

TAYLOR

Could a white man named JOE TAYLOR have been married to a slave, or had a son by her named LEE or ROBERT TAYLOR, b. Bibb Co., GA? The boy did not appear in the 1860 census, at which time it is believed Joe was dead. Would it be because ROBERT's mother was a slave?

ROBERT or LEE TAYLOR was b. 6-1854 in Bibb Co., GA. and was counted in the Henry Co., GA. census of 1910, as well as 1900. In 1911 he was living in Butts Co., GA where he owned land until at least 1922. Have been told that there was a TAYLOR cemetary in Henry CO.

Can anyone offer records of JOE TAYLOR and his marriage to a slave, or proof that she bore him a son named LEE or ROBERT TAYLOR? Will exchange information, pay cost of postage and copies.

CHANCY/CHAUNCEY, JONES, BALDWIN, WHITFIELD.

Of my CHANCY ancestors of Bladen and Columbus Coc, NC, four CHANYs came into Georgia. Two were brothers of my gggrandfather NEILL CHANCY, b 1808, d 1881; Neill's oldest brother, JOHN CHANCY, b 30 Oct 1799, Bladen Co., NC; and EDMUND CHANCY, b 17 Apr 1805. The other two were also brothers of my gggrandfather SAMUEL CHANCY, B 27 Jan 1798, Bladen Co. NC. His brothers were NATHAN CHANCY, b before SAMUEL. and his brother AMOS CHANCY, b 1800 Bladen Co., NC. I'm not sure but I think all four were at one time in Houston Co. GA. One may ask why I had TWO gggrandfathers named CHANCY. My mother's paternal grandparents were WILLIAM HENRY CHANCY, b 28 Feb 1832, Columbus Co., NC, first son born to SAMUEL CHANCY and his wife, JULIA ANN JONES, a daughter of SIMON JONES. My mother's maternal grandparents were NEILL CHANCY, b 7 May 1808. and his wife, ELIZABETH BALDWIN, b 14 Jan 1809, a daughter of JAMES BALDWIN. WILLIAM HENRY and his youngest brother, STEPHAN LLOYD CHANCY, married sisters. I was told of this in 1976 by my first cousin twice removed, LAMB WINFRED CHAUNCEY, SR, b Apr 1880. He said, "Uncle Henry & Uncle Stephan married sisters, same name, chancy, but of another set, of no kin, 'from up around Clarkston way.'

NATHEN CHANCY died in GA before his father, JOHN, in 1846, Columbus Co., NC, leaving several children. AMOS CHANCY, I believe, moved into Alabama. He also has several children. JOHN CHANCY, I believe, was appointed Administrator of EDMOND CHANCY's estate. According to The Christian Index of 21 Aug 1830, one "E. CHAUMCY, stated, "Died 17 Aug 1830, Houston Co., GA. Married four months, suicide because of matrimonial disagreement, shot self through head."

I would like to contact any descendants of these four herefore named CHANCYs to share information concerning these CHANCYs. All letters will be answered without delay.

NARRATIVE TO THE PRESBYTERY OF AUGUSTA

Greeting: The Milledgeville Church has not during the year just closed been blessed with any marked manifestations of the Holy Spirit's presence, but the Session is happy to report that there have been many evidences of His gentle ministrations. One aged brother has come, after many years, and with a penitent heart has sought and obtained restoration to the Church. Several others have been led to cast in their lot with God's people, five of them from the Sunday School. Many have been drawn into a more excellent way of living. All sure signs that the Spirit has been in the Word and in the heart of God's children.

Cont'd.

The pastor has rightly divided the Word from Sabbath to Sabbath, giving to each his portion. The people have gladly heard the truth; many pondering it in their hearts and illustrating it in their lifes. The Elders and Deacons have, as a rule, been diligent and efficient in the discharge of their official obligations.

So far as we know, our members are consistent in their attendance upon the preaching of the Word, especially at the morning services. The night and prayer meeting services are not so well attended. Our people are liberal in contributing of their substance to the support of the gospel. The Session would particularly acknowledge the fidelity and zeal of the two auxiliary societies of the Church, the Ladies Aid, and the Ladies Foreign Missionary Societies. These earnest Christian women are full of faith and good works.

We suppose the Sabbath is observed with about the same degree of reverence by our people as is common among Presbyterian churches.

Our church is free from intemperance and worldy amusements to a marked degree.

Nothing is due on the pastor's salary. For reasons well known to the Presbytery no effort is made to preach the gospel to the negroes.

As the report will show, the children of the church largely attend the Sunday School. Some of the elders are teachers in the school, and the pastor was always present until other engagements demanded his presence elsewhere.

Since our last report the Session and the Church have been called to mourn the loss of an Elder and a Deacon beloved, in the persons of Dr. I. L. Harris and Weems Nisbet. But in our sorrow we have the comfort which comes from the assurance that our brethren have been called from labor to refreshment. Each a valiant soldier in the church militant, he has laid down his armour at the feet of the Savior and been given a crown of rejoicing in the church triumphant.

As our ranks have been thinned by the great reaper, others have been called to the work. The mantle of fathers, beloved by the Lord, have fallen upon their sons, one of whom bears this greeting to the Court of the Lord, freighted with our united prayers that His benedictions may rest upon the labors of our Fathers and Brethren.

Meeting closed with benediction. W. E. Reynolds, Clerk

North Carolina State Archives

Search and Handling Fee

Since October 1978 the North Carolina State Archives has required the payment of a Search and Handling Fee before replying to inquiries received from researchers living in states other than North Carolina.

Present fee is $5.00 for each inquiry about one record or one person's record.

The Search and Handling Fee is to accompany the request for information, and will be in addition to any cost that may be involved in copying a record. Mailed payments should be by check or money order rather than cash. Please make check payable to North Carolina Department of Cultural Resources. The report of the search will include a statement of copying costs.

Over the years the archives has created and made nationally available various lists, indexes, and abstracts. Many researchers throughout the nation consult these and other lists, indexes, and abstracts, and consider that the information obtained (which is frequently out-of-date) is sufficient search. What the North Carolina State Archives considers a search involves locating the actual record, examining it to determine what form of copying and how many copies it will require to reproduce the record, flagging the record for subsequent copying, making a reply on a standard form, and subsequently processing the order for a copy. If the search is negative, this process concludes with the original search and negative report. The Search and Handling Fee helps defray the cost to the taxpayers of North Carolina in rendering this service to non-residents of the state.

The search for records and the copying of records are two separate processes and must be paid for separately. Researchers are requested NOT to add an estimated cost of copying in their check paying the Search and Handling Fee. ESTIMATED PAYMENTS MUST BE RETURNED, thus delaying a reply to the researcher's inquiry. The Archives is neither authorized nor staffed to engage in genealogical research.

1. The Archives CAN respond to requests for records such as:

   a. Do you have record of Revolutionary War (or Confederate) service by Elijah Coor of Craven County?

   b. Do you have a marriage bond for Elijah Coor and Grace Jones, c1800?

   c. Do you have a will or estate record for Elijah Coor of Craven County, c1840?

   d. Does the 1850 Census Index for N.C. report the surname Coor?

   e. Does the record of probate of the will of Elijah Coor appear in the Craven County court minutes for May Term 1840?

2. The Archives CANNOT respond to requests for genealogical research and general research such as:

   a. Who were the parents of Elijah Coor born in Craven County c1755?

   b. Who were the children of Elijah Coor of Craven County, 1800-1840? (Ask instead for a will or estate and hope that the children will be named there.)

   c. Please search for the brothers and sisters of Elijah Coor of Craven County during the last half of the eighteenth century.

   d. Please send me a copy of all the Coor wills (or estate records, or marriage bonds, or any other series of records) found in the Craven County records in your custody.

   e. Please send me anything about Elijah Coor, Craven County, 1755-1840. (A specific record must be requested.) Cont'd.

3. There are three standard sources checked by the Archives when searching for the service record of a Revolutionary War or Civil War soldier. REVOLUTION: Revolutionary Army accounts; Revolutionary War vouchers; and The Colonial and State Records of North Carolina. (Since Revolutionary War pension applications are federal records, researchers will write to the National Archives, Washington, D. C., 20408, for the information.) CIVIL WAR: Civil War pension applications; Moore's Roster of North Carolina Troops in the War Between The States; and North Carolina Troops, 1861-1865: A Roster. The three sources are always checked for each inquiry for a service record, and it is not necessary to request a search for each of the sources individually.

4. The Archives continues to follow its longstanding practice of answering one specific question about one record or one person's record in one letter.

New Hope Baptist Church

Jones County, Georgia

New Hope Baptist Church was constituted on 6 February 1813 on Caney Creek in Jones County, Georgia. The Presbytery at constitution meeting were Brethren Joel Willis, Abraham Brown, and William Jones. John Bayne served as constitution clerk. The following membership roll was copied from the original Minutes of the church on 16 May 1977. These original minutes are in possession of Mr. Willie Jarrell, Jarrell Plantation, Jones County, Georgia. The church is still in operation and stands about three miles Northeast of Dames Ferry. Mr. Jarrell also has later membership rolls.

The following persons came into New Hope Baptist Church during 1813-1846. They are listed here as in the original membership list, thus are in the order in which they were received. The membership turn over was rapid. Most who came in left within a few months or years. This was due to the fast immigration of people westward at that time. It does not appear that there were more than fourty members of the church at any particular time. For the most part these people all have dimissed written beside their names. A few had deceased written after their names. Those so listed are recorded as being deceased in this copy.

CHAMBERS – USSERY CEMETERY

Contributed by: Bobby F. STOKES, [redacted]

This cemetery is in Jones County on formerly, the Old Mitchell home place. It might be found by traveling 1.1 miles north of the entrance to the restored Jarrell Plantation on the River Road (East Juliette to Macon). Stop at a driveway, which went to an old house site on the west side of the road. The drive is now overgrown to some extent. Walk along the drive for about 300 yards, to its end and turn immediately southward into a grove of large hardwoods. This large cemetery will be seen. It likely dates to before 1850.

A visit was made to this location on 3 May 1987 by Thomas Mitchell, a native, who was reared on the property and has known of the existance of this cemetery for over 70 years; William C. Yarbrough, Sr., who is related to the Mitchells and Bobby F. Stokes, an historian.

Mr. Thomas Mitchell said there were over fifty graves in this cemetery and judging from the number of sinks and rocks, it appears that he is correct. He said there were several people buried here during the influenze epidemic of 1917 and 1918 and that the last burial, he could recall, occured in 1932, when a Chambers lady, who lived in Juliette, died.

John Ussery; 10 Nov. 1830 - 17 Nov. 1904

Zach. Ussery; 11 Jun. 1835 - 7 Mar. 1907 (This tombstone is standing with half of a large cedar tree laying wedged on either side. The tree split in half, over the stone when it fell, but left the marker standing.) Thomas Mitchell said that this Zach. Ussery had a son, Zach Ussery, Jr., whom he recalls living in the area when he was a boy.

There is a thick, low, oval top, granite monument, which has been dislocated from its pedestal, but is still upright near the head of a cement slabbed grave. Only the family name "CHAMBERS" is engraved on this monument. There is a foot stone standing with the initials T. B. C. inscribed.

There are numerous sinks in the ground indicating graves, some with rocks at head and foot and others where there is little or no discernible sinks but with rock at head and/or foot. No accurate count could be made. There was one very old grave seen, which formerly had a rock wall around it, perhaps 18 inches or more high. It is now torn down, for the most part, and the rock scattered around.

A search of Hart's Mortuary records was made covering April 1915 through 1946, oldest still in existance, looking for people who were probably buried in this cemetery. Only one name was found: Chambers and Ussery surnames checked only. Mrs. T. B. Chambers, died 21 July 1920, buried at Juliette. This cemetery would be on the Juliette mail route and it appears that she is the wife of the person buried where the monument is inscribed Chambers on the head and the footstone inscribed T. B. C. and it appears from marriages that she was Nancy Ussery before marriage.

PETERS CEMETERY

Contributed by: Bobby F. STOKES, [redacted]

There is every good reason to believe that Nathaniel Peters and Anna or Anne Peters, parents of Baalam Peters, and Lawsey Pitts, wife of Baalam Peters, are buried in three of the unmarked graves in the Peters Cemetery.

The following information is added from sources, other than the cemetery, on the Peters family:

Baalam Peters married Lawsey Pitts on 28 Dec. 1820 by Alexander Cadenhead, J.P. The license is recorded in Book A, page 110, Jones County, Georgia Marriages.

The 1850 Federal Census of Jones County shows the Baalam Peters household as follows:

House 557:

Baalam Peters, age 50, male, farmer, real estate $2,575, born in N.C.
Lawsey Peters, age 44, female, born in S.C.
Nathaniel Peters, age 77, male, born in N.C.
Anna Peters, age 70, female, born in N.C.

Baalam Peters held the office of Tax Collector for Jones County during the following periods: 12 Jan.1835 to 9 Jan.1836; 21 Jan.1839 to 10 Jan.1840, and 25 Jan.1841 to 22 Jan.1848. He was also a Justice of the Peace for a number of years in the 12th land district.

His Will, signed on 15 Dec. 1856 and proven on 6 Feb. 1857 in Ordinary Court of Jones County, indicates he had no living children at the time of his death. His wife, Lawsey Pitts, and mother, Anne Peters, were alive and mentioned in his will. There is no mention of his father, Nathaniel Peters, who had likely died between 1850, when the census was taken, and 5 Dec. 1856, when the will was signed.

Montgomery County is one of the oldest counties in Texas. It was formed in 1836 from Washington County and boarders the north side of Harris County in which the city of Houston is located.

Members of the Society appear to have made a complete search of marriage records by publishing those found as loose papers and never entered in the marriage record book. The book on Probate Minutes also implies that all possible genealogical information was abstracted as frequent reference to land locations and people in other counties and states are included, as well as land grants from the Mexican Government and the Republic of Texas, names of negroes, etc. With exception of the book on Bible Records all surnames were in capital letters for ease of identy.

The book on West Virginia cemeteries is most desirable by the library we support. West Virginia is one of the southern and eastern states of primary interest for acquisition of publications.

Many other publication, in additional to the above, are available from the Montgomery County Genealogical Society. Write to them at the above address for a complete list.

HISTORY OF POPLAR SPRINGS NORTH BAPTIST CHURCH, Laurens County, Georgia, 1807-1988, by R. M. Johnson. Hardcover, 8.5 x 11-inches, 359 pages, indexed, $28.00 postpaid. Order from the church, Route 1, Box 137, Dublin, GA 31021

Established by the first white settlers in this area, Poplar Springs has continued to grow and to bless the lives of the people in that area. This volume is not limited to the events that occurred within the church but rather records the life of the church as it related to the general history and development of Laurens County and the Baptist denomination as a whole.

Included are numerous quotations from the church minutes which are extant from the day of organization, examples of early Baptist practices, a list of all who have been members, a list of slave members, a list of grave markers in the cemetery, a list of all the pastors, and biographical sketches of selected members and pastors. Anyone doing genealogical or historical research in this area will find much of interest in this book.

Quotations from the actual records of the church are of little value since the names of the individuals involved were left out. Another volume is needed which would give the actual records of the church exactly as they appear in the minutes. This would be of great value to all researchers.

SYNONOMOUS AND ANONYMOUS - A GENEALOGICAL NIGHTMARE ?

Many, many years ago when I was twenty-three,
I was married to a widow who was pretty as could be,
This widow had a grown-up daughter who had hair of red,
My father fell in love with her and soon they too were wed.

This made my DAD my son-in-law and changed my very life,
For my daughter was my mother 'cause she was my father's wife,
To complicate the matter, even though it brought me joy,
I soon became the father of a bouncing baby BOY!!

My little baby then became the brother-in-law to dad,
And so became my uncle, though it made me very sad,
For if he was my uncle then it also made him brother
To the widow's grown-up daughter, who of course was my stepmother!!!

Father's wife then had a son who kept him on the run,
And he became my grandchild for he was my daughter's son,
My wife is now my mother's mother and it makes me blue
Because, although she is my wife, she's my grandmother, TOO!!

If my wife is my grandmother then I'm her grandchild,
And evertime I think of it, it nearly drives me wild,
For now I have become the strangest case you ever saw,
As husband of my grandmother, I AM MY OWN GRANDPAW!!!!

It is believed that her entire life was spent in Macon Co., GA, probably Oglethorpe, GA.

It is fairly well established that SUSAN GREER, b. 1813, was her mother and that her mother m. a WILLIAMS. She is not listed as a child of NEWTON WILLIAMS and his wife, SUSAN, and I have not found her in 1850 census records.

Good sources say she was not related to RICHMOND WILLIAMS, b. 1832, but was first cousin to his wife, JANE McKENZIE, and that she was a second cousin to MAMIE McKENZIE, who m. C. A. SHEALY. She or her husband was related to CATHERINE BEVERLY, b. 1858, wife of COLUMBUS McKENZIE.

She was also related to ALLEN H. GREER and JOHN McKENZIE GREER, twins b. 1819, and ROBERT LEE GREER b. 1865.

Who was the father of SARAH ELIZABETH WILLIAMS and where was she in 1850?

How was this GREER family related to the McKENZIE family? Was SUSAN GREER, b. 1813, a sister to CHARLOTTE GREER, b. 1810, who m. HARDY McKENZIE, and to the twins mentioned above?

I hope that some descendant of these people will have knowledge of my SARAH ELIZABETH WILLIAMS and advise me. I will then try to unscramble the GREERS, if I find SUSAN. I will appreciate your help very much.

RECENT ACQUISITIONS AT WASHINGTON MEMORAL LIBRARY

POLICY: The Central Georgia Genealogical Society, Inc., during 1987 discontinued the maintenance of a Society Library. The holdings in our Library were small and duplicated publications held in the Genealogical and Historical Room, Washington Memoral Library, Macon, GA which has one of the largest collections in the southeast. The Macon Library is centrally located within the 27 county jurisdiction of our society and can far better serve our membership. All publications previously held were presented to Willard L. ROCKER, Head Librarian at the Genealogical and Historical Room. All publication received by our society as gifts, donations, by exchange programs or for book reviews will be presented to the same library. For the past year it has been our policy to support the Macon Library particularly in the acquisition of microfilms of early county records within our jurdisctional area. We hope to expand our support as future conditions permit. As a service to our membership, this column will list the acquisition of all records since the previous Quarterly. Inquiries with SASE (business size) may be addressed to the library at 1180 Washington Ave., Macon, GA 31201.

NOTE: The genealogical collection of this library contains 16,000 books, 5000 microfilms, 1500 microfiche and 66 subscriptions. The library serves 10,000 visitors annually. During 1987 they came from 37 states, DC, and 4 foreign countries. This is our initial listing and begins with those records received in the previous three months period.

OLD BETHEL METHODIST CHURCH CEMETERY

Crawford County, Georgia

Contributed by: Delores Boyer Smith, [redacted]

Mrs. Smith is church-secretary of the Bethel Methodist Church which was established in 1849. The old cemetery is approximately 9 miles east of Knoxville. Is located near a power line crossing into woods on the west side of the dirt portion of Causey Road about 3 miles south of US Highway 80 and about 1 1/2 miles north of State Highway 42. The old cemetery is difficult to find and is not presently marked. The land for the old church and cemetery was donated by Vincent Nichols and burials were made between 1866 and 1939. This list contains 156 identified graves and there are 64 known graves (some with blank headstones) yet to be identified. The present church and new cemetery is located on Sandy Point Road.

Missing Names 1820 Federal Census

Pulaski County, Georgia

Copyright 1988 Robert Scott Davis, Jr.

Contributed by: Robert S. DAVIS, Jr., [redacted]

The 1820 federal census of Georgia is a regular chamber of horros. The complete returns for the counties of Franklin, Rabun, and Twiggs are lost. Many names are found to have been missed in other counties like Columbia. In the Hall county return five names are almost impossible to read because they are in the binding or on worn out edges of the pages. More than a dozen names in the return for Montgomery County appear as little more than ink smears and are illegible to anyone not very familiar with the names in the county. Similar problems must also exist for other county returns as well. Names omitted by census takers or which could not be read from the microfilm of the 1820 census do not, of course, appear in the two state-wide indexes to the 1820 census of Georgia. Researchers attempting to locate people in the 1820 census of Georgia should supplement their search by also checking the following:

Martha Walters Acker, Franklin County, Georgia Tax Digests, 1798-1823 (4 vols., Birmingham, the Author, 1982).

Lanette O. Faulk and Billy W. Jones, The History of Twiggs County, Georgia Sesquicentenial, 1809-1959 (Easley, SC: Southern Historical Press, 1969). Includes the 1818 tax digest.

Louise Frederick Hays, Georgia Military Affairs, 1775-1842 (1940). Nine volumes of indexed typescripts at the Georgia Department of Archives and History.

Judy Kratovil, An Index to War of 1812 Service Records for Volunteer Soldiers From Georgia (Atlanta: the Author, 1986).

Silas Emmett Lucas, Jr., The 1820 and 1821 Land Lotteries of Georgia (Easley, SC: Southern Historical Press, 1973).

Dorothy Williams Potter, Passports of Southeastern Pioneers 1770-1823 (Baltimore: the Author, 1982).

Kenneth Scott, British Aliens in the United States During the War of 1812 (Baltimore: Genealogical Publishing Company, 1979).

R. J. Taylor, Jr. Foundation, An Index to Georgia Tax Digests, 1789-1817 (5 vols., Spartanburg: The Reprint Company, 1986).

Victor R. Myrick, Census Records 1830 through 1860 Pulaski and Bleckley Counties (Cochran: the Author, 1976).

The return for Pulaski County for 1820 has many names too faint to read on the microfilm. Reproduced below are the names found in the 1820 census of Pulaski County as read off the original document in the National Archives in Washington, DC.

2 Oct.1899 Session met and opened with prayer. Present: Rev. D.W. BRANNEN, Mod'r.; Elders W.G. HAWKINS, L.C. HALL and Wm. E. REYNOLDS. Moderator reported that the way seemed not to be open for the establishment of a Sunday School at Midway. After some consideration of the lack of interest shown in the Sunday School the pastor was instructed to see the officers of the church in person and request each one to attend a meeting in the interest of the school. Elder REYNOLDS was appointed principal and Elder HALL alternate commissioners to the fall meeting of Presbytery. Closed with prayer. Wm. E. REYNOLDS, Clerk.
9 Oct.1899 Session meeting in Dr. HALL's office. Narrative report to Presbytery meeting to be in Bethany church was adopted:

There has not been any special outpouring of the Holy Spirit upon our church and congregation since the spring meeting of the Presbytery. The pastor and members of the church have joined with other churches of the city in revival services at different times, and many have thus been blessed. Ten persons have been received since the last report, nine on profession of faith and one by letter from the M.E. Church, South.

Our people attend upon the stated services of the sanctuary with commendable regularity, and we believe these services are blessed of God to the spiritual upbuilding of his people. A few of our people neglect the ordinance of the Lord's Supper.

The pastor is faithful and zealous in meeting his official obligations, and the elders and deacons regard with concern their duties, meeting most of them with fidelity.

The Sunday School seems not to be doing the best work, owing to lack of interest on the part of the adult membership. One elder is a teacher in the school and two attend it with some degree of regularity.

All of the Assembly's causes are regularly presented from the pulpit and the collections taken. As far as we know our people give liberally to the support of the Gospel. The pledge and envelope system is in use. The plan works smoothly and yields good results. Nothing is due on the pastor's salary.

The church is not troubled with intemperance. It is likewise in large measure free from doubtful worldly amusements. A few of our young people are inclined to dance.

No effort is made toward the religious teaching of the colored people.

Wm. E. REYNOLDS, Clerk.

On motion of Elders W.G. HAWKINS and Wm.E. REYNOLDS were appointed to notify Mr. A.F. SKINNER that the Session has taken official cognizance of his failure to attend upon any of the religious services, and in a kindly Christian spirit to remonstrate with him for this long-continued neglect of a plain and positive Christian duty. The committee was instructed to ascertain the brother's mind and his intentions on the premises, and report the result of their finding at the next meeting. The pastor was also appointed on this committee, to act with the two elders or not as he might think best. Closed with the benediction. Wm. E. REYNOLDS, Clerk.
22 Oct.1899 Session met at call of Moderator. The Moderator announced the death of James LAMAR, a member of this church, in New Orleans. A letter of dismission was granted to Mrs. John W. SUPPLE to connect herself with the Eatonton Pres. Church. Miss Anna L. RITCHIE was examined and received in the communion upon a profession of faith. John HARRIS was received by letter from the Tatnall Square Presbyterian Church, Macon. Mrs. George EDWARDS appeared before the Session and after examination was received into full fellowship of the church upon a profession of her faith in Christ.
29 Oct.1899 Miss Virginia Lee PATTON was examined and received upon profession of faith.
5 Nov.1899 Mr. Dudley Roberts HAWKINS was received on Prof. of faith.
17 Nov.1899 Session meeting; Mrs. F.R. STEDMAN was granted a certificate of dismission to join the Pres. Church at Eastman, Georgia. The pastor reported the committee appointed to wait on Mr. A.F. SKINNER with regard to his non-attendance upon any of the church services had by note requested an interview with Mr. SKINNER, and that he had declined to meet the committee. The pastor was requested to see Mr. SKINNER, final action being postponed until that could be done. The pastor by request tendered the resignation of Mr. Geo. C. SMITH as Superintendent of the Sunday School. On motion of elder REYNOLDS action was postponed until next Wednesday afternoon.

22 Nov.1899 Session meeting: On again taking up the matter of Mr. G.C. SMITH's resignation from the Superintendency of the Sunday School, Elder HALL reported that Mr. SMITH had requested him to act as Supt. during his (Mr. SMITH's) sickness and that he had consented to do so. Upon this statement from Mr. HALL the matter was dropped. Closed with benediction. Wm.E. REYNOLDS, Clk.
7 Dec.1899 Mr. Clayton Woods ROBINSON presented himself before Session and after examination was received into full communion and fellowship of this church. Adjourned with prayer. Wm. E. REYNOLDS, Clerk.

REPORT ON YOUNG PEOPLE'S SOCIETIES

Name of Society "Loving Service"; Number of Members 35

NARRATIVE TO THE PRESBYTERY

Attendance upon the services of the sanctuary has shown an improvement over the preceeding Presbyterial year. This is especially true of the night and prayer meeting services.

The family altar is raised in some houses, in others, it is sadly neglected.

The Lord's Day is observed with the average fidelity, but the spirit of consecrated service is not universal, or even general.

The children of the church are systematically trained in the Scriptures and Catechisms, but this training is largely left to the Sabbath School. In very few homes is the study of either a requirement.

Our people are liberal in giving to the support and extension of the gospel. All of the Assembly's causes are regularly presented and the collections taken with the majority of our members giving to the Lord in an act of worship. Nothing is due on the pastor's salary - the same being paid promptly, regularly and fully.

The presence of God's Spirit is more or less felt in nearly every service. Conversions throughout the year, without any special protracted services or organized effort, furnish conclusive proof that the preaching of the Word is in the power and demonstration of the spirit.

Worldly conformity does not prevail among our members. In rare instances the Session has noted a low standard of Christian living.

Until recently our pastor preached regularly in the country some eight miles south of Milledgeville, having been forced by work in the Sabbath School to give up the appointment.

Wm. E. REYNOLDS, Clerk

6 Apr.1900 Examined and Approved, Eatonton, Georgia, D. W. BRANNEN, Mod'r.

29 Apr.1900 Miss Mamie RILEY presented herself before the Session as a candidate for church membership. After a satisfactory examination she was received into full fellowship.

MEMORIAL OF J. FRANK WILSON

J. F. WILSON was born in Atlanta, Georgia on 25 February 1852. At an early age, he removed with his parents to Baldwin, County where most of his entire life, subsequently, was spent. We know but little of his childhood. It was at the period of life where the boy merges into the man, that some members of your committee became acquainted with him.

Truth impels us to say that he was an unusal young man, in the strength of his moral nature. Genial, companionable, entering with hearty zest into the recreation and engagements of young men, and welcomed by them, yet to a marked degree far from the indiscretions and frivolities sometimes too common to that age.

Late in life, as in his youth, he was an unassuming man, and by reason of this natural modesty, may have failed to impress the mind of the casual acquaintance with his unquestioned capability, and power to grasp, in an eminent degree, the details of affairs. To his intimate friends this was well known and later publicly recognized.

No man of his generation, probably, gave as great promise of a useful development of the material resources of the section in which he lived.

One of the marked characteristics of his nature was his entire unselfishness. His heart was ever filled with sympathy and tenderness for those bowed under the burden of misfortune and sorrow. To such he was always the friend.

It is natural in a man like this that the greatest manifestation of his character should be called out by responsibility resting upon him, as a husband and father.

His life in this relation was ideal. No cares of business, or other duties of life diverted his thoughts from the greater, and more sacred trust, of wife and children.

Regarding his life retrospectively, his early trials, and the many difficulties that he had to surmount his final triumph over all, and the honorable place that he made for himself in the hearts and memories of his friends, is the best evidence of his great worth.

Subsequent to his connecting himself with the Milledgeville Presbyterian Church in 1867 [23 Oct.1867] he was made Deacon, which official position, he zealously and ably filled, without reproach, until his death on 22 Dec. 1899.

As a Christian, humility, veneration for matters sacred, purity of mind, and on all comprehensive charity for the short comings of his fellow man, distinguished him.

Should we disregard this truth that, "God doesth all things well," his death would appear to us untimely, cut off in the high noon of his powers and usefulness.

It is impossible for us not to lament the removal, from our midst, of such a man, although we believe he has entered upon that better life, which is the ultimate expectation and hope of us all.

G. C. McKINLEY, Chmn.

5 May 1900 Miss Martha ROBSON appeared before Session, and upon satisfactory examination was received into full communion with the church. Miss Mattie SIBLEY presented herself before Session as a candidate for membership. After a satisfactory examination she was received into full fellowship. Miss Virginia Lee PATTON was given a certificate of Dismission to Join the Presbyterian Church at Calhoun, Georgia.
12 May 1900 The Clerk's action is sending certificate of dismission to Mrs. Charles W. BOWEN to unite with 1st Pres. Church, Augusta, Georgia was approved. Mrs. K. P. HAWKINS was received by letter from the Milledgeville M.E. Church, South. Elder W.G. HAWKINS, chairman of committee appointed to advise with Mr.

W.E. HENDRICKS about his spiritual condition submitted an oral report that he had performed the duty. The report was adopted and the committee continued.

10 Jun.1900 Mr. Jas. L. SIBLEY and wife, Mrs. Mattie Irwin SIBLEY, were, upon satisfactory evidence presented to the Session, received from the Christian Church. The pastor was, on motion, requested to write to Rev. W.G. WOODWORTH, at Tampa City, Florida with reference to the reception into the Pres. Church there of Mr. Ed. WYNN, who has not been dismissed from this church. Session joined in a free conversation on the subject of missionary work in Wilkinson county during the summer. The clerk was instructed to make application to the Presbyterial Committee on Home Missions for a donation of books and other church literature for use in prosecuting this work.

23 Oct.1900 Session met at call of the Moderator; opened with prayer. Elder G.E. McKINLEY was appointed principal and Elder W.G. HAWKINS alternate commissioner to the Synod. On motion the Clerk was instructed to order from the Committee on Publications seventy-five [75] copies of "Robison's Hymnal"- fifty copies without notes and twenty-five copies with notes. Closed with benediction.

10 Sep.1900 Session met at call of Moderator. Present Rev. D.W. BRANNEN, Mod'r.; Elders W.G. HAWKINS, G.C. McKINLEY, L.C. HALL and Wm. E. REYNOLDS. Opened with prayer. Pastor reported that he had communicated by letter with Rev. W.G. WOODWORTH, Pastor Presbyterian Church, Tampa, Florida in reference to the reception of Mr. Ed WYNN without his having a letter of dismission from this church. Pastor reported on the Missionary work he had done in Wilkinson County during the past summer, as follows: Established three Sunday Schools; distributed twenty-five [25] Bibles and testaments, together with twenty-five dollars worth of church literature. Elder REYNOLDS was appointed to prepare an article for Union & Recorder, giving notice to the community of the approaching meeting of Synod. Pastor was instructed to appoint a committee on homes for commissioners to Synod and to announce the same from the pulpit next Sunday. Closed with Benediction. Wm. E. REYNOLDS, Clerk of Session.

2 Dec.1900 Session met at call of Moderator; present Rev. D.W. BRANNEN, Mod'r. Elders W.G. HAWKINS, E.P. LANE, and Wm. E. REYNOLDS. Opened with prayer. On motion the Clerk was instructed to write the Committee on Publication at Richmond and propose to eschange [16] sixteen copies of "Robinson's Hymnal" with notes for thirty-two [32] copies of same book without notes. Mrs. M.R. HARRIS and Mr. N.A. HARRIS were received upon certificate from Tatnall Square Pres. Church, Macon, Georgia. Closed with Benediction.

IDENTIFYING PHOTOGRAPHS

Contributed by: James W. TURNIPSEED, Jr., [redacted]

One of our members recently received some tips from the Archivist of the National Genealogical Society on identifying photogrphs. As example: Ink is not recommended. While there are some acid-free pens available they are new and have not been tested over the long term. Use a [soft lead] pencil. Write only on the margin on the reverse side of the photograph. Do not use albums which contain self-adhesive pages or scrapbooks of poor quality paper. The NGS keeps their photos in acid-free paper.

Additional information may be obtained from the contributor.

LAIDLER CEMETERY

Houston County, Georgia

Contributed by: William R. & Marion J. HENRY, [redacted]

Located in northeast corner of Section 265, 13th District, G.M.D. 926. From Perry, Georgia go south five miles on Elko Road to Laidler Springs (Colored) Church. Park there and enter field through gate on north side of church. Beware of a dozen or more bulls in the field and woods. Follow the fence line north along east side of highway to the woods. The cemetery is located in the woods and is hardly visible from the highway but lies just across from a house south of the junction with Gilbert Road. One obelisk and parts of six table stones still stand. The number of sinks indicated that at least 25 burials were made. Don't confused this cemetery with the Laidler Colored Cemetery which is loacted a quarter mile north of the junction.

SAND RIDGE BAPTIST CHURCH MEMBERSHIP 1836-1860
HOUSTON FACTORY BAPTIST CHURCH MEMBERSHIP 1861-1906

Houston County, Georgia

Contributed by: William R. HENRY, [redacted]

Minutes of the Sand Ridge Baptist Church were contained in Volume 8, Number 4, December 1986 through Volume 10, Number 1, March 1988 of this publication. On 26 January 1861 the church membership was consolidated with the Smyrna Baptist Church and renamed Houston Factory Baptist Church. The church continues today as the Houston Lake Baptist Church. The membership lists of male, female, and colored members are contained in the rear of the minute book used from 1836 through 1906. Many of the pages had torn lose from the binding and the edges became broken and torn away leaving parts of names missing from the left side and dates missing from the right side. At least two additional lists were made during this period of time and they contain many duplications of names. The lose pages of these lists became intermixed and were placed between other bound pages and microfilmed in order found. We have edited these lose pages to eliminate duplication except where a confiliction in dates occur. Less than 30 percent of the colored membership is readable and therefor not contained in this abstraction. "FC" means Formed the Church in 1836.

HARMON, EDDLEMAN, EDGE, MILLER.
William Phillip HARMON (W.P) was on the census with his mother, Emily HARMON (age 47), brothers Garland Edge (age 21) and Joseph N. (age 18), and a sister Emily F. (age 15 1/2), 1870 Dooly Co., GA. William P. was 13. The father of the family, Garland D. HARMON, is not listed and probably died during 1870 prior to the census.

(Queries Continued)

When did Garland E. HARMON, a plantation overseer and agricultural reformer, die? Where was he interred?

Whom did young Emily F. marry, when and where? Was it in Dooly Co.? Did she move to Butts County with her brothers and mother?

Garland Edge HARMON and Newton Joseph HARMON were prominent men in Butts Co., GA, where each married and lived 1879 and later.

William P. HARMON was married to Emily Virginia B. EDDLEMAN ca 1880. When and where? The 1900 census, Cullman Co., AL. shows they were married 20 years. Each is interred at Fairview near Cullman, at a cemetary next to a Methodist Church.

Garland D. HARMON was born in NC in 1823, parentage not proved. Was his mother Martha? She lived near him in Paulding Co., GA in 1850. Who was his father?

BONNER, FERGUSON, CATE, WYATT, MITCHELL, CALHOUN, AMERSON, PEACOCK, WILLIAMS.
I am searching for the parents and siblings of Sebiann CALHOUN who was born Feb 1834 in GA or AL. She married John E. AMERSON 1852-1854 and died sometime after 1900. She appears on the 1860 Macon Co., GA census and 1870-1900 Taylor Co., GA census. Her known children were:

Thomas	bc 1855
Sarahann Elizabeth	bc 1857	(m. John Thomas PEACOCK)
John	bc 1859
Elq G. Berry (Elge?)	bc 1862
Catherine	bc 1864	(m. _____ WILLIAMS)
George	bc 1868
Jeff	bc 1872

Apparently her husband died without a will. Is she connected in some way to the CALHOUNS of Talbot Co., GA for which much has been written?

Lucretia BONNER bc 1788-1800, married Coleman FERGUSON 09 May 1825, Habersham Co., GA. According to her will 1884, Cherokee Co., GA and guardianship papers of 1864, she had one son named Wyatt BONNER who died about 1863 probably in Lumpkin Co., GA. This would indicate her maiden name was not BONNER. However, in searching GA DAR records, I found a reference to a Henry BONNER, Rev. Sol, d 1 Jan 1822 who was married to Nancy Ann CATE (dau. of Richard CATE and Sally WYATT of VA). One of their sons was Richard BONNER who maried Frances MITCHELL 1784 in VA. Their first child is listed as Lucretia and their last child listed is James who married Nancy Parham BONNER, widow of Wyatt BONNER dc 1810. Another source shows Wyatt BONNER dc 1810 as a son of Robert BONNER, also a son of Henry and Nancy Ann CATE BONNER. I feel there is a connection between these BONNERS and Lucretia BONNER who married Coleman FERGUSON because of the name "Lucretia" used in the BONNER family and the name "Wyatt" used as her son's name. I've been unable to locate pertinent marriage or will records.

I would appreciate hearing from anyone with information and will gladly share any info I have on these families.

I would like to know if anyone has early information on the Sugar Creek Baptist Church before 1850. This church would be in Dodge Co., GA. Does it still exist?

89-637. John E. Brown, [redacted].

HART, WARREN.
Having joined the CGGS only this month, I would greatly appreciate hearing from anyone who has early material from the organization, or elsewhere, which may help me with my problem, i.e. I have a copy of a deed where Robert HART, planter, of Burke Co., GA sold land in 1790 in Northampton Co., NC to his brother Warren HART "which I heir from my brother Istram HART" which proves per 1788 will of Arthur that this was the son of Arthur and Martha (WARREN) HART of Northampton Co., NC. My problem is that there was another Robert HART in Burke Co by 1805 Lottery. Both men were married and both drew two blanks.

By 1807 my Robert HART was in Wilkinson Co., and the other Robert HART remained in Burke. My man drew land in Wilkinson (now Telfair) which his heirs sold after his death in Laurens Co., GA 1808.

I believe my Robert was the son of the NC couple, as he named children similar names to that family's and I believe the other Robert HART of Burke Co. may have been the one who settled in Jones Co. and died there in 1838. None of his children had names similar to the NC family. I believe they may have been cousins and that they trace back to Henry HART of VA in 1635 (traced in J. B. Boddie's books on VA families).

I want to prove (1) which Robert HART was the son of Arthur HART, (2) the maiden name of Mary, wife of my Robert HART and (3) any military service.

Robert HART's children were named Martha, Thomas Warren, Jincy, Frances "Fanny", Jesse, Jane, and Moriah HART. The mother married several times after Robert's death and came to TX before her death.

I have a great deal of information to share and will prepare a pedigree chart and/or family group sheets for publication if desired. Thank you for any clues. I will happily pay postage and copying or will swap information.

89-634. Mrs. W.R (Beverly) Clayton, [redacted].

RECENT ACQUISITIONS AT WASHINGTON MEMORIAL LIBRARY

POLICY: The Central Georgia Genealogical Society, Inc., during 1987 discontinued the maintenance of a Society Library. The holdings in our Library were small and duplicated publications held in the Genealogical and Historical Room, Washington Memoral Library, Macon, GA which has one of the largest collections in the southeast. The Macon Library is centrally located within the 27 county jurisdiction of our society and can far better serve our membership. All publications previously held were presented to Willard L. ROCKER, Head Librarian at the Genealogical and Historical Room. All publication received by our society as gifts, donations, by exchange programs or for book reviews will be presented to the same library. For the past year it has been our policy to support the Macon Library particularly in the acquisition of microfilms of early county records within our jurdisctional area. We hope to expand our support as future conditions permit. As a service to our membership, this column list the acquisition of all records since the previous Quarterly. Inquiries with SASE (business size) may be addressed to the library at 1180 Washington Ave., Macon, GA 31201.

William R. HENRY, Assistant Editor

NOTE: The genealogical collection of this library contains 16,000 books, 5000 microfilms, 1500 microfiche and 66 subscriptions. The library serves 10,000 visitors annually. During 1987 they came from 37 states, DC, and 4 foreign countries.

OLD DOVER CHURCH CEMETERY
Newton County, Georgia

Contributed by: Bobby F. Stokes, [redacted]

This old church cemetery is located approximately one mile west of highway 81, a little way north of Oxford, Georgia. I believe it was a Methodist Church, but there had apparently been no building there in a long time when I copied the cemetery on 27 March 1972. There may have been other grave markers.

INTRODUCTION TO THE INDEX

The index lists the date of the minutes where a name appears, rather than the customary page number, except where a name appears on a list. The list number and page number of the list are indicated when a name appears on a list, i.e., L 1-1 indicates list one, page one. There are a few instances where minutes, and/or comments, were not dated. In these instances the date of the preceeding minutes are used.

Ministers and elders are not indexed each time they appear in the records. They are indexed the first time they appear and when they die or leave the church; an exception - they are indexed for special events involing them.

Names may appear more than once in the same minutes and/or lists.

RECENT ACQUISITIONS AT WASHINGTON MEMORAL LIBRARY

POLICY: The Central Georgia Genealogical Society, Inc., during 1987 discontinued the maintenance of a Society Library. The holdings in our Library were small and duplicated publications held in the Genealogical and Historical Room, Washington Memoral Library, Macon, GA which has one of the largest collections in the southeast. The Macon Library is centrally located within the 27 county jurisdiction of our society and can far better serve our membership. All publications previously held were presented to Willard L. ROCKER, Head Librarian at the Genealogical and Historical Room. All publication received by our society as gifts, donations, by exchange programs or for book reviews will be presented to the same library. Since 1987, it has been our policy to support the Macon Library particularly in the acquisition of microfilms of early county records within our jurdisctional area. We hope to expand our support as future conditions permit. As a service to our membership, this column list the acquisition of all records since the previous Quarterly. Inquiries with SASE (business size) may be addressed to the library at 1180 Washington Ave., Macon, GA 31201. William R. HENRY, Assistant Editor

NOTE: The genealogical collection of this library contains 16,000 books, 5000 microfilms, 1500 microfiche and 66 subscriptions. The library serves 10,000 visitors annually. During 1987 they came from 37 states, DC, and 4 foreign countries.

THE WOODARD FAMILY LINE

Contributed by: Austin M. Cooper [89-640], [redacted]

To those many Woodard Family members whom I do not yet know, I owe an introduction. My name is Austin M. Cooper. I have progressed on the Woodard Clan for eleven years now and have accomplished a significant amount. To be honest, though, it will be a never-ending, but enjoyable, task. I am writing in hope that you are a family member of the Woodard Clan who finds his roots in Isle of Wight County, Virginia; Edgecombe County, North Carolina; Sumter District, South Carolina, or Houston County, Georgia during the 1700's and 1800's, and will be able to help me further trace and document family members of this Woodard Clan. Should you lie on a branch of any of these Woodard family lines, I would appreciate beginning correspondence with you to further this research. I hope to hear from you soon.

I would like to acknowledge my grandmother, Ora Isabel Cooper, who sparked my interest in genealogy some twenty years ago. It was through many long conversations with her that I learned of her grandparents, William Edmund Woodard, Sr., and Martha Harriet Woodard, and the families of their eleven children. Further, my great-aunt, Mertie Lanora Bosworth, and my second cousin, once-removed, Mary Ruth Ballard, provided me with a basic outline of the Woodard Clan. I have also worked closely with my first cousin, twice-removed, Dr. Edna Isabel Yarbrough, who has given me a wealth of detailed information on these same families. I am thankful to her for writing a brief biography of William Edmund Woodard, Sr., and for providing me with two manuscripts, both written by Margaret Jean Brunson: 1) WOODARDS: OF EDGECOMBE CO., N.C., OF SUMTER DISTRICT, S.C., OF HOUSTON COUNTY, GA., and 2) ALMORANE BRUNSON. It was during my visit with Dr. Yarbrough in Shreveport, Louisiana, in May, 1978, that we began laying the groundwork to finally produce this work eleven years later. Further, I owe considerable appreciation to the many members of the Woodard Clan who provided me with the numerous details regarding their individual families. Finally, I would like to thank Dr. Yarbrough and my aunt, Maxie Geraldine Whittington, for their comprehensive efforts in proofreading this work and its previous drafts.

The result of Margaret Jean Brunson's search for the ancestors of Eliza Woodard Brunson [6.5.2.6], the daughter of Isaac Woodard, Sr., [6.5.2] of Houston County, Georgia, is given herein. Unfortunately, Margaret Jean Brunson was unable to establish a connection between the Woodards of Sumter District, South Carolina, to those in North Carolina. It is her belief that Thomas Woodard, Sr., [6.5] and Jesse Woodard, Sr., [6.6], both of whom moved to Sumter District, were the sons of Thomas Woodard, Sr., [6.] of Nash County, North Carolina, and the grandsons of John Woodard of Edgecombe County, North Carolina.

John Woodard

He was born circa 1690 in the Isle of Wight County, Virginia; married Margaret _____; and died in 1765 in the Parish of Saint Mary, Edgecombe County, North Carolina. They were in Isle of Wight County in 1724. The will of John Woodard was proven in Edgecombe County, North Carolina Court, on July 10, 1765. His will of February 11, 1765, reads:

John Woodard
Exr Qualified

No deeds for John Woodard in Edgecombe County have been found to date; but the will of his son, Elisha, describes his father's plantation location in 1798: bounded by William Barnes' corner, banks of the Great Contentnea Creek, and various courses of said creek. In was on the southwest edge of Edgecombe County. The Great Contentnea Creek divided Edgecombe County from Dobbs County and Johnston County at that time. It is the present-day Wilson County, North Carolina. Nothing more has been found regarding his wife, Margaret.

One possible clue as to the origin of John Woodard is the following: On August 15, 1739, Jacob Pope of Edgecombe County sold to Thomas Woodard of Nansemond County, Virginia, for 11 pounds of cash, 275 acres adjoining Cypress Pocosin and the former land of Jacob Pope, as by patent, on June 12, 1720. This was witnessed by Robert Coleman and John Sykes. This Thomas Woodard could be a brother or relative of John Woodard, but he was probably too young to be his father. Another deed gives the location of Jacob Pope's lands and a better idea of where Thomas lived. On March 3, 1743-44, Grace Woodard was a witness with Robert Coleman and Susanna Coleman to a deed between John Sickes and John Hatcher, both of Edgecombe County, for 170 acres on the north side of Tar River adjoining that of William Pope and the south side of Swift Creek, as by patent to Jacob Pope. The location and use of given names in this deed signify the possibility of the following persons being Thomas Woodard's family from Nansemond County: Grace, Moses, James, Daniel, Reuben, and Noah Woodard.

1. Elisha Woodard

He was listed in 1748 at the time of the Spanish Allarm as one of the men in Captain Shearrard's Company. His wife's name was Mary in 1771. Either he or his son, Elisha, was married to Elizabeth _____ in 1782. No wife was named in his will. He signed his will on March 26, 1798; and it was proven in Edgecombe County on November 1798. His will reads:

1.1 Joshua Woodard

He died before his father. He left a will dated April 1798 naming his wife, Mary _____, and children. Joshua was of age in January 1776, and was thus born by 1755. On the 1800 Census for Wayne County, Mary Woodard was the head of a household that included herself as a female 26-44, and two females under 10, one female 16-26.

1.2 Elisha Woodard

He was born circa 1758, married Sarah Howell, daughter of William Howell, before 1778. He was 70 when he married Terece Deberry, 18, on May 27, 1828. He died intestate by 1836 in Edgecombe County leaving eight grown children.

1.3 John Woodard

He was living in Wayne County, according to his father's will in 1798. John Woodard was on the 1800 Census for Wayne County: three males under 10, one male 10-16, one male 26-44, two females under 10, one female 10-16, and one female 26-44. He and his wife, Zilpha, were probably the parents of Stephen Woodard of Wayne County. Stephen Woodard was born on January 28, 1798; married Mary Simms, daughter of Barnes and Martha Dew Simms; and died on November 8, 1864.

1.4 David Woodard

He was born on May 10, 1771; married Elizabeth Bullock, daughter of John and Sarah Bullock, in February of 1793; and died on August 13, 1799. David Woodard left a will in Edgecombe County dated July 30, 1798, that reads:

> Loving wife, plantation whereon I now live, mare, 3 cows, 2 calves, yearling, beaufat, all my pewter and earthenware, 2 spinning wheels and [cotton] cards, all my chairs, and chest, cart and wheels, plows, hows, wheat and wheat box, meat, feed, vessels, hogs, sows, pigs, my knives, forks, 2 pots and hooks, skillet, 2 stands, 2 axes, grubbing hoe, griddle, corn growing and in the crib, and all that is made in the Johnston field, the bread tray and meal sifter, during life or widowhood, then to my 3 chil: James, William, Sarah Woodard. Sons to have 347½ A land on N side of Bear Branch, being in 3 separate deeds, also part of another tract lying on the S side of Little Quotankney Creek which Lewis Bandy sold me; dau: Sarah land lying on the N side of Little Quotankney Creek, Lewis Bandy conveyed to me my deed.

Mary Woodard was a posthumous child born to Elizabeth.

1.5 Lemuel Woodard

He married Obedience Barnes on May 22, 1799, in Edgecombe County. They moved to Burke County, Georgia. Between 1840 and 1850, Obedience Woodard, obviously a widow, moved to Dooley County, Georgia, where she appears on the 1850 Census at age 65. Living close by her were other young Woodard families who were probably her sons.

1.6 Mary Woodard Daniel

She married Elias Daniel according to her father's will. Elias was the orphan son of Hardy Daniel of Edgecombe County.

1.7 Martha Woodard Amerson

She was called the wife of Benjamine Amerson in her father's will. Her first husband was Cornelius Jordan, who was dead by February 2, 1792. Benjamin Amerson was dead by January 4, 1820. Elisha Woodard was appointed guardian to Thomas and Levi Jordan on August 30, 1791.

1.8 Delanah Woodard Amerson

She was called the natural daughter in her father's will. She married Isaac Amerson according to Elisha's will. Isaac was a brother of Benjamin Amerson, and both were sons of Benjamin Amerson. Isaac was dead by January 24, 1826.

2. John Woodard

He was the son of John Woodard of Edgecombe County and received a still and a Negro from his father's will in 1765. Little information has been found on John Woodard. On January 25, 1755, he bought 144 acres on the north side of Compass Creek for 7 pounds of current money of Virginia from William Dortch, both of Edgecombe County. John Woodard sold these 144 acres to Jesse Harrel on October 23, 1766. He bought from Thomas Woodard, both of Edgecombe County, on October 31, 1765, two tracts containing 275 acres: 1) 50 acres on the river at the mouth of Stoney Bridge, and 2) 225 acres on the river adjoining that of Thomas Woodard. John Woodard and his wife, Sarah, sold this tract to Henry Atkinson, all of Edgecombe County, on February 5, 1773. No other records have been found concerning John Woodard in Edgecombe County. He may have moved to the neighboring Wake County, North Carolina. Demsey Woodard sold to Mathew Holding, both of Wake County, on August 5, 1788, 100 acres on the waters of Rishland Creek ". . . between said Woodard and his brother, H.L. Woodard, deceased, agreeable to the will and testament of the father, John Woodard, deceased, and it being part of a tract of 300 acres formerly belonging to John Woodard, deceased."

3. Mary Woodard Langston
She was mentioned as daughter, Mary Lee, with her daughter, Margaret Brown, in the 1765 will of John Woodard.

4. Ann Woodard Langston
She was the wife of Leonard Langston. Her daughters, Sarah and Elizabeth Langston, inherited in the 1765 will of John Woodard of Edgecombe County. The will of Leonard Langston of Edgecombe County was signed on August 8, 1780, and was proven during the November Court Term, 1780: wife (unnamed); grandson, Luke Bolton; Lewis Bandy (relationship not stated) to get plantation, under age; grandson, Isaac Langston; granddaughter, Elizabeth Bolton; executors, Elisha Woodard, and Joseph Cox. The division of the estate according to the will of Leonard Langston was to Needon Ward, Isaac Langston, and Luke Bolton on February 6, 1789. Ann Langston signed her will on August 2, 1788, which was proven during the February Court Term, 1789: grandson and executor, Isaac Langston, all my estate. On December 1, 1788, the inventory of Ann Langston was taken by Isaac Langston Bolton.

4.1 Sarah Langston Bolton
She married Richard Bolton in Edgecombe County on January 1, 1770. Sarah may have had Isaac Langston, called grandson by Leonard and Ann Langston, before her marriage to Richard Bolton; however, Richard may have been his father. Sarah was obviously dead at the time of her parents' will, as her children inherited the property instead. Richard had remarried by the time of his will, and he had small children. The will of Richard Bolton of Edgecombe County was signed on April 27, 1787, and was proven during the February Court Term, 1789: wife, Feriby; son, Richard; son, John; daughter, Mary; to son, Isaac, "land received of Leonard Langston in fork of Panter Branch;" son, Luke; daughter, Elizabeth Ward.

4.2 Elizabeth Langston
She was obviously dead by the dated of her parents' wills, as she was not mentioned. She may have married a Bandy and had a son, Lewis Bandy. Lewis Bandy was not mentioned in the division of the estate nine years earlier.

5. Sarah Woodard Holland
Although she was not called daughter in the transcription of John Woodard's will, her husband, James Holland, was called son-in-law. They were to have use of a slave, then to be given to John Woodard's grandson, John Holland.

6. Thomas Woodard
He and Elisha were on the list of men under Captain Shearrard at the time of the Spanish Allarm in 1748, so he was born circa 1730. On Tuesday, January 14, 1776, Thomas Woodard qualified as executor of the will of his father, John Woodard, deceased. This delay may have been because part of the will could only be executed at the death of Margaret, the wife of John Woodard.

Not knowing the date of death for Thomas Woodard of Nansemond County, Virginia, it is difficult to sort the deeds in Edgecombe County for him from those of Thomas Woodard, son of John Woodard. Thomas, son of John Woodard, was probably he of the following. On October 31, 1766, Thomas Woodard sold to John Woodard, both of Edgecombe County, two tracts of land containing 275 acres: 1) 50 acres of river land at the mouth of Stoney Branch, it being part of a large tract granted to said Woodard by a deed from William Moore on July 9, 1754; and 2) 225 acres on the river adjoining that of Thomas Woodard, as by a deed granted to said Thomas Woodard from William Lasiter on August 5, 1752. On October 31, 1765, Thomas Woodard sold to Edward Moore of Edgecombe County a tract of 50 acres on the north bank of Tar River at the mouth of Stoney Branch, it being part of a 100 acre tract granted to said Woodard by William Moore on July 9, 1754, for 10 pounds of the current money of Virginia. This land on the Tar River at the mouth of Stoney Branch was in Nash County by 1777 when that county was formed from Edgecombe County. In a deed from Thomas to his son, Isaac, it is known where the former was living about 1756. In 1756, the Great Contentnea Creek divided Edgecombe County from Johnston County. In 1758, part of Johnston County was taken to make Dobbs County. In 1779, Wayne County was made from Dobbs County. On August 12, 1780, Thomas Woodard of Nash County gave to his son, Isaac Woodard, the land in Wayne County, it being the tract of land on which Thomas Woodard lived: 1) 169 acres on south side of Great Contentnea Creek, it being the tract granted to Thomas Woodard by Earl Granville on November 9, 1756, bounding Luke Woodard; 2) 100 acres granted by patent to Francis Grice; and 3) 50 acres, it being part of a tract granted by patent to Robert Grice, and after several transferences, conveyed to said Thomas Woodard. Early records for Thomas Woodard are no doubt in Johnston County, North Carolina. On April 3, 1780, in Nash County, Joseph Williamson and his wife, Ann, sold to Thomas Woodard 225 acres on both sides of the Great Contentnea Creek, part Johnston County, part of Edgecombe or Nash Counties adjoining that of William Maple and Reedy Branch, and part of the grant to Thomas Maple on March 25, 1752. This was witnessed by Luke Woodard, Hardy Williamson, and Sarah Williamson. On June 7, 1784, Jacob Duck and his wife, Sarah, sold to Thomas Woodard, both of Nash County: 1) 125 acres granted to Francis Mountree on the Great Contentnea Creek at the mouth of Mill Creek; and 2) 25 acres, part of grant to Thomas Maples. This was witnessed by John Faulk and Luke and Jesse Woodard. From these deeds, it is evident that Thomas, like his brother Elisha, had land on both sides of the Great Contentnea Creek, not too far from Elisha and the home plantation of their father, John Woodard, of Edgecombe County. He also had land farther into Nash County, as his will left land to his son, Jesse, on Turkey Creek. On August 10, 1789, Henry Strickland of Nash County gave to Noah Strickland a tract on north side of Tar River adjoining that of Samuel Carter and that of Thomas Woodard. The undated inventory of Thomas Woodard's land was made by Luke and Thomas Woodard, executors, to be 1,111 acres; post inventory was dated on August 9, 1791.

Thomas Woodard of Nash County made his will in Nash County on December 27, 1790. The "Addishanal Inventory" recorded by his two executors suggests that the will was probated on or before August 9, 1791. His will reads:

> (1) wife Lydia [Langston] Woodard, lifetime or widowhood use of a feather bed and furniture, pot, frying pan, spider, 3 cows with calves, 4 ewes with lambs, 3 sows with pigs, basin, dish, 3 plates, chest, 2 [spinning] wheels, pairs of cards, and six spoons; (2) grandsons Isaac Woodard and Kader Woodard, sons of Luke Woodard, to share the home plantation, the "land that I had of duck," 200 acres on Mash [Marsh] Swamp, crosscut saw, whip saw, and Kader to have also the long shotgun; (3) son Isaac Woodard, L40 [40 Pounds] due from my son Elisha Woodard's estate, what he owes me excepting seven dollars, and my great coat and hat; (4) granddaughters Zilphia and Patta Peel, daughters of David and Mary Peel, the slave girl Susannah; (5) grandsons Robert Peel and John Peel, 4 sheep, and John to have the short shotgun; (6) son and executor Thomas Woodard, slave boy Luis, cow with calf and yearling, and the land bought from Stephen Godwin on Mockson [Moccasin] Creek; (7) Woodard Bardan, the rifle gun that William Carter has; (8) Thomas Sanders, Sr., 100 acres each of Mash [Marsh] Swamp adjoining Jack Nichols; (9) son Jesse Woodard, 100 acres on Turkey Creek bought from John Kent, rifle gun, note against Joseph Powel and the sorrel horse "Snip;" (10) daughter Elizabeth Applewhite, slave girl Feriba, the bay horse, and a third of other cattle, horses, sheep, ready money, and household goods; (11) son and executor Luke Woodard, still, large pot, 250 acres on Mash [Marsh] Swamp, all hogs, clothes, working tools, and money due me, plus a third of the cattle, horses, sheep, ready money, and household goods; (12) daughter Absillet Hinnant, feather bed and furniture, bay horse, dish, basin, 3 plated, 5 sheep, lifetime use of slave Rose, plus a third of the cattle, horses, sheep, ready money, and household goods; (13) granddaughter Elizabeth, daughter of Absillet Hinnat, reversional interest in the slave Rose.

6.1 Luke Woodard

On July 20, 1775, Luke Woodard was on the list of men to patrol from Beauford's Ferry to the end of George Moore's line and to search Negroes for guns. On August 12, 1780, Luke Woodard's land in Wayne County on the south side of the Great Contentnea Creek bounded the tract which was granted by Earl Granville to Thomas Woodard on November 9, 1756. This land was later given by Thomas Woodard to his son, Isaac Woodard. Luke Woodard was a witness to his father on April 3, 1780; his brother, Jesse Woodard, was a witness to his father on June 7, 1784. Luke is easy to identify on the 1790 Census, as he is the only one of that name near Thomas Woodard. The 1790 Census of Johnston County lists: one male over 16; two males under 16; and three females. The 1800 Census for Wayne County lists: two males under 10; one male, 10-16; one male, 45 or older; two females under 10; two females, 10-16; and one female, 45 or over.

6.1.1 Isaac Woodard

On January 11, 1809, Isaac and Kader Woodard sold 560 acres that belonged to Thomas Woodard [6.], Isaac's father [6.2]. Jacob Duck and his wife, Sarah, sold Thomas Woodard, both of Nash County, 125 acres: 1) 100 acres granted to Francis Mountree on the Great Contentnea Creek at the mouth of Mill Creek; and 2) 25 acres, it being part of the grant to Thomas Maples dated June 7, 1784. Jacob Duck and his wife, Sarah, of Wake County sold to Thomas Woodard of Nash County: 1) 200 acres on the Great Contentnea Creek and on the Mash [Marsh] Swamp adjoining that of Hardy Boykin and Stephen Cobb; and 2) 300 acres adjoining that of Jeremiah Nichols, Stephen Cobb, Hardy Boykin, Jacob Nichols, and Benjamine Flowers. This transaction was dated January 6, 1786. On January 11, 1809, Isaac Woodard and Kader Woodard of Wayne County sold to John Stoott 350 acres on the north side of Great Contentnea Creed adjoining that of Hardy Boykin, Stephen Cobb, Benjamine Flowers, Carnelius Sanders, and Jacob Nichols. Isaac and Kader Woodard also sold to Jesse Peele of Johnston County 210 acres on the north side of the Great Contentnea Creek adjoining that of Grice, Nichols, Williamson, and the Marsh Swamp. This was agreeable to the deeds given by Jacob Duck to Thomas Woodard.

6.2 Isaac Woodard

He married Elizabeth _____, and was dead by January 11, 1793, when Thomas Woodard of Johnston County, North Carolina, and Jesse Woodard of Nash County, North Carolina, deeded to Luke Woodard of Johnston County, North Carolina, for 500 pounds "all of our Rights of Lands that is allotted to us by law of the estate of Isaac Woodard, Deceast." Witnesses to this deed were Joel Newsum and Mary Coleman. Isaac Woodard, as the administrator of Elisha Woodard, late of Johnston County, North Carolina, sold to Daniel Dickinson on October 7, 1790, at public sale in Wayne County, North Carolina, for 195 pound, 6 pence, a Negro woman, Jude, and child, Peter. Isaac Woodard, of the State of North Carolina, sold to Thomas Morris, also of North Carolina, on "the 1st day of 4th Month called April 1791 for 30 pounds a tract of 53 acres on south side of Great Contentnea Creek adjoining Jeremiah Morris." Witnesses to this sale were William Wooton and Jeremiah Morris. Elizabeth Woodard also signed the deed. On April 2, 1791, Isaac Woodard of Wayne County, North Carolina, planter, sold to William Wooton of Wayne County, North Carolina, for 62 pounds, 8 shillings, 104 acres adjoining Thomas Morris. This deed was also signed by Elizabeth Woodard.

As previously noted, Isaac Woodard received as "son" from Thomas Woodard land in Wayne County on August 12, 1780. His land also bounded that of his brother, Jesse, on the south side of the Great Contentnea Creek in 1783. On April 2, 1785, Isaac Woodard of Wayne County sold to John Woodard of Edgecombe County 207 acres in Wayne County on both sides of Ivey Swamp, including the plantation whereon Jerimiah Stradley lived, it being lately granted by the State of North Carolina to Nimrod Stradley. This was later conveyed by him to Etheldred Ruffin; and from Ruffin, it was conveyed to Isaac Woodard. At this point, the land was bounded by that of Samuel Bartley, Doctor Edmundson, Nimrod Stradley, Sampson Stanton, and Thomas Edmundson. This was witnessed by Elisha Woodard and Willis Peele. The John and Elisha Woodards mentioned here are likely the sons of Elisha Woodard, the brother of Thomas Woodard, who died in 1790-91 in Nash County. Therefore, they were first cousins to Isaac Woodard. The 1790 Census of Wayne County lists: 2 males, 16 or over; one female; and 19 slaves. Isaac Woodard was not found on the 1800 Census anywhere in North Carolina.

6.3 Elisha Woodard

He sold land on April 23, 1798. Elizabeth Woodward [Woodard], John Woodward [Woodard], and Micajah Woodward [Woodard] were the heirs of Elisha Woodard.

6.5 Thomas Woodard, Sr.

He was born on November 28, 1744, in Dobbs County, North Carolina, and died after the 1830 Census was taken in Sumter District, South Carolina. He possibly married Elizabeth Peacock.

He applied for a pension for service in the Revolutionary War. The application [No. R11844] is headed "Sumter District, South Carolina," and dated November 4, 1832. The application states that he was born on November 28, 1744, Dobbs County, North Carolina, and remained there until he entered the service as a volunteer in the spring of 1779 under Captain Joseph Williamson and Major John Drake for three months. He was not called out of Nash and Johnson Counties and was in no particular engagement. After expiration of the first tour of three months, he turned out again under Michael Kenean, Captain of the horse, Owen Holms, first Lieutenant and Colonal James Kenean. He remained under these officers until sometime in July 1781, when he recieved a discharge signed by Colonal James Kenean at Rock Fish near Fayetteville, then called Cross Creek. His discharge was carried some years ago by his son, who moved to Mississippi state, in a trunk with a large bundle of old papers and may now be destroyed. This son is believed to be Asa Woodard [6.5.3].

In a supplemental statement dated February 18, 1834, Sumter District, South Carolina, Thomas Woodard states that he, from loss of memory due to old age, cannot say exactly how long he was in the service but is sure that he served not less than twelve months.

On February 18, 1834, Sumter District, South Carolina, Jesse Woodard made a statement that he was in the service with Thomas and knows from personal knowledge the material facts contained in his declaration for a pension.

On April 3, 1780, Nash County, North Carolina, Joseph Williamson and his wife, Ann, deeded 225 acres to Thomas Woodard on both sides of the Contentnea Creek, part Johnson County, part Edgecombe or Nash, adjoining William Maple and Reedy Branch, part grant to Thomas Maple on March 25, 1752. This was witnessed by Luke Woodard, Hardy Williamson and Sarah Williamson. This deed is mentioned here because Thomas Woodard in his pension application stated that he served under Captain Joseph Williamson.

On February 21, 1810, Thomas Woodard with Isaac Woodard sold to John Reed, merchant of Kershaw District, 168 acres in Salem on Spring Branch part of 2 tracts: 1) 200 acres granted to Dennis McClendon on July 16, 1779, and 2) 200 acres granted to Willis Turbeville on July 7, 1788. No release from Thomas' wife was given, but Isaac's wife, Nancy Singleton, released her dower rights on February 17, 1810. The two tracts bound John Reed, Edward Barret, John Canady, H. Singleton or Singleton Estate, Kelly, Thomas Woodard.

He and his brother, Luke, were witnesses to their father, Thomas Woodard, of Nash County on January 6, 1786. Thomas, Sr., and Luke, as executors of their father's will, made an inventory in 1791. On January 30, 1786, Thomas, Sr., and Isaac Woodard were witnesses to the land transaction by Jacob, John, and Jeremiah Nichols, the heirs of Jeremiah Nichols, deceased, of Nash County to Bartlett Deans of Edgecombe County. This was the land mentioned by Thomas, Sr., in the deed books of Nash County, which ran through 1868. Though the 1790 Census is not a reliable one, as many were missed, the 1800 Census is considered quite complete. Any of the following listings could be for the familiy of Thomas Woodard, Sr. The 1790 Census lists for Nash County: one male, 16 or over; three males under 16; and two females. There was no Thomas Woodard, Sr., listed in Nash County for 1800. The 1790 Census for Johnston County lists: two males, 16 or over; four males under 16; and seven females. On the 1800 Census for Johnston County is a couple too young to be Thomas and his wife: one male, 16-26; and one female, 16-26. The 1790 Census for Edgecombe County lists: one male, 16 or over; two males under 16; and one female. There was no listed for Thomas Woodard, Sr., in the 1800 Census of Edgecombe County.

Note: Dobbs County, North Carolina, was formed in 1758 from Johnston County, North Carolina. Wayne County was formed in 1779 from Dobbs. Dobbs was abolished in 1791 and recreated into Glasgow, later changed to Greene in 1799, and Lenoir Counties.

6.5.2 Isaac Woodard

He was born circa 1782 in North Carolina according to the 1850 Census and 1860 Census for Houston County, Georgia. As a teenager or a young man, he moved to Sumter District, South Carolina, very likely with the other Woodards whose records begin appearing in that district circa 1800. To date, no equity or probate records have been found in Sumter District, now Sumter County, to prove Isaac's father or siblings.

Isaac Woodard, Sr., married Nancy Singleton, the daughter of John and Frances Singleton of Sumter District, South Carolina. Nancy Singleton Woodard was born circa 1774 in North Carolina according to the 1850 Census. She was not mentioned in Isaac's will in 1856, so she apparently died sometime between 1850 and 1856.

Isaac Woodard, Sr., bought and sold land in Sumter District from 1805 to 1833. A tally of this land bought and sold by him reveals that the following conveyance of land constituted all that he owned in Sumter District at that time. On October 5, 1833, Isaac Woodard, Sr., sold to Hardy Stuckey 522 acres in Upper Salem on the north side of Camp Branch from parts of surveys made on December 25, 1818, and on February 20, 1810. His wife, Nancy Woodard, released her dower right to this land on January 25, 1834.

Isaac's first land purchase in Houston County, Georgia, was on December 20, 1834, when William Melton sold Isaac Woodard, Sr., land lot #232, 202½ acres, in the 10th District for $600, which was witnessed by John Woodard, Jr., and Joseph Barker. Since Nancy Woodard released her dower rights in Sumter District in January of 1834, and because Isaac bought land in that year in Houston County, it seems rather conclusive that they made their move to Georgia in 1834. Moving with Isaac and Nancy were their daughters, all of whom married in Georgia, and their two youngest sons. Their three older sons, Thomas, John, and James, all of whom also moved to Houston County, were married before they left South Carolina. It is possible that they all moved at the same time, but this can only be surmised. Thomas had a child, born in Georgia, who was 17 years old when listed on the 1850 Census. Unless this age was enumerated incorrectly, which often happened, Thomas may have been in Georgia before his father, Isaac.

The 1850 Census shows that Isaac Woodard, Sr., 68 years old and born in North Carolina, was the head of household #712 in Houston County, Georgia. Only his wife, Nancy, 66 years old and also born in North Carolina, was with him at that time. They were living next to their son, James, who was enumerated as the hear of household #711. The 1860 Houston County Census shows that Isaac Woodard, Sr., 77 years old and a farmer born in North Carolina with total declared assets of $12,000, was the head of household #576. Living with him was a day laborer, Harrison Spikes, 22 years old. Isaac's son, Asa, was enumerated as the head of household #575.

Isaac Woodard, Sr., signed his will in Houston County, Georgia, as "Isac" Woodard on October 4, 1856; and it was proven in court on September 7, 1863. In his will, he named his children: sons, John, who was deceased, Thomas, James, Asa, and Isaac, Jr.; daughters, Nancy, wife of Richard Brach, Mary, wife of John Holland, and Eliza, wife of Almorane Brunson; grandchildren, James and Leah

Jones; executors, Asa and Issac, Jr. The will of Isaac Woodard, Sr., reads:

In the name of God Amen I Isac Woodard being of Sound disposing mind and memory and wishing to Settle and dispose of my worldly estate while I have mind and Strength to do So make and declare this my last will and testament hereby revoking all other heretofore made by me My Soul I commit into the hands of Almighty God who gave it my body I desire to be intered in a decent and christian like manner

6.5.2.1 John Woodard

He was born circa 1805 in Sumter District, South Carolina; married Emeline Stuckey, who was born circa 1810 and was the daughter of Edmund Stucky and Winnie Scarborough of Sumter District, South Carolina; was a member of the General Assembly of Georgia from Houston County in 1843; and died circa 1846. They were survived by the following children: Susanah Gilbert, a widow; Martha Jane Blount; William Edmund Woodard; and Laura S. Culpepper. In Ordinary Court, September Term, 1846, Thomas Woodard applied for Letters of Administration for John Woodard, deceased, of Houston county. These Letters of Administration were granted to Thomas Woodard and James Woodard, thus giving security to Thomas Woodard as administrator. Appraisers of the estate of John Woodard were Thomas Pollack, Henry Conyers, Lewis Pollock, James G. David, and Morris Pollock. In Ordinary Court, January Term, 1851, Thomas Woodard, administrator of the estate of John Woodard, had removed beyond the limits of this estate. In Ordinary Court, December Term, 1852, Elizabeth Emeline Woodard, widow of John Woodard of Houston County, applied for guardianship of the minor children: Charles E., William Edmund, Martha Jane, and Laura S. Woodard. John Woodard was enumerated as the head of a family on the 1840 Houston County Census with his wife and six children.

6.5.2.1.1 Susannah Woodard Gilbert

She was born on January 1, 1829, in Sumnter District, South Carolina; married Marshall R. Gilbert on January 15, 1846, in Houston County, Georgia; died on June 12, 1902, in Chattooga County, Georgia; and is buried at the Lyerly Cemetery at Lyerly, Chattooga County, Georgia. Her husband was born on August 14, 1817, in Georgia. He killed a former slave for impudence and left Georgia to escape arrest. He went to Marshall, Texas, where he lived until his death on March 30, 1866, in Marshall, Texas, where he is buried. Susannah went to Marshall, Texas, to claim his property, only to find that it had been sold for taxes. She did, however, finally receive some money from the estate.

6.5.2.1.2 Elizabeth Woodard

6.5.2.1.3 Charles E. Woodard

He was named first as a minor son of John Woodard on the 1840 Census. He was not listed in the Stuckey estate records and had died by March 8, 1866.

6.5.2.1.4 Purity Ann Woodard Culpepper

She married Joseph John Culpepper, Sr., on November 11, 1851, in Houston County, Georgia. She was born on April 12, 1834, in South Carolina. As stated in the Stuckey estate records, she died on June 17, 1856, in Jackson Parish, Louisiana, and is buried in the Mount Zion Cemetery at Vernon, Jackson Parish, Louisiana. Joseph John Culpepper, Sr., was born on July 13, 1827, in Houston County, Georgia, and died on August 2, 1899, in Bienville Parish, Louisiana. He is buried in the Reeves Cemetery at Ringgold, Bienville Parish, Louisiana. He was the son of Joseph Malory Culpepper and Margaret P. Baskin.

6.5.2.1.5 William Edmund Woodard, Sr.

He was born on February 19, 1836, in Houston County, Georgia; died on July 26, 1914; and is buried at the Roscoe Cemetery, Roscoe, Texas. His parents, natives of South Carolina, were John Woodard and Emeline Stuckey, who located in Houston County about 1834. His paternal grandparents were Isaac Woodard, Sr., and Nancy Singleton Woodard. Following the death of his parents, William Edmund Woodard, Sr., moved to Jackson Parish, Louisiana, where, on September 1, 1859, he married Martha Harriet Hancock. Both he and his wife are shown in Print 4.1. She was born on April 21, 1842, in Mississippi; died on April 16, 1913; and is buried at the Roscoe Cemetery. Her father was Archibald Stokes Hancock, who was born on November 28, 1810; died on April 21, 1872; and is buried in Bienville Parish, Louisiana. Her mother was Elizabeth E. Brown Hancock, who was born on October 24, 1821, in Alabama; died on July 29, 1894; and is buried in the Midway Cemetery at Hodges, Texas, 12 miles northwest of Abilene.

One boy and three girls were born to William Edmund Woodard, Sr., and his wife while in Jackson Parish: Elizabeth Emma on July 29, 1860; Laura Josephine on January 25, 1862; John Archibald on March 5, 1866; and Susanna Lee on May 9, 1868.

As a slave owner, William Edmund Woodard, Sr., farmed until he enlisted in the Confederate Army and was a private assigned to the 9th Louisiana Infantry. During his term of service, he was captured in Huntsville, Alabama, and was later exchanged in Vicksburg, Mississippi. At that time, he was assigned to the 2nd Company M of the 12th Regiment of the Louisiana Infantry.

After the war, William Edmund Woodard, Sr., returned to Jackson Parish, where he lived until he moved with his family to Ringgold, Bienville Parish, Louisiana. Three boys and two girls were born while in Bienville Parish: William Edmund, Jr., on October 5, 1870; Samuel Stokes on December 20, 1872; James Hancock on July 21, 1875; Martha H. on October 1, 1877; and Anna Elizabeth on August 13, 1880.

In 1881, his family and that of his daughter, Laura Josephine White, and her husband, Joseph Valentine White, Jr., traveled in covered wagons to Mulberry Canyon in Taylor County, Texas. Their last two children were born while there: Mary S. on February 9, 1883; and Carrie Isabel on September 2, 1885.

William Edmund Woodard, Sr., and his wife came to Nolan County, Texas, in 1900. They first cleared a tract of land in the Goode Community, south of Roscoe, Texas. They then moved a few miles father south and cleared the land that they purchased in the Mesquite Community, where he lived until his death.

6.5.2.1.6 Martha Jane Woodard Blount

She married Brian B. Blount and lived in 1866 according to the Stuckey estate records. This marriage was found in Jackson Parish, Louisiana. Martha was probably one of the females born between 1830 and 1835. She was listed as a minor daughter in 1852. She and her husband are buried in Coolidge, Texas. She died on January 3, 1884. He was born on September 10, 1835, in Twiggs County, Georgia, and died on October 25, 1880.

6.5.2.1.7 Laura A. Woodard Culpepper

She was born on March 3, 1843, in Houston County, Georgia; died on September 11, 1881, in Ringgold, Bienville Parish, Louisiana; and is buried in the Reeves Cemetery at Ringgold, Bienville Parish, Louisiana. She married her sister's widower, Joseph John Culpepper, Sr., and was alive in 1866, according to the Stuckey estate records. She was listed as a minor child in 1852 and was likely the daughter born between 1835 and 1840. Her marriage to Culpepper was not found in Houston County. After her death, Joseph John Culpepper, Sr., married a third time to Nancy Strange Goodwin.

6.5.2.2 Thomas Woodard

He married Purity Stuckey, another sister to Emeline Stuckey, daughter of Edmund Stuckey of Sumter District, South Carolina, in 1828. Thomas and Purity were both alive on March 8, 1866, according to the Stuckey estate records. Thomas was born on September 16, 1807, in Sumter District, South Carolina, according to the 1850 Census for Houston County on which he, a farmer, was enumerated as the head of household #703. With him was his wife, Purity, born circa 1810 in South Carolina, and their five sons. Thomas Woodard, as administrator of his brother John's estate, had moved out of the state by January of 1851. He died on April 6, 1882, in Minden, Louisiana, and is buried at the Walker Cemetery near Dubberly, Louisiana.

6.5.2.3 James Woodard

He was born June 22, 1809, in Sumter District, South Carolina; died on January 7, 1877; and is buried in the Woodard Cemetery at Taylor, near Gibsland, Bienville Parish, Louisiana. According to the 1850 Houston Census, he, a farmer, was enumerated as the head of household #711. His wife, Sarah Friar, was born June 30, 1814, in North Carolina; died on December 20, 1903; and is buried in the Walker Cemetery. Living with the family was Margaret Hunt, 63 years old and born in North Carolina. Since James and Sarah's oldest daughter was named Margaret, this Margaret Hunt may have been related to Sarah. James and his family were not found on the 1860 Houston County Census, and no will or probate was on file for him in that county. Like his brother, Thomas, he probably moved from Houston County. Neither he nor Thomas was designated as executor in their father's will. As the elder sons, such a designation would be customary if they were living in Houston County.

6.5.2.3.9 Infant Son

6.5.2.3.10 John Alexander Woodard

6.5.2.3.11 James Buchanan Woodard

6.5.2.4 Elizabeth Woodard Jones

She married Uriah Jones on November 19, 1840, in Houston County, Georgia. Uriah Jones was born circa 1810 in North Carolina and was enumerated as the head of household #998 of Houston County in 1850. Elizabeth was born circa 1813 in South Carolina. She was dead at the time of her father's will in 1856, as her children, James and Leah, inherited directly from him. Uriah Jones of Houston County signed his will September 13, 1862, and it was proven on March 7, 1864. He wished to be buried at the Beaver Creek Church with the rest of his family and instructed that the graves be enclosed with a rock wall to be built by his slaves. His "present" wife, Nancy, was provided for; and the balance of the estate was given to "trusty friend and brother-in-law Asa Woodard" in trust for his daughter, Leah E. Jones. Elizabeth and her son, James, who are not mentioned in Uriah's will, are probably buried at the Beaver Creek Church.

6.5.2.5 Mary Woodard Holland

She was born on October 3, 1815, in Sumter District, South Carolina; married John Holland on February 20, 1836, in Houston County, Georgia; and died on April 5, 1893, in Chattooga County, Georgia. John was born August 1, 1811, in Kershaw District, South Carolina; was the head of household #715 on the 1850 Census for Houston County; and died on November 8, 1857, in Houston County Georgia. He was the son of John Holland and Dice Thorn. With them were their four children. Since John Holland is also a Sumter District name, Mary and John may have known each other back in South Carolina.

6.5.2.6 Eliza Woodard Brunson

She married Almorane Brunson, who was born on February 26, 1812, in Washington County, Georgia. Of all of the Brunsons recorded herein, he had the most unusual given name. This was a time when a child was named for a family member or for a Biblical or historically famous persons. Perhaps the answer is in the family of his mother, about whom nothing is known. According to the available census records and a statement by his great grandson, Marcus Daniel Brunson, Almorane was the only son, who lived, of David Brunson. His siblings were girls.

He spent at least his adolescence and young manhood in Houston County, Georgia, where his father appears on the 1830 Census next to his grandfather, Daniel Brunson. At some time between 1830 and 1840, Almorane and his father moved to the neighboring Lee County, Georgia, where he married Eliza Woodard on March 16, 1837. According to the law at the time, marriage licenses were to be issued in the county of the bride. Eliza lived in Houston County, Georgia; however, a marriage license for Almorane and Eliza could not be found at the courthouse. Those for her siblings who married in Georgia were found. It is possible that if the marriage was performed in Houston County or if a license was issued in that county, the officiating minister failed to return it to the courthouse. Eliza was born on March 16, 1818, the daughter of Isaac Woodard, Sr. She was born in Sumter District, South Carolina, from where her father had moved to Houston County, Georgia. Sumter District, made from Clarendon, Claremont, and Salem Counties, was the old home of Almorane's father and grandfather Brunson.

Almorane and Eliza's granddaughter, Susie Brunson Stell, wrote: "When Eliza Woodard had married Almorane Brunson, her father gave her $3,000 in gold and a number of slaves, one of them was a mulatto man who was skilled as a cobbler and a blacksmith valued at $1,000. (Her two brothers received a like gift)." As was customary at the time of marriage, Isaac Woodard, Sr., very likely gave a slave or two and some money to Eliza. However, this amount of money is excessive. Isaac Woodard, Sr., was not a wealthy planter and had nine children, five of whom were sons. The bulk of any inherited slaves owned by Almorane and Eliza was due to the fact that Almorane was the only son of David Brunson. On the 1860 Lee County Slave Census, Almorane had 26 slaves.

As evidenced by the birthplace of Almorane and Eliza's children, they lived in or near the town of Smithville in Lee County, Georgia. Even though it has grown since that time, Smithville is still a sleepy, little country town with only a few stores on one side of the railroad tracks. Almorane was enumerated as the head of a household on the 1840 Census for Lee County. He was not enumerated on the 1850 Census for Lee County, but his slaves were enumerated on the 1850 Slave Schedule. Almorane and his family were living in Lee County in 1850. A comparison of the 1840 and 1850 Census shows that not only Almorane, but all of the immediate neighbors on the 1840 Census, were missed by the census taken in 1850.

On the 1860 Census for Lee County, Almorane Brunson was enumerated as the head of household #147, Starkville, Georgia. At 48 years and born in Georgia, his occupation is given as a planter with real estate valued at $10,200 and personal property, which included slaves, at $21,140. With him were Eliza, 42 years old and born in South Carolina, and their six children. Their immediate neighbors were William B. Richardson, whose assets totaled $48,000, and William D. Wright, whose assets totaled $61,000. Of the seven families enumerated with Almorane, only one's assets were not large enough to be classified as a planter. Considering what one dollar would buy at the time, this was a neighborhood of prosperous planters. Prior to the Civil War, Almorane lived on a generous scale and in true Southern style; of this, there does not seem to be any doubt.

It is most unfortunate that the Lee County courthouse burned. It would be interesting to see the deeds concerning Almorane and his father and to know exactly when the family left the area. They were still living near Smithville in 1865 at the end of the Civil War. Daniel Thomas was the only son of Almorane to serve in the Confederacy. During the siege at Petersburg, Virginia, Almorane sent rations and his slave, Dick, to Daniel Thomas. They remained together until the surrender and returned home together. Dick's wife was evidently a house slave and perhaps a favorite of Daniel Thomas, as he sent greetings to "Aunt Betty" in an 1862 letter from Virginia. Almorane was also a Confederate soldier, serving in Fannin's Reserves. This was probably one of Georgia's many Home Guard units. No details have been found as to the length and experiences of his service.

At sometime between the close of the Civil War and August 17, 1869, the date of Daniel Thomas' marriage in Floyd County, Georgia, Almorane, Eliza, and their single children moved to Floyd County in northern Georgia. Reasons and circumstances concerning the move are not known. A search of the Floyd County deed books of this period reveals nothing. Either these deeds were not recorded at the time; the deeds of this period were lost; or the transactions were recorded elsewhere.

On the 1870 Census for Floyd County, Georgia, Almorane Brunson, a farmer, was enumerated as the head of household #93 in North Carolina District of Rome, Georgia. Almorane declared real estate assets at $4,000 and personal property at $1,500. With him were Eliza, their children, Sarah, William, and David, and a black housekeeper, Hannah Gibson, 65 years old, who was born in Georgia. Their neighbors were their son, Daniel Thomas, and Obediah Payne.

In 1873, the first of two moves to Texas was attempted by the Brunson family. There are two stories as to why the family of Almorane Brunson left Floyd County. One is that early in the 1870's, William H. Brunson, Almorane's second son, went to Texas selling Aladdin lamps. He was so impressed with the country that he went back to Georgia and persuaded his family to move to Texas. The other is that Almorane and his son, Daniel Thomas, were in the Ku Klux Klan; because of trouble with the law, they went west. Both reasons could be true, especially since there were two moves.

In 1872, the cotton crop produced a good yield and was sold for gold. The women made money belts for each adult to carry some of the gold, as they made preparations for the move to Texas. All went well until the caravan reached the Mississippi River, when cholera broke out among them. Some of the former slaves died, and Almorane was very ill. Eliza wrote her brother to come and take them back to Georgia. When all were well, they tried again. They moved to Stephens County, Texas, to a place called Eolian, north of Cisco and south of Breckenridge. They arrived in April, 1877.

"The father [Almorane], although he had suffered reverses, especially during his early career and during the War, recouped his fortunes and gained a considerable degree of success as a stockman in Texas." On the 1880 Census for Stephens County, Texas, Almorane was enumerated as the head of household #32, Beat #4, Enumeration District #172. It was noted that he was a farmer, 68 years old and born in Georgia, and that both of his parents were born in South Carolina. For the first time on a census record, it stated that he could not read or write. Assets were not declared on the 1880 Census. Eliza was enumerated as 62 years old, born in South Carolina, and that her father was born in North Carolina and her mother in South Carolina. It was noted that her mother was disabled, the cause given as "Annurism." Also living in the household were their two sons, William and David, their daughter, Susannah Wright, and her two sons, Mark A. and Lee Wright. Under "Occupation," it was stated that William was a stock herder, and David attended cattle. Their neighbors were Aaron W. Baty [blot on name, appears to be Baty] and Joel W. Blackwell. Of the nine heads of households that appear on the 1880 Census for Stephens County, only Joel W. Blackwell is given as a cattle raiser; the rest were farmers. However, most of their teenage and young adult sons were enumerated as cattle herders. It is not known how much land Almorane had in Stephens County. Only one record has been found: Patent #235, dated September 10, 1897, by H. McCain for 160 acres. The original grantee was Almorane Brunson.

In 1887, the Brunson family was driven out of Stephens County by drought. At this time, the oldest son, Daniel Thomas, moved with his family to Fannin County, Texas. The rest pushed farther west. "Dave and Bill Brunson came out into West Texas looking for land. They finally made a deal for 60 sections of land between Seminole [Texas] and Hobbs, New Mexico, about where Monument, New Mexico, is today. I think that was called the 'Hat Ranch.' This was family cattle, as Almorane and his two youngest sons were in partnership."

It is not known if Almorane and Eliza ever lived on the New Mexico land. Texas and Texans states that they moved to Midland, Texas, in 1887. "The Brunsons bought some acreage in northeast Midland. They either built or bought a house and moved Grandfather and Grandmother Brunson and Aunt Sudie to this place." Also in that household were Susannah's sons, Mark A. and Lee Wright, when they were not working, and David Brunson's son, William, who had been cared for by Susannah after his mother died.

Eliza Woodard Brunson died in Midland on February 22, 1891. Almorane died in Midland on January 23, 1898. Almorane and Eliza are both buried in the Midland Cemetery at Midland, Texas.

Almorane was of small build and an invalid for many years. His granddaughter, Susie Brunson Stell, recalls:

> I remember him. I was about 4½ years old when he died . . . I would go to the bed and he would put his hand on my head and say: 'Bless her - just give her a chance and she will bake your bread.'

Dave and Lula Brunson made a trip to Rome, Georgia, to sell some property and settle the estate. He delivered Nancy Brunson Pollock's part to her at that time. As often happens in the settling of an estate, there is one that is not satisfied and often thinks the administrator is getting the better part. One granddaughter made many trips to our home and talked so ugly to my Dad, which really caused many heart aches. Sally Brunson Milligan had died, and her four children inherited her part; and that is where the trouble was. They were not satisfied. Each Brunson heir got his share of that gold.

6.5.2.6.1 Susan Elizabeth Brunson

She was born on June 9, 1839, in Smithville, Lee County, Georgia, and died on December 25, 1839. Though it is not stated, probably all of the children were born near Smithville, as the family was living there at the end of the Civil War.

6.5.2.6.2 Daniel Thomas Brunson

He was born on May 22, 1840, in Lee County, Georgia, and attended Mercer University in Macon, Georgia, preceding his induction into the Confederate Army. In June of 1861, he joined Company K, the 4th Georgia Regiment of the Sumter Light Guards, and served with them until he surrendered at Appomattox. On August 17, 1869, he married Sarah Frances Cheves in Floyd County, Georgia. She was the daughter of Francis H. and Elvira Harris Cheves and was born on April 1, 1848, in Crawford County, Georgia. When a drought drove the Brunsons out of Stephens County, Texas, Daniel took his wife and children and traveled east to Fannin County, Texas. A short time later, he traded his land in Fannin County, Texas, for land in Pike County, Arkansas. In his later years, Daniel traded his farm land and home for a house in the town of Glenwood, Arkansas. He died there on November 2, 1916. After his death, his wife continued to live in Glenwood for awhile. She then sold the house and lived in Little Rock, Arkansas, with her married daughter. Frances died in Little Rock on July 24, 1922. Daniel and Frances are buried in Jones Cemetery at Amity, Arkansas. They had a total of fifteen children, among whom there were three sets of twins. The last set, their youngest children, was born when she was 44 and when he was 55 years old. Of the fifteen children, nine lived to maturity.

6.5.2.6.3 Nancy Brunson Pollock

She was born on December 16, 1842; married J.G. Pollock on February 8, 1859; and died on May 5, 1913. They were probably married in Lee County, Georgia. They lived in Rome, Georgia. Nancy Brunson joined the Hebron Baptist Church in 1858 and was dismissed according to the 1853-71 records of Smithville Baptist Church of Lee County. The name of the church was changed from Hebron to Smithville Baptist Church. The dismissal resulted from joining another church, probably after leaving Lee County.

6.5.2.6.4 Mary Brunson Barnes

She was born on August 17, 1844; married W.R. Barnes on February 11, 1866; and died on August 27, 1919. In 1914, she was called the wife of William Barnes of Oklahoma. Mary Brunson joined the Hebron Baptist Church in 1862 and was also dismissed as in the case of Nancy Brunson. It is not known whether the Barnes family moved west with Almorane. Their son, William Barnes, was living in Midland County on the 1900 Census. Listed as a cattle raiser, he lived between his uncle, William H. Brunson, and cousin, Lee Wright.

6.5.2.6.5 Susannah Brunson Wright

She was born on February 22, 1847; married Thad A. Wright on November 16, 1865; and died on August 20, 1934. She joined the Hebron Baptist Church in 1863 and was also dismissed. On the 1880 Census for Stephens County, Texas, Susannah Wright was living in the household of her father with her two sons, Mark A., age 12, and Lee, age 10. It was noted that she was "keeping house" and that she was divorced. In the 1900 Census for Midland County, Texas, she was enumerated as the head of household #225, Enumeration District #110, Justice Precinct #1, living between Presley W. Cook and her brother, David W. Brunson. It was noted that she was a widow, so perhaps Thad A. Wright was dead by that time. With her was her brother's son, William, whom she raised.

6.5.2.6.6 Sally Brunson Milligan

She was born on March 15, 1849; married Bob Milligan in 1872; and died June 5, 1888. Sally Brunson joined the Hebron Baptist Church in 1864 and was also dismissed. On the 1860 and 1870 Census, when she was living at home, she was listed as "Sarah." Robert Milligan was the head of household #29, Beat #4, Enumeration District #122, on the 1880 Census for Stephens County, Texas. Sally's brother, Daniel Thomas, was living at household #26. It was stated that Robert Milligan was a farmer, 28 years old, and born in Georgia, and that both of his parents were born in Georgia. Sallie, as she was enumerated, fudged a bit on her age by declaring herself also 28 years old. Their youngest child, James, age two years, was born in Texas; the other two children were born in Georgia. It is very possible that Sally and Bob Milligan came to Texas with Almorane and Eliza.

6.5.2.6.7 William Hodge Brunson

He was born on January 21, 1852; married Annie Lee Cook June 16, 1887, who was born in November 1864 in Alabama and died on January 1, 1941; and died on November 11, 1928. William was enumerated as the head of household #262, Enumeration District #110, on the 1900 Census for Midland County, Texas. His wife's father was born in South Carolina, and her mother was born in Alabama. Her two children, Glen S. and Alma, were with them. William was named for Almorane's maternal grandfather. After William married Annie Lee Cook of Eolian, Texas, they moved to the ranch between Seminole, Texas, and Hobbs, New Mexico. His brother, David, lived about a mile from them after his marriage. In 1896, the Brunsons bought 150 sections in Glasscock County, Texas. For many years, the brothers worked the ranch together. David sold his sections; however, William retained his. His family was living on this land in 1978.

6.5.2.6.8 Martha Jane Brunson

She was born on August 3, 1854; and died on August 25, 1854.

6.5.2.6.9 David Woodard Brunson

He was born October 1, 1856, in Smithville, Lee County, Georgia; married Elizabeth McArver in August 1881, who died of tuberculosis on October 2, 1883; and died on June 1, 1937. Elizabeth was born in Floyd County, Georgia. David had promised her that he would take her body back to Georgia for burial, so he took their one-year-old son, William Wallace, and made the sad trip by train with his wife in the baggage car. On September 21, 1890, he married Lula Veale, who was the daughter of Carol and Amanda Ables Veale and was born on January 20, 1870; and died on March 2, 1946. After the wedding in Breckenridge, Texas, they went by train to Midland, Texas, and then 85 miles north by wagon to the ranch between Seminole, Texas, and Hobbs, New Mexico, which was to be their home for over 50 years. On the 1900 Census for Midland County, Texas, David W. Brunson was enumerated as the head of household #226, Justice Precinct #1, Enumeration District #110, living between his sister, Susannah Wright, with whom his son, William, lived, and Robert D. Childs. It was stated that his occupation was a cattle raiser and a farmer. His wife was born in Texas, and both of her parents were also born in Texas. She had given birth to four children, all living. The remaining information was taken from a sketch of David's life, published in 1914: He was one of the organizers of the Midland National Bank and took a prominent part in the erection of the Llano Hotel, Bank, and Office and Store Building. He was one of the principal owners of the company which built up and owned these buildings. He was a director of the Home National Bank in Stanton, Texas.

He and his family resided in one of the finest homes in Midland. They were members of the Baptist Church. Fraternally, David Brunson was affiliated with the Masonry, in which he had attained the Royal Arch degree. He was first and foremost a friend of education. He attained his early education in private schools in Georgia and had no opportunity to secure an advanced education. He thought that his children should not be so limited and spent his means liberally providing for their education. Believing that Midland could become a garden spot, he planted orchards and vines. He raised fine peaches, and single bunches of his Tokay grapes weighed from three to four pounds. As an example of his public spirit, David Brunson presented the city of Midland with the land from which was derived the municipal water supply.

6.5.2.7. Nancy Woodard Brack

She married Richard Brack on May 11, 1843, in Houston County, Georgia. She was called the wife of Richard Brach [Brack] in Isaac Woodard, Sr.'s, will. Nancy and Richard were not found on the 1850 Census for Houston County.

6.5.2.8 Asa Woodard

He was born March 21, 1822, in Sumter District, South Carolina; married Leah Gilbert on April 13, 1843, who was born August 21, 1821, in Georgia, was the daughter of Thomas Gilbert and Alcy Jane Fordham, and died on July 27, 1891, in Georgia; and died on March 3, 1875, in Houston County, Georgia. He was the only son of Isaac Woodard, Sr., found on the 1860 Census for Houston County. Asa signed his will in Houston County on March 2, 1875. His wife (unnamed) and children (unnamed) were to share equally his estate; his daughter, Rebecca, "having lost part of her underlip from disease," was to have his watch and chain; his son, Isaac, was to serve as executor; witnesses were J.O. Watson, C.E. Brown, and R.C. Bryan. Asa's children from the 1860 Census are listed.

He was born November 27, 1823, in Sumter District, South Carolina, according to the 1850 Census for Dooley County, Georgia, on which he was enumerated as a farmer and the head of household #418. He married Sarah Martha Pollock on April 20, 1845, in Houston County, Georgia, and later married Angeline David Singleton in 1856-57 in Pulaski County, Georgia. He died February 1, 1897, in Floyd County, Georgia, and is buried at the Pisgah Church in Coosa, Floyd County, Georgia. Angeline David Singleton was born September 6, 1825. She was the daughter of James Gouldwire David and Elizabeth Baggett. She died December 12, 1895, and is buried with Isaac. The family came from Floyd County, Georgia, in December of 1870 from Pulaski County, Georgia, near Hawkinsville.

Angeline Davis Singleton had a daughter, Mary Singleton, who married Frank Chalker. James A. Smith, a son of Angeline's sister, was also reared with the family. He lived in Chattooga County, Georgia, and was a doctor.

6.6 Jesse Woodard, Sr.

He was born on August 15, 1757, in Dobbs County, North Carolina. He signed a statement regarding the Revolutionary War service of Thomas Woodard. He married Martha Yelverton, daughter of John Yelverton, whose will was dated May 2, 1795, Wayne County, North Carolina.

His pension application [No. R11840] for his service in the Revolutionary War was headed Sumter District, South Carolina, and dated November 4, 1832. The application states that he was a resident of Chesterfield District, South Carolina, age 76, born on August 15, 1757, Dobbs County, North Carolina, and remained in that county until he entered the service as a volunteer sometime in the sping of 1779 under Captain Michael Kenean and Colonal James Kenean and served three months. He lost his discharge in 1831 when his house burned down.

On October 13, 1783, the State of North Carolina granted to Jesse Woodard 650 acres in Dobbs County on the south side of the Great Contentnea Creek and on both sides of the Turner Swamp, bounded by that of Richard Durdin, Isaac Woodard, and Samuel Hardin. On December 15, 1783, Jesse Woodard sold to Zachariah Morris 100 acres on the south side of the Great Contentnea Creek, bounded by that of Cook, Isaac Woodard, and Samuel Harden. This was witnessed by Richard David and John Overman, and it was signed by Jesse and Marthew [Martha] Woodard. On January 3, 1794, Jesse Woodard, Burrel Kent, and Drewry Williams witnessed the deed between John and Marmaduke Kent of Burke County, Georgia, and Stephen Kent of Nash County, North Carolina. One October 24, 1800, Jesse Woodard, and his wife, Martha, of Wayne County sold land in Nash County which was formerly conveyed by deed of sale from Elisha Woodard and his wife, Elizabeth, to Jesse Woodard on August 5, 1782. From this last deed, it is known that Jesse lived in Nash and Wayne Counties. The census confirms this. The 1790 Census for Nash County lists: one male over 16, five males under 16, and three females. The 1800 Census of Wayne County lists: one male under 10, one male, 10-16; two males, 16-26; one male, 26-44; three females under 10; one females, 10-16, and one female, 26-44.

On January 4, 1812, Jesse Woodard, Sr., sold to Jesse Woodard, Jr., 170 acres on the south side and adjoining "where I now live," granted by Sarah Dunn. This was witnessed by Edmond Barry and Shad. Ellis, Jr. On September 9, 1816, Jesse Woodard, Sr., sold to Jesse Woodard, Jr., 50 acres on the north side of the tract sold by Lewis McClenson and all of south side, the whole being part of a grant to Sarah Dunn. This was witnessed by Herbert Dubose and Ely Lee. Jesse Woodard, Sr., gave to his grandchildren, the heirs of John Bateman: William, Sarah, Elizabeth, Stephen W., Martha, James J., Elijah T. Bateman, 1 negro woman on January 16, 1821. This was witnessed by Felix and Patsey Ellis.

ESTRAY RECORDS, 1825-1866
Pulaski County, Georgia

Contributed by: Victor R. Myrick, [redacted]

In open range counties the law provided that stray animals that took up at a person's farm or home could be brought before a Justice of the Peace, appraised, advertised and then sold if the owner did not appear to claim them. Usually the person keeping the stray was given a small fee for doing so, the advertising cost paid, the clerks fee paid, and any money left over was placed in the county treasury.

Genealogical value of these records is limited to the fact that the person reporting the stray was a farmer, the appraisers lived nearby, and a Justice of the Peace was named.

In this summary, the first name is the person on whose property the stray had taken up, the next two names were the appraisers, then the date is given and the last name is the Justice of the Peace.

BOOK REVIEW:

Johannes C. and Sophia "Holden" Hoovel: A Line of Descent

Edward Baker Faust

Our thanks and appreciation to Mr. Faust for contributing a copy of above book for review in our Quarterly. This copy will be placed in the Genealogy Department of the Washington Memorial Library, Macon, Georgia after our review. The book is printed on 8.5 x 11-inch sheets, softcover, plastic spiral binding, 180 pages including name index and many photographs. $25.00 Order from Edward & Rosemary Faust, [redacted]

This book is more than a strict genealogical record: It provides additional biographical and historical information for many of the people listed therein. The first section takes the reader back in history to Norway where the ancestors of Johannes C. Hoovel lived. The next part gives background information on Johannes C. Hoovel's father, Hovel Tollefsrud. After this, an outline shows the Norwegian born brothers and sisters of Hovel Tollefsrud.

A second outline lists all known descendants of Johannes C. and Sophia Hoovel, providing only one or two lines for each person. The main text then enlarges on each one of these individuals by giving biographical data on their lives. Their children are as follows:

01. Henry HOOVEL, b.1836, Wis., d.1926; m.1885, Caroline (KUMMER), b.1860, Minn. d.1930. Three children.

05. Ludvig "Louis" HOOVEL, b.1868 MN; d.1955 MN; m.1895 SD, Gusta MATHRE, b.1875, d.1955. Ten children.

Following the text there is a bibliography which covers a little over three pages. Next is an appendix with almost five pages of a partial list of addresses for the descendants of Johannes and Sophia Hoovel. The appendix is followed by a full name index arranged in alphabetical order. Editor.

RECENT ACQUISITIONS AT WASHINGTON MEMORAL LIBRARY

POLICY: The Central Georgia Genealogical Society, Inc., during 1987 discontinued the maintenance of a Society Library. The holdings in our Library were small and duplicated publications held in the Genealogical and Historical Room, Washington Memoral Library, Macon, GA which has one of the largest collections in the southeast. The Macon Library is centrally located within the 27 county jurisdiction of our society and can far better serve our membership. All publications previously held were presented to Willard L. ROCKER, Head Librarian at the Genealogical and Historical Room. All publication received by our society as gifts, donations, by exchange programs or for book reviews will be presented to the same library. Since 1987, it has been our policy to support the Macon Library particularly in the acquisition of microfilms of early county records within our jurisdictional area. We hope to expand our support as future conditions permit. As a service to our membership, this column list the acquisition of all records since the previous Quarterly. Inquiries with SASE (business size) may be addressed to the library at 1180 Washington Ave., Macon, GA 31201. William R. HENRY, Assistant Editor

NOTE: The genealogical collection of this library contains 16,000 books, 5000 microfilms, 1500 microfiche and 66 subscriptions. The library serves 10,000 visitors annually. During 1987 they came from 37 states, DC, and 4 foreign countries.

EARLY HUDGINS IN GA, SC, & NC

Contributed by: Mr. William R. HENRY, [redacted]

(This is a private research paper which I prepared for Mr. James H. HEWETT, [redacted]. Mr. HEWETT descends from Ansel and Rebecca (NOTE) HUDGINS, who lived in Columbia, DeKalb, Monroe, and Macon County, Georgia (1825-70). He is a member of our Society and has consented to share this information. Our Past President, Jimmy L. BROWN, [redacted] is a descendant of Silas HUDGINS & his wife Louisa AULTMAN. Silas is believed to be a son of Ansel & Rebecca. Hopefully others may find this beneficial to their research.)

NOTE: The book "Gone to Georgia" by Stewart, (1965) says a Hugins family can be found as early as 1691 in Norfolk County, VA and that the family subsequently settled in the older North Carolina counties and in Southside Virginia and the later groups probably were included in those who moved into Rowan County, NC by 1759. I find that this supposed origin of the family was probably Nicholas Huggins who received 450 acres in Lower Norfolk County in 1679 and 250 acres he received by his wife Alice, who was the widow of Henry Brakes (who had received his land in 1649). The book goes on to say that by 1788 William Huggins was in Abbeville Dist, SC when he was deeded land in Wilkes Co, GA from Richard Powell, of same place, who had received the original grant in Wilkes - William Huggins, Jr. was witness to deed. In 1790 William & David were enumerated in Abbeville, John in Greenville, and John, Robert, and William in Pendleton Dist, SC. The book also stated that the spelling of Hudgens, Huggins and Hugins are all found in records of William of Pendleton and several Hudgens were in Spartanburg, Laurens, and Newberry Dist, SC in 1790. But I have found that a number of persons with like or similiar spellings can be found in other North Carolina counties and in Georgia before the 1790 census. Most of the early Georgia and South Carolina entries below come from The Augusta Chronical, an early newspaper, but many others came from Quaker and county records in both NC and GA.

W. Hudgins who lived there may be this elder and his brother as he was to young to be his father. I also see some possibility of Robert Hodgin (Quaker) who was listed in 1805 Columbia Co, GA being Ansel's father but I am troubled with this thought because I find no Hudgins on 1821 or 1823 Tax Digests for Columbia, which indicates the above five came from outside the county. We know Richard B. above was in Jasper Co, GA in 1821 when he drew Land Lot 224, 16th Dist of Dooly. The intial "B" in his name and later found in Josiah B. Hudgins of Upson may stand for Binion).

MARKS AND BRANDS REGISTRATIONS
Pulaski County, Georgia
1809 through 1881

Contributed By: VICTOR R. MYRICK [redacted]

One of the earliest records in the Pulaski County courthouse is the book in which marks and brands were recorded. Livestock was allowed to roam freely while farmers had to build fences to keep them from destroying their crops. Each owner of livestock marked his animals by cutting small pieces out of the animals ears. Each shaped piece was named. Some owners branded the animals with a hot irom. These marks and brands were required to be registered with the county court to protect the owners right to his property and to prevent disputes over ownership. No two peopiw were allowed to have the same marks.

While the law was widely ignored, those who did register have provided researchers with an added bit of information. The registration proves residence in the county at a certain date and shows that the person was the owner of livestock. The names of those who registered their marks are listed in alphabetical order with the date they registered the mark.

SETTLERS ON THE APPALACHEE, 1805

Contributed by: Robert S. DAVIS, Jr., [redacted]

The following letter from the Telamon Cuyler Collection, Hargrett Rare Book and Manuscripts Library, University of Georgia Libraries, lists white families living in what became Morgan and Putnam Counties, Georgia.

To his excellency John Milledge

Sir,

Agreeable to your proclamation of the 27th of December, Eighteen hundred & four, I appointed three persons to traverse the late acquired territory on the south side of the Appalachee River for the purpose of taking down the names of the trespassers there settled, this appointment I made some time since, in hopes of receiving their returns in time to have forwarded them to the Executive by the 30th of June last, agreeable to the mandate of your Excellencys Circular letter, But in this I have been greatly disappointed, for that two of the persons appointed have entirely negelected there duty & made no return whatever the third has made his return which I now forward but which I fear will be made useless as the Law requires the returns to be made on the oaths of two or more. I have the honour to be with high respect your Excellencys most obt Servt.

July 19, 1805 /signed/ Young Gresham

What ever happened to common courtesy? I have answered many queries from fellow genealogists and only a handful of them bother to write a note of thanks or any type of acknowledgement. Certainly they know that any research takes a vast amount of work and time. None of us has every piece of data at our fingertips and when we answer queries there is a lot of digging into files, pulling information from the computer, assembling it all into some type of order so that one can understand it. All of this takes an enormous amount of time. Do these people who do not respond think that this is all we have to do? We are all busy and most of us have full time jobs, as well as rearing growing families.

Many people have helped me in my research; they send packets of information at their own expense, they call long distance and are always willing to assist in any way. Because of their unselfish and caring attitude towards me, I feel the need to respond to other people's requests for data in the same feeling of generosity. Am I expecting too much, when after many hours of collecting this material for them, I expect a simple "Thank you"?

RECENT ACQUISITIONS AT WASHINGTON MEMORIAL LIBRARY

POLICY: The Central Georgia Genealogical Society, Inc., during 1987 discontinued the maintenance of a Society Library. The holdings in our Library were small and duplicated publications held in the Genealogical and Historical Room, Washington Memoral Library, Macon, GA which has one of the largest collections in the southeast. The Macon Library is centrally located within the 27 county jurisdiction of our society and can far better serve our membership. All publications previously held were presented to Willard L. ROCKER, Head Librarian at the Genealogical and Historical Room. All publication received by our society as gifts, donations, by exchange programs or for book reviews will be presented to the same library. Since 1987, it has been our policy to support the Macon Library particularly in the acquisition of microfilms of early county records within our jurdisctional area. We hope to expand our support as future conditions permit. As a service to our membership, this column list the acquisition of all records since the previous Quarterly. Inquiries with SASE (business size) may be addressed to the library at 1180 Washington Ave., Macon, GA 31201.

William R. HENRY, Assistant Editor

NOTE: The genealogical collection of this library contains 16,000 books, 5000 microfilms, 1500 microfiche and 66 subscriptions. The library serves 10,000 visitors annually. During 1987 they came from 37 states, DC, and 4 foreign countries.

SURNAME INDEX VOL. 11, 1989

NOTE: This surname index covers Quarterlies No. 1 thru 4. Pages 1-32 are in No. 1, pages 33-92 in No. 2, pages 93-138 in No. 3, and pages 139-171 in No. 4. There is one exception which is the omission of a previously prepared index of names found in records of First Presbyterian Church of Milledgeville, GA (pages 67-85 of No. 2). A dash between page numbers means that the name also appears on each page between such numbers. For example 63-66 means that the name appears on pages 63, 64, 65, and 66. Read carefully for a name may appear more than once on any designated page. Surnames spelled with two or more of the vowels a, e, i, o, & u may be found in many forms, i.e. HUDGINS.
